Development Policy and Planning Pradip K. Ghosh, University of Maryland, College Park. Center for International Development, World Academy of Development and Cooperation, 1984-09-21 This volume examines the experiences of a number of Third World countries in implementing development plans in the 1970s and offers some guidelines for research development and analysis of policy Some chapters focus on theoretical issues such as the place of development on the policy agenda and the institutionalization of development policy planning Other chapters detail global and national strategies for employment reducing poverty and developing human resources The use of various economic indicators as tools for planning and analysis is also discussed

Economic Planning and Industrial Policy in the Globalizing Economy Murat

Yülek, 2014-09-04 This book discusses national development planning in the context of a globalized world economy National economic development planning the process of defining strategic economic objectives for a country and designing policies and institutional frameworks to attain them was popular in many countries in the 1960s and 1970s Over time it lost its appeal More recently with globalization accelerating and economic competition increasing it is making a comeback in different countries under different forms National planning in this new era is different than the earlier quantitative planning approaches It employs different tools such as strategic visions and action plans revived forms of physical infrastructure planning industrial policy and cluster policy Built on the research of international scholars with firsthand knowledge of the countries in question this volume presents and evaluates current national planning strategies and policy worldwide It will be of interest to both academicians who study and teach globalization and development as well as policy makers who may use it as a reference as they contemplate their own strategies

Economic Planning and Social Justice in Developing Countries

Ozay Mehmet, 2014-05-12 First published in 1978 this book was written at a time when belief was high in Western guided economic development of the emerging countries The success of Marshall Plan in war torn Europe generated a US led optimism that with generous inflows of aid and technical assistance the Third World could be won over in the Cold War The author's direct experience as a young academic economist in Cyprus Malaysia Uganda and Liberia led him to question this general optimism the reality on the ground in the developing world did not seem to match Western optimism Theories and blueprints made in the West did not fit the requirements of developing countries Higher production and better income distribution were inseparable twin objectives of developing nations That meant production of a higher national output must at the same time promote social justice Investment must create adequate jobs so that new entrants into rapidly expanding labor force could be gainfully employed Yet the dominant Western theories of development at the time in particular the Trickle Down Theory of Growth prescribed Growth First Distribution Later strategy Similarly Import Substitution Industrialization theories were emphasized at the expense of export led growth Dualistic Growth theories preached urban biased anti rural development This book was written as a rebuttal of such faulty theorizing and misguided professional technical assistance and the book s message is no less valid today than in the 1970 s Economic Policy and Planning in Developing Countries, 1969 Economic Policy and Planning in Third World Development Pradip K. Ghosh, 1984-09-06 Articles on trends in economic policy and development planning in the developing countries examines issues relating to economic growth inflation income distribution international liquidity external debt employment policy poverty fiscal policy capital resources structures of industrial production and trade trade structure etc includes a directory of information sources and an annotated bibliography Diagrams graphs references statistical tables Economic Policy and Planning in Developing Countries J. Financial Development, Economic Crises and Emerging Market Economies Faruk Ulgen, 2016-08-12 Recurrent crises in emerging markets and in advanced economies in the last decades cast doubt about the ability of financial liberalization to meet the aims of sustainable economic growth and development The increasing importance of financial markets and financial efficiency criterion over economic decisions and policies since the 1980s laid down the conditions of the development process of emerging market economies Numerous crises experienced thereafter gave rise to flourishing work on the links between financialization and economic development Several decades of observations and lessons can now be integrated into economic and econometric models to give more sophisticated and multivariable approaches to financial development with respect to growth and development issues In the markets based and private enterprise dominated world economy two conditions for a successful growth enhancing financial evolution can at least be brought fore macroeconomic stability and consistent supervision But even after the 2007 2008 global crisis economists do not agree on the meaning of those conditions For liberal and equilibrium market economists good finance and supervision mean market friendly structures while for institutionalists post Keynesian and Marxist economists good finance and supervision must lie in collectively designed and managed public structures Drawing heavily on the tumultuous crises of the 1990s 2000s this book argues that those experiences can shed light on such a crucial issue and lead economic theory and policy to go beyond the blindness of efficient free markets doctrine to economic catastrophes It also points to new challenges to global stability in the wake of reconfiguration of international financial arena under the weight of major emerging market economies
