Falling Into Theory Conflicting Views On Reading Literature:

Falling into Theory David H. Richter, 1999-12-24 Falling into Theory is a brief and inexpensive collection of essays that asks literature students to think about the fundamental questions of literary studies today A Companion to Early Modern Women's Writing Anita Pacheco, 2008-04-15 This timely volume represents one of the first comprehensive student oriented guides to the under published field of early modern women's writing Brings together more than twenty leading international scholars to provide the definitive survey volume to the field of early modern women's writing Examines individual texts including works by Mary Sidney Margaret Cavendish and Aphra Behn Explores the historical context and generic diversity of early modern women's writing as well as the theoretical issues that underpin its study Provides a clear sense of the full extent of women's contributions to early modern literary culture Toni Morrison and the Limits of a Politics of Recognition William Jefferson, 2014-05-25 Is Toni Morrison's writing as politically progressive as is widely assumed In this eye opening study critic William Jefferson argues that it is not Analyzing Morrison's major texts from the 1970s 80s and 90s Jefferson argues that Morrison's writing has advanced problematic conceptions of racial essentialism sexuality and agency that would not be identified as in any way progressive if issued from the pen of a white writer More than merely showing readers underappreciated aspects of African American history Morrison's fiction has actively intervened in the politics of her era and in ways politically reactionary and disturbing Stepping back from Morrison's fiction Jefferson asks why scholars have not recognized these political aspects of Morrison's writing What he finds is a purportedly left wing academy focused predominantly on recognizing the indisputably black aspects of Morrison's work This politics of recognition unfortunately also naturalizes Morrison's representations in the same manner liberal humanist criticism naturalized the representations of the pre 1970 literary canon Many Sides: A Protagorean Approach to the Theory, Practice and Pedagogy of Argument M. Mendelson, 2013-06-29 Many Sides is the first full length study of Protagorean antilogic an argumentative practice with deep roots in rhetorical history and renewed relevance for contemporary culture Founded on the philosophical relativism of Protagoras antilogic is a dynamic rather than a formal approach to argument focused principally on the dialogical interaction of opposing positions antilogoi in controversy In ancient Athens antilogic was the cardinal feature of Sophistic rhetoric In Rome Cicero redefined Sophistic argument in a concrete set of dialogical procedures In turn Quintilian inherited this dialogical tradition and made it the centrepiece of his own rhetorical practice and pedagogy Many Sides explores the history theory and pedagogy of this neglected rhetorical tradition and by appeal to recent rhetorical and philosophical theory reconceives the enduring features of antilogical practice in a dialogical approach to argumentation especially suited to the pluralism of our own age and the diversity of modern classrooms Clueless in Academe Gerald Graff, 2008-10-01 Gerald Graff argues that our schools and colleges make the intellectual life seem more opaque narrowly specialized and beyond normal learning capacities than it is or needs to be Left clueless in the academic world many students view the life of the mind as a secret society for which only an elite few qualify In a refreshing departure from standard diatribes against academia Graff shows how academic unintelligibility is unwittingly reinforced not only by academic jargon and obscure writing but by the disconnection of the curriculum and the failure to exploit the many connections between academia and popular culture Finally Graff offers a wealth of practical suggestions for making the culture of ideas and arguments more accessible to students showing how students can enter the public debates that permeate their lives

Teaching the Novel across the Curriculum Colin C. Irvine, 2007-11-30 Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even in subjects other than English Because the novel reflects a broad set of human experiences and history it is the ideal vehicle for learning about a wide range of issues This book helps educators learn how to incorporate novels in courses in English the humanities social and behavioral sciences and professional studies The chapters focus on using the novel to explore ethical concerns multiculturalism history social theory psychology social work and education The book looks at major canonical works as well as graphic novels and popular literature Language arts are at the forefront of education these days Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even if those courses cover subjects other than English Literature instructors have long used fiction to teach composition But because the novel reflects a broad range of human experiences and historical events it is the ideal medium for learning about contemporary social issues This book helps educators learn how to use the novel in courses in English the humanities social and behavioral sciences and professional studies The book is divided into broad sections on general education classes multiculturalism literature classes humanities courses classes in social behavioral and political sciences and professional studies such as social work and teacher training Each section includes chapters written by gifted teachers and provides a wealth of theoretical and practical information While the book examines major canonical works such as Hard Times Billy Budd and Invisible Man it also looks at graphic novels science fiction and popular contemporary works such as Finishing School and Jarhead Chapters reflect the personal successes of their authors and cite works for further reading

Critical Pasts Philip Smallwood, 2004 This volume assembles new thinking on the theory practice and cultural value of the history of literary criticism Focusing on a theme that has attracted relatively little developed theoretical commentary hitherto the authors of these essays draw on specialist areas of critical history and different kinds of problems to illustrate the paradoxes that attend any attempt to write the history of critical writing dimension of restoration criticism the relations between poetry and criticism and a test case in eighteenth century criticism s reception aesthetics Other essays consider relations between eighteenth century critical and literary history between romanticism and New Historicism and the various ways in which present and past criticism is interrelated In an introduction to the volume the editor calls for a clearer confrontation with the representational issues of critical history by those who write about the critical past

