Fallen Angel Chastity Class And Womens Reading 1835 1880:

The Fallen Angel Sally Mitchell,1981 Discusses the figure of the unchaste woman in a wide range of fiction written between 1835 and 1880 including serious novels by Dickens Mrs Gaskell and George Eliot popular novels that provided light reading for middle class women sensational fiction propaganda for social reform and stories in cheap periodicals which reached a different and far wider audience than either serious or popular novels During these years some women were struggling to become women instead of the angels of purity that sentimental morality had made of them The sexual woman the whore the mistress the runaway wife the seduced or fallen innocent all attracted a cluster of ideas about the differences between women and men about the power structure in sexual relationships and about women s place in the social and moral world In considering these topics this book traces women and illuminates differences in the fiction writer for different social classes Publisher description Archives of Labor Lori Merish,2017-05-04 In Archives of Labor Lori Merish establishes working class women as significant actors within literary culture dramatically redrawing the map of nineteenth century US literary and cultural history Delving into previously unexplored archives of working class women s literature from autobiographies pamphlet novels and theatrical melodrama to seduction tales and labor periodicals Merish recovers working class women s vital presence as writers and readers in the antebellum era Her reading of texts by a diverse collection of factory workers seamstresses domestic workers and prostitutes boldly challenges the purportedly masculine character of class dissent during this era Whether addressing portrayals of white New England factory girls fictional accounts of African American domestic workers or the first person narratives of Mexican women working in the missions of Mexican California Merish unsettles the traditional association of whiteness with the working class to document forms of cross racial class identification and solidarity In so doing she restores the tradition of working women s class protest and dissent shows how race and gender are central to class identity and traces the ways working women understood themselves and were understood as workers and class subjects Popular Victorian women writers Kay Boardman,Shirley Jones,2024-07-30

Popular Victorian women writers considers a diverse group of women writers within the Victorian literary marketplace It looks at authors such as Ellen Wood Mary Braddon Rhoda Broughton and Charlotte Yonge as well as less well known writers including Jessie Fothergill and Eliza Meteyard Each essay sets the individual author within her biographical and literary context and provides refreshing insights into their work Together they bring the work of largely unknown authors and new perspectives on known authors to critical and public attention Accessible and informative the book is ideal for students of Victorian literature and culture as well as tutors and scholars of the period Studies in the Victorian and

Neo-Victorian Novel Adrian Radu,2024-02-29 Readers of the nineteenth century novel expected literature to be a form journalism and fictional history They wanted to read about easily identifiable situations with a chronological straightforward and easily discernible development of plot familiar backgrounds and credible characters About a hundred years later the

Victorian novel became the great tradition omnipresent and reliable However today the age and the context are different and novels need more substance including such themes as memory race and empire sex and science spectrality and the heritage industry or key issues like gender sexuality and postmodernism All these elements are considered Neo Victorian which in spite of their novelty do point to a certain Victorian anchor This volume contains ten studies the substance of which is the analysis of novels that according to their date of publication are products of the Victorian and Neo Victorian periods as defined above The authors investigate and discuss Victorian roots and characteristics preserved or recycled Victorian themes Neo Victorian characters and motifs or any other characteristics that may label them as Victorian or Neo Victorian products

Romantic Women Poets, 1788-1848 Andrew Ashfield,1998 In this new volume Andrew Ashfield illustrates how women extended the horizons of Romanticism by their insistent engagement with social issues such as slavery child labor and women workers His previous volume Romantic Women Poets 1770 1838 explored how women poets made important contributions to major areas of Romanticism such as landscape and seascape Together these two volumes add new dimensions to the study of Romanticism by showing how the solitary meditation by the sea developed concurrently with major social concerns Ashfield exposes a much more complicated relationship between the self and society than has previously prevailed in our assessments of Romanticism

