Economic Crisis in Africa Magnus Blomström, Mats Lundahl, 1993 From Crisis to Growth in Africa Mats Lundahl, 2005-07-05 This book is concerned with the problem of achieving sustained economic growth in thirteen African countries These are divided into three groups the war stricken economics Angola Guinea Bissau Ethiopia and Eritrea the reform strugglers Kenya Cape Verde Zambia Tanzania Mozambique and Zimbabwe and the growth seekers Uganda South Africa and Lesotho Virtually all of these countries have gone through a structural adjustment program designed to remove imperfections that make it difficult for the market system to work in an optimal fashion This title reviews these experiences

Gender Perspectives and Gender Impacts of the Global Economic Crisis Rania Antonopoulos, 2014-01-03 With the full effects of the Great Recession still unfolding this collection of essays analyses the gendered economic impacts of the crisis. The volume from an international set of contributors argues that gender differentiated economic roles and responsibilities within households and markets can potentially influence the ways in which men and women are affected in times of economic crisis. Looking at the economy through a gender lens the contributors investigate the antecedents and consequences of the ongoing crisis as well as the recovery policies adopted in selected countries. There are case studies devoted to Latin America, transition economies, China, India, South Africa, Turkey, and the USA. Topics examined include unemployment, the job creation potential of fiscal expansion, the behavioral response of individuals whose households have experienced loss of income, social protection initiatives, food security, and the environment, shedding of jobs in export led sectors, and lessons learned thus far. From these timely contributions students, scholars, and policymakers are certain to better understand the theoretical and empirical linkages between gender equality and macroeconomic policy in times of crisis.

After Neoliberalism? Gustavo A. Flores-Macias, 2012-10-01 Gustavo Flores Macias' After Neoliberalism offers the first systemic explanation of why the ever popular left wing governments in Latin American countries have become extremely radical or moderate once in power.

The Samaritan's Dilemma Clark C. Gibson, Krister Andersson, Elinor Ostrom, Sujai Shivakumar, 2005-09-08 What's wrong with foreign aid? Many policymakers, aid practitioners, and scholars have called into question its ability to increase economic growth, alleviate poverty, or promote social development. At the macro level, only tenuous links between development aid and improved living conditions have been found. At the micro level, only a few programs outlast donor support, and even fewer appear to achieve lasting improvements. The authors of this book argue that much of aid's failure is related to the institutions that structure its delivery. These institutions govern the complex relationships between the main actors in the aid delivery system and often generate a series of perverse incentives that promote inefficient and unsustainable outcomes. In their analysis, the authors apply the theoretical insights of the new institutional economics to several settings. First, they investigate the institutions of Sida, the Swedish aid agency, to analyze how that aid agency's institutions can produce incentives inimical to desired outcomes, contrary to the desires of its own staff. Second, the authors use cases from India, a country with low aid dependence, and Zambia, a country with high aid dependence, to explore how institutions on the ground in recipient countries also mediate the effectiveness of aid. Throughout the book, the authors offer suggestions about how to improve aid's effectiveness. These suggestions include how to structure evaluations in order to improve outcomes, how to employ agency staff to gain from their on-the-ground experience, and how to engage stakeholders as owners in the design, resource mobilization, learning, and evaluation processes of development assistance programs.