The Literary Theory Handbook Gregory Castle, 2013-05-21 The Literary Theory Handbook introduces students to the history and scope of literary theory

showing them how to perform literary analysis and providing a greater understanding of the historical contexts for different theories A new edition of this highly successful text which includes updated and refined chapters and new sections on contemporary theories Far reaching in its inclusion of a detailed history of theory and in depth discussions of major theories and movements Four distinct perspectives on theory historical thematic biographical practical are carefully intertwined so that key concepts terms and ideas are developed in different contexts and cross referenced in the text and in the index Includes alphabetically arranged biographies designed for quick reference and sample readings to illustrate the practical application of theory

Discourse Analysis of Language and Literacy Events in Educational Settings David Bloome, Stephanie Power-Carter, W. Douglas Baker, Maria Lucia Castanheira, Minjeong Kim, Lindsey W. Rowe, 2022-03-30 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the use of microethnographic discourse analysis for researching theorizing and reconceptualizing the uses of language and literacy in educational settings The authors apply an ethnographic perspective to discourse analysis to emphasize how teachers and students use spoken and written language to construct knowledge opportunities for learning and social relationships The authors demonstrate how microethnographic discourse analysis at different levels of scale can provide deeper understandings into the nuanced complex social interactions and relationships that exist in and across educational contexts including meaning making literacy practices power relations and the social construction of personhood Each chapter offers philosophically and theoretically grounded principles for using microethnographic discourse analysis and example cases that reflect the principles presented Ideal for researchers teacher educators and teachers this essential text on discourse analysis language and literacy provides a grounding to further examine critical questions challenging educators

Ten Lessons in Theory Calvin Thomas, 2013-08-01 An introduction to literary theory unlike any other Ten Lessons in Theory engages its readers with three fundamental premises The first premise is that a genuinely productive understanding of theory depends upon a considerably more sustained encounter with the foundational writings of Hegel Marx Nietzsche and Freud than any reader is likely to get from the introductions to theory that are currently available The second premise involves what Fredric Jameson describes as the conviction that of all the writing called theoretical Lacan's is the richest Entertaining this conviction the book pays more and more careful attention to the richness of Lacan's writing than does any other introduction to literary theory The third and most distinctive premise of the book is that literary theory isn't simply theory about literature but that theory fundamentally is literature after all Ten Lessons in Theory argues and even demonstrates that theoretical writing is nothing if not a specific genre of creative writing a particular way of engaging in the art of the sentence the art of making sentences that make trouble sentences that make or desire to make radical changes in the very fabric of social reality As its title indicates the book proceeds in the form of ten lessons each based on an axiomatic sentence selected from the canon of theoretical writing Each lesson works by creatively unpacking its featured sentence and exploring the sentence's conditions of possibility and most radical implications In the course of exploring the conditions and consequences of these troubling sentences the ten lessons work and play together to articulate the most basic assumptions and motivations supporting theoretical writing from its earliest stirrings to its most current turbulences Provided in each lesson is a working glossary specific critical keywords are boldfaced on their first appearance and defined either in the text or in a footnote But while each lesson constitutes a precise explication of the working terms and core tenets of theoretical writing each also attempts to exemplify theory as a practice of creativity Foucault in itself

A Theory of Literary Explication Kenneth B. Newell, 2011-07-12 This book presents current multidisciplinary research and theory from 17 different fields most of them never before applied to literary explication in order to provide 1 justification for the practice of a relative probability type of explication as distinguished from interpretation 2 a relativistic foundation for the preference of some explication s of a literary work over others and thereby 3 a middle way between the postmodern pluralist view that a work has only an unlimited number of equally acceptable though different explications and the modern intentionalist view that it has only one acceptable explication the author s Nine of the 17 fields are of primary relevance critical theory hermeneutics probability theory philosophy of science second order logic and four fields of cognitive science linguistics epistemology neuropsychology and artificial intelligence But the book also touches upon textual criticism legal theory measure theory fuzzy logic animal learning behavior developmental psychology evolutionary epistemology and neurobiology The book shows that those using a relative probability type of explication on a literary work can achieve consensus because the healthy adult human brain has an evolved uniform and probably innate ability to form relative probability judgments and to form them in the practice of activities like reading and explicating that are not uniform and innate Lastly the book contributes to the scholarly areas of explication theory and practice first by providing a relativistic foundation for a craft explication that currently is not acknowledged to have any foundation but nonetheless continues and will continue to be practiced and second by presenting a means relative epistemic probability by which judging some explication s of a literary work to be more acceptable than others may be justified philosophically an uncommon circumstance in this postmodern era in which philosophical justification of many beliefs and practices is thought to be untenable