Literacy Myths, Legacies, and Lessons Harvey J. Graff,2017-07-05 In his latest writings on the history of literacy and its importance for present understanding and future rethinking historian Harvey J Graff continues his critical revisions of many commonly held ideas about literacy The book speaks to central concerns about the place of literacy in modern and late modern culture and society and its complicated historical foundations Drawing on other aspects of his research Graff places the chapters that follow in the context of current thinking and major concerns about literacy and the development of both historical and interdisciplinary studies Special emphasis falls upon the usefulness of the literacy myth as an important subject for interdisciplinary study and understanding Critical stock taking of the field includes reflections on Graff s own research and writings of the last three decades and the relationships that connect interdisciplinary rethinking and the literacy myth The collection is noteworthy for its attention to Graff s reflections on his identification of the literacy myth and in developing LiteracyStudies OSU Ohio State University as a model for university wide interdisciplinary programs It also deals with ordinary concerns about literacy or illiteracy that are shared by academics and concerned citizens These nontechnical essays will speak to both academic and nonacademic audiences across disciplines and cultural orientations

Reconstructing Womanhood : The Emergence of the Afro-American Woman Novelist Hazel V. Carby Professor of

English and Afro-American Studies Yale University, 1987-12-31 Covering the period between the 1850s and the turn of the century this study of 19th century narratives depicts an era of intense cultural and political activity when Afro American women first began to emerge as novelists Varieties of Women's Sensation Fiction, 1855-1890 Vol 2 Andrew Maunder, Sally Mitchell, Tamar Heller, Mark Knight, Graham Law, 2024-10-28 Five sensation novels are here presented complete and fully reset along with scholarly annotation a bibliography of sensation fiction and articles contributing to contemporary debate Woman and the Demon Nina Auerbach, 1982 Analyzes the Victorian conception of both demonic and divine nature of women in Victorian art and literature Famine and Fashion Beth Harris, 2017-03-02 Like the figure of the governess the seamstress occupied a unique place in the history of the nineteenth century appearing frequently in debates about women's work and education and the condition of the working classes generally in the rapidly changing capitalist marketplace Like the governess the figure of the needlewoman is ubiquitous in art fiction and journalism in the nineteenth century The fifteen articles in this book address the seamstress's appearance as a real figure in the changing economies of nineteenth century Britain America and France and as an important cultural icon in the art and literature of the period They treat the many different types of needlewomen in the nineteenth century from skilled milliners and dressmakers some of whom owned their own businesses selling merchandise to other women forming a unique female economy to women who through reduced circumstances were forced into the lowest end of paid needlework sewing clothing at home for starvation wages like the impoverished shirt maker in the famous Victorian poem by Thomas Hood The Song of the Shirt This volume assembles the work of leading American British and Canadian scholars from many different fields including art history literary criticism gender studies labor history business history and economic history to draw together recent scholarship on needlewomen from a variety of different disciplines and methodologies Famine and Fashion will therefore appeal to anyone studying images of work in the nineteenth century popular and canonical nineteenth century literature the history of women's work the history of sweated labor the origins of the ready made clothing industry and early feminism

Morgan le Fay, Shapeshifter Jill M. Hebert, 2013-03-12 This study re-examines Morgan le Fay in early medieval and contemporary Arthurian sources arguing that she embodies the concerns of each era even as she defies social and gender expectations Hebert uses leFay as a lens to explore traditional ideas of femininity monstrosity resistance identity and social expectations for women and men alike Ella Hepworth Dixon Valerie Fehlbaum, 2017-07-05 In a career that spanned over forty years Ella Hepworth Dixon 1857-1932 was alternately journalist critic essayist short story writer novelist editor of a women's magazine dramatist and autobiographer After an initial popularity however Dixon's work remained largely unread for decades Valerie Fehlbaum sheds light on Dixon's life and work and provides profound insight not only into Dixon herself but into the multifaceted character of the New Woman writer that Dixon typified Strangers, Migrants, Exiles Frauke Reitemeier, 2012 Portraying the Lady Donatella Izzo, 2001-01-01 From Daisy Miller to Isabel Archer to

