leading figure in the field this book introduces the study of children's literature addressing theoretical questions as well as the most relevant critical approaches to the discipline. The fourteen chapters draw on insights from academic disciplines ranging from cultural and literary studies to education and psychology and include an essay on what writers for children think about their craft. The result is a fascinating array of perspectives on key topics in children's literature as well as an introduction to such diverse concerns as literacy ideology, stylistics, feminism, history, culture, and bibliotherapy. An extensive general bibliography is complemented by lists of further reading for each chapter and a glossary defines critical and technical terms, making the book accessible for those coming to the field or to a particular approach for the first time. In this second edition, there are four entirely new chapters; contributors have revisited and revised or rewritten seven of the chapters to reflect new thinking, while the remaining three are classic essays widely acknowledged to be definitive. Understanding Children's Literature will not only be an invaluable guide for students of literature or education but it will also inform and enrich the practice of teachers and librarians.

The 1920s Tamás Bényei, Shene Boskani, Nick Hubble, 2025-07-24. The particularity of 1920s British fiction has become obscured by an academic focus on modernism. This book takes a fresh approach to the decade by examining both canonical writers such as Virginia Woolf and E. M. Forster as well as less widely studied writers such as A. A. Milne and Naomi Mitchison. From the aftermath of First World War to the Great Depression of 1929 and its political consequences, the 1920s were a decade marked by radical social change. Internationally, there was an ongoing shift of global power, and nationally Britain was adjusting to the aftermath of First World War to no longer being the dominant imperial power in the world and to the introduction of universal male suffrage and votes for women over thirty, which was extended to those over twenty-one in 1928. This volume relates the British fiction of the decade to these contexts in order to reassess and explain trends of the period such as war books, fantastic romance, literary modernism, and new expressions of gender and sexuality. A major critical re-evaluation of the decade, the book covers such writers as Agatha Christie, E. M. Forster, Ethel Mannin, Somerset Maugham, R. H. Mottram, D. H. Lawrence, Wyndham Lewis, A. A. Milne, Hope Mirrlees, Naomi Mitchison, Dorothy Richardson, and Virginia Woolf among others, illustrating how their key themes and concerns fit within the social and political circumstances of the decade.