Contextualising Legal Research Sanne Taekema, Wibren van der Burg, 2024-06-05 Providing a clear and concise guide to the practicalities of legal research this informative book presents a methodological framework for law in context research design It argues that legal scholarship relies on the interpretive and argumentative methods of the humanities but also requires empirical input due to its focus on social reality

Literature and Education: Proposal of an English Literature Program for E.S.O and Bachillerato as an Integrated and Interdisciplinary Tool for TESL Esther De La Peña Puebla, 2012-01-24 This paper seeks to analyze the role that literature has performed throughout the last years the conflicts derived from the academic views and how literature is an essential tool for the comprehensive study of a second language as an integral part of t      Teaching Shakespeare Beyond the Centre K. Flaherty, P. Gay, L. Semler, 2013-03-05 Showcasing a wide array of recent innovative and original research into Shakespeare and learning in Australasia and beyond this volume argues the value of the local and provides transferable and adaptable models of educational theory and practice      Spatial Politics in the Postcolonial Novel Sara Upstone, 2016-04-01 In her innovative study of spatial locations in postcolonial texts Sara Upstone adopts a transnational and comparative approach that challenges the tendency to engage with authors in isolation or in relation to other writers from a single geographical setting Suggesting that isolating authors in terms of geography reinforces the primacy of the nation Upstone instead illuminates the power of spatial locales such as the journey city home and body to enable personal or communal statements of resistance against colonial prejudice and its neo colonial legacies While focusing on the major texts of Wilson Harris Toni Morrison and Salman Rushdie in relation to particular spatial locations Upstone offers a wide range of examples from other postcolonial authors including Michael Ondaatje Keri Hulme J M Coetzee Arundhati Roy Tsitsi Dangarembga and Abdulrazak Gurnah The result is a strong case for what Upstone terms the postcolonial spatial imagination independent of geography though always fully contextualised Written in accessible and unhurried prose Upstone s study is marked by its respect for the ways in which the writers themselves resist not only geographical boundaries but academic categorisation      Faulkner in the Twenty-First Century Robert W. Hamblin, Ann J. Abadie, 2009-09-18 Contributions by Deborah N Cohn Leigh Anne Duck Robert W Hamblin Michael Kreyling Barbara Ladd Walter Benn Michaels Patrick O Donnell Theresa M Towner Annette Trefzer and Karl F Zender Faulkner in the Twenty First Century presents the thoughts of ten noted Faulkner scholars who spoke at the twenty seventh annual Faulkner and Yoknapatawpha Conference at the University of Mississippi Theresa M Towner attacks the traditional classification of Faulkner s works as major and minor and argues that this causes the neglect of other significant works and characters Michael Kreyling uses photographs of Faulkner to analyze the interrelationships of Faulkner s texts with the politics and culture of Mississippi Barbara Ladd and Deborah Cohn invoke the relevance of Faulkner s works to the other South postcolonial Latin America Also approaching Faulkner from a postcolonial perspective Annette Trefzer looks at his contradictory treatment of Native Americans Within the tragic fates of such characters as Quentin Compson Gail Hightower and Rosa Coldfield Leigh Ann Duck finds an inability to cope with painful memories Patrick O Donnell examines the use of the future tense and Faulkner s growing skepticism of history as a linear progression To postmodern critics who denigrate The Fire and the Hearth Karl F Zender offers a rebuttal Walter Benn Michaels contends that in Faulkner s South and indeed the United States as a whole the question of racial identification tends to overpower all other issues Faulkner s recurring interest in frontier life and values inspires Robert W Hamblin s piece      Travelling Knowledges Renate Eigenbrod, 2005-05-25 In the context of de colonization the boundary between an Aboriginal text and the analysis by a non Aboriginal outsider poses particular challenges often constructed as unbridgeable Eigenbrod argues that politically correct silence is not the answer but instead does a disservice to the literature that like all literature depends on being read taught and disseminated in various ways In Travelling Knowledges Eigenbrod suggests decolonizing strategies when approaching Aboriginal texts as an outsider and challenges conventional notions of expertise She concludes that literatures of colonized peoples have to be read ethically not only without colonial impositions of labels but also with the responsibility to read beyond the text or in Lee Maracle s words to become the architect of great social transformation Features the works of Jeannette Armstrong Okanagan Louise Halfe Cree Margo Kane Saulteaux Cree Maurice Kenny Mohawk Thomas King Cherokee living in Canada Emma LaRocque Cree Metis Lee Maracle Sto lo Metis Ruby Slipperjack Anishnaabe Lorne Simon Mi kmaq Richard Wagamese Anishnaabe and Emma Lee Warrior Peigan Disability in Comic Books and Graphic Narratives C.