Maisie female characters dominate the work of Henry James and often critical discussion of James's work Donatella Izzo shifts that discussion to a different more revealing plane in this original interpretation of James's short fiction By redirecting criticism from a biographical emphasis to a focus on James's engagement with the issues of representation Izzo shows how these short stories actually question and investigate the cultural and ideological practices that produced women both in literature and in society Portraying the Lady brings to light the experimental quality and inherent consistency of stories that have received little critical attention all of which revolve around ideas at the core of the cultural representation of femininity at the time Izzo shows how James by testing and stretching these ideas in his imagery and plots exposed and exploded the perverse logic and the ultimate implications of such culturally shared versions of femininity thus revealing their oppressive quality for women and laying bare literature's complicity in reproducing and circulating them Exposing James's texts as sensitive registers of women's roles during the Victorian Edwardian era this book demonstrates that his texts make readers aware of how those stereotypes operated Blending literary art and feminist criticism with narratological analysis and postmodern theory this groundbreaking work restores a formal awareness to James studies within the wider theoretical concerns of feminist gender and cultural critiques New Perspectives on Mary Elizabeth Braddon, 2015-06-29 Mary Elizabeth Braddon one of the most prolific authors of the Victorian period remains best known for her sensation fiction but over the course of a long career contributed to a multitude of literary genres working as a journalist short story writer and editor as well as authoring more than eighty novels This exciting new collection of essays reappraises Braddon's work and offers a series of new perspectives on her literary productions The volume is divided into two parts the first considers Braddon's seminal sensation novel Lady Audley's Secret the second examines some of her lesser known fiction including her first published novel The Trail of the Serpent as well as some of her twentieth century fiction The first collection of essays on Braddon to appear since 1999 this volume sheds new light on the Queen of the circulating libraries The Awkward Age in Women's Popular Fiction, 1850-1900 Sarah Bilston, 2004-07-22 This book demonstrates that the awkward age formed a fault line in Victorian female experience an unusual phase in which restlessness self interest and rebellion were possible Tracing evolving treatments of female adolescence through a host of long forgotten women's fictions the book reveals that representations of the girl in popular women's literature importantly anticipated depictions of the feminist in the fin de siècle New Woman writing conservative portrayals of girls hopes dreams and subsequent frustrations helped clear a literary and cultural space for the New Woman's awakening to disaffected consciousness The book thus both historicises the evolution and mythic appeal of the female adolescent and works to receive suggestive exchanges between apparently diverse female literary traditions Charles Dickens's American Audience Robert McParland, 2011-12-16 During the time when the American nation was emerging the novels of a British author Charles Dickens contributed significantly to the making of American culture The unique contribution of Charles Dickens's American Audience is the focus upon the testimony of

Dickens's American readers as a unique reading community how his fiction intersected with their real lives how he impacted American publishing literacy and educational reform and how Americans loved the theatricality that Dickens brought to their lives

Women's Authorship and Editorship in Victorian Culture Beth Palmer, 2011-02-17 This book brings new perspectives to the study of sensation fiction in the Victorian period It examines Mary Elizabeth Braddon Ellen Wood and Florence Marryat's magazines alongside their fiction to explore the self-conscious and complex ways they used sensation to rework contemporary notions of female agency

The Decline of Sentiment Lea Jacobs, 2008-04-02 The Decline of Sentiment seeks to characterize the radical shifts in taste that transformed American film in the jazz age Based upon extensive reading of trade papers and the popular press of the day Lea Jacobs documents the films and film genres that were considered old fashioned as well as those dubbed innovative and up to date and looks closely at the works of filmmakers such as Erich von Stroheim Charlie Chaplin Ernst Lubitsch and Monta Bell among many others Her analysis focusing on the influence of literary naturalism on the cinema the emergence of sophisticated comedy and the progressive alteration of the male adventure story and the seduction plot is a comprehensive account of the modernization of classical Hollywood film style and narrative form
