information such as that beginning in 1619 through 1654 every man in Virginia was required to plant a number of mulberry trees to support the silk industry in England what is known about the clothing of enslaved African Americans and that there were regulations placed on clothing design during World War II The set also includes color inserts that better communicate the visual impact of clothing and fashion across eras Daily Life in the Colonial South John Schlotterbeck, 2013-04-01 This work examines patterns of everyday life in the colonial South from European contact to 1770 documenting how they evolved over time and differences across lines of geography nationality ethnicity religion race gender and class This work provides the first synthesis of daily life in the colonial South from the time of European arrival to 1770 a period that is often overlooked or treated briefly in most surveys on the history of the South Daily Life in the Colonial South describes how a diverse mix of people created new patterns of living behaving and believing across diverse and changing physical demographic economic and social environments by adapting inherited cultures in new settings The book emphasizes the everyday experiences of ordinary people from the Chesapeake Bay to the Lower Mississippi River examining aspects of daily life such as work families possessions food leisure bodies and beliefs It presents balanced coverage of English French Spanish and Native American settlements describing the lives of both men and women and making use of quotes from historical documents An introductory chapter profiles the colonial South at six periods set 50 years apart between 1500 and 1750 while the conclusion discusses colonial southern identities on the eve of the American Revolution American History Ann Buermann Wass, Michelle Webb Fandrich, 2010-02-10 Learn what men women and children have worn and why in American history beginning with the classical styles worn in the early American republic through the hoop skirts and ready made clothes worn before the Civil War Authors Ann Buermann Wass and Michelle Webb Fandrich provide information on fabrics materials and manufacturing a discussion of levels of society daily life and dress and the types of clothes worn by men women and children including American Indians and enslaved people The authors have painstakingly researched such primary sources as diaries letters and wills of the people of the time in addition to secondary resources Just a few of the topics include The constant problems of getting fabrics such as wool or cotton in the late eighteenth centuries The types of clothes that slave men women and children were allowed to wear The beginnings of patterns and the mass production of clothing in the mid nineteenth century The volume features numerous illustrations helpful timelines resource guides recommending websites videos and print publications and extensive glossaries The Weaver's Craft Adrienne D. Hood, 2011-01-01 Cloth was one of the most important commodities in the early modern world and colonial North Americans had to develop creative strategies to acquire it Although early European settlers came from societies in which hand textile production was central to the economy local conditions in North America interacted with traditional craft structures to create new patterns of production and consumption The Weaver's Craft examines the development of cloth manufacture in early Pennsylvania from its roots in seventeenth century Europe to the beginning of industrialization Adrienne D Hood's focus on

Pennsylvania and the long sweep of history yields a new understanding of the complexities of early American fabric production and the regional variations that led to distinct experiences of industrialization Drawing on an extensive array of primary sources combined with a quantitative approach the author argues that in contrast to New England rural Pennsylvania women spun the yarn that a small group of trained male artisans wove into cloth on a commercial basis throughout the eighteenth century Their production was considerably augmented by consumers purchasing cheap cloth from Europe and Asia making them active participants in a global marketplace Hood s painstaking research and numerous illustrations of textile equipment swatch books and consumer goods will be of interest to both scholars and craftspeople

S. Wilson, 2018-06-26 When we think of Thomas Jefferson a certain picture comes to mind for some of us combining his physical appearance with our perception of his character During Jefferson's lifetime this image was already taking shape helped along by his own assiduous cultivation In Jefferson on Display G S Wilson draws on a broad array of sources to show how Jefferson fashioned his public persona to promote his political agenda During his long career his image shifted from cosmopolitan intellectual to man of the people As president he kept friends and foes guessing he might appear unpredictably in old worn and out of date clothing with hair unkempt yet he could as easily play the polished gentleman in a black suit as he hosted small dinners in the President s House that were noted for their French inspired food and fine European wines Even in retirement his image continued to evolve as guests at Monticello reported being met by the Sage clothed in rough fabrics that he proudly claimed were created from his own merino sheep leading Americans by example to manufacture their own clothing free of Europe By paying close attention to Jefferson's controversial clothing choices and physical appearance as well as his use of portraiture architecture and the polite refinements of dining grooming and conversation Wilson provides invaluable new insight into this perplexing Labour of the Stitch Serena Dyer, 2024-04-11 The making of fashionable women s dress in Georgian England founder necessitated an inordinate amount of manual labour From the mantuamakers and seamstresses who wrought lengths of silk and linen into garments to the artists and engravers who disseminated and immortalised the resulting outfits in print and on paper Georgian garments were the products of many busy hands This Element centres the sartorial hand as a point of connection across the trades which generated fashionable dress in the eighteenth century Crucially it engages with recreation methodologies to explore how the agency and skill of the stitching hand can inform understandings of craft industry gender and labour in the eighteenth century The labour of stitching along with printmaking drawing and painting composed a comprehensive culture of making and manual labour which together constructed eighteenth century cultures of fashionable dress
