Fledgling Years:

The Blunder Years Ron Quartararo, 2016-10-31 Someone once said There once was a team so strong that when a player hit a single he was stopping the rally Such was the legacy of the New York Yankees through the early 1960s Love em or hate em theirs was a legacy of winning of great players of class and dignity Ruth Gehrig DiMaggio and Mantle were household names and their participation in the fall classic was routinely anticipated That would all come to a screeching halt in 1965 when the Yankees would begin an unforeseen and precipitous downslide Finishing in last place in 1966 the team would languish under new CBS ownership succumbing to the specters of age injuries mismanagement and neglect with no one to replace their immortal superstars This was the Horace Clark era the dark ages of the New York Yankees that I call the blunder years

Barry D. Powers, 2021-03-30 The early history of British aerial defence development is one of misdirection and delusion The misdirection judging by the criteria of successful aerial defence in World War II was primarily in the downgrading of home defence measures including the fighter plane The delusion again judging by Britain's efforts in that second world war was primarily in the assumption of the effects to be obtained by strategic bombing In both cases the First World War was a major catalyst Although events and writings before that war indicate the coming patterns it was during that war that a great amount of the patterns are well established Originally published in 1976 this work explores these origins and stresses the interaction between various diverse segments of English society in the formation of the major patterns The working out of these patterns in the first half of the interwar years is also analysed again with respect to diverse groupings in Britain
