Ancient Civilizations of the World Denny Rose & Rowan

Allen,2018-05-08 About 5 000 years ago the first urban societies developed laying the foundations for the first civilizations Nearly all civilizations share the same few features they have abundant food surpluses contained cities political bureaucracies armies defined religious and social hierarchies and long distance trading Ancient Egyptian culture flourished between c 5500 BCE with the rise of technology as evidenced in the glass work of faience and 30 BCE with the death of Cleopatra VII the last Ptolemaic ruler of Egypt It is famous today for the great monuments which celebrated the triumphs of the rulers and honored the gods of the land The culture is often misunderstood as having been obsessed with death but had this been so it is unlikely it would have made the significant impression it did on other ancient cultures such as Greece and Rome Neolithic means a new stone age even though agriculture was the crowning achievement of the period. Civilizations started out small. Agriculture at first tended to tie only small groups together. These groups also all settled along rivers, important as a reliable and predictable source of water. As time passed, families usually worked the same plot of land over successive generations, leading to the concept of ownership. Ancient mortars and grinding tools unearthed in a large mound in the Zagros Mountains of Iran reveal that people were grinding wheat and barley about 11,000 years ago. Grass, pea, wild wheat, wild barley, and lentils were found throughout the site, including some of the earliest known samples. This was much further east than most sites known for early agriculture. This book furnishes with utmost facility to all classes of readers the needed information on ancient civilization. The unusual variety of the subject makes this a work of endless fascination.

Hidden Links Zac Sangeeth, Sangeeth Varghese, 2023-07-24 Will climate change wipe out and reset our world as it did in 1700 BCE? How are the Rajputs of India related to the Kims of Korea? What startling parallels unveiled in China during the Mahabharata war? How was misogyny injected into our DNAs by a band of nomads? Uncover shocking secrets as history meets suspense in this mind-bending book that will make you doubt everything from the past you thought you knew. G. Kelley, Earl Lewis, 2000-05-30 Written by the most prominent of the new generation of historians, this superb volume offers the most up-to-date and authoritative account available of African American history, ranging from the first Africans brought as slaves into the Americas to today's black filmmakers and politicians. Here is a panoramic view of African American life, rich in gripping first-person accounts and short character sketches that invite readers to relive history as African Americans experienced it. We begin in Africa with the growth of the slave trade and follow the forced migration of what is estimated to be between ten and twenty million people, witnessing the terrible human cost of slavery in the colonies of England and Spain. We read of the Haitian Revolution, which ended victoriously in 1804 with the birth of the first independent black nation in the New World, and of slave rebellions and resistance in the United States in the years leading up to the Civil War. There are vivid accounts of the Civil War and Reconstruction years, the backlash of notorious Jim Crow laws and mob lynchings, and the founding of key black educational institutions. The contributors also trace the migration of blacks to the major cities, the birth of the Harlem Renaissance, the hardships of the Great Depression, and the service of African Americans in World War II, the struggle for Civil Rights in the 1950s and 60s, and the emergence of today's black middle class. From Harriet Tubman and Frederick Douglass to Martin Luther King Jr. and Louis Farrakhan, To Make Our World Anew is an unforgettable portrait of a people.
