Families Under Stress A Psychological Interpretation:

Families Under Stress Tony Manocchio, William Petitt, 2015-07-24 The family is perhaps the most important single institution in everyone's life What happens in such an intense group How does it develop over time What happens when stress is placed upon it whether generated from inside or outside the family Originally published in 1975 when the late Tony Manocchio was one of the leading practitioners of family therapy in Britain and Scandinavia this title written with his colleague William Petitt is a lively study of communication within families revealing the universal problems common to all The authors demonstrate and illuminate the application of communication principles by analysing healthy and unhealthy family systems in six major plays The Winslow Boy Riders to the Sea Hamlet A Long Day's Journey into Night Death of a Salesman and A Delicate Balance As part of this analysis they examine the difficulties family members have in allowing for differences in sharing secrets and the ease with which a whole family can scapegoat a single member They give a number of short case histories and examples from other plays which further illustrate the importance of communicating clearly The book will still be of value to all those interested in the uses of family therapy and also to students of literature for the human insight it offers into the texts discussed The Cambridge Companion to Arthur Miller Christopher Bigsby, 2010-04-22 Arthur Miller is regarded as one of the most important playwrights of the twentieth century and his work continues to be widely performed and studied around the world This updated Companion includes Miller's work since the publication of the first edition in 1997 the plays Mr Peters Connections Resurrection Blues and Finishing the Picture and key productions of his plays since his death in 2005 The chapter on Miller and the cinema has been completely revised to include new films and demonstrates that Miller's work remains an important source for filmmakers In addition to detailed analyses of plays including Death of a Salesman and The Crucible Miller's work is also placed within the context of the social and political climate of the time The volume closes with a bibliographic essay which reviews the key studies of Miller and also contains a detailed chronology of the work of this influential dramatist Feminist mental health activism in England, c. 1968-95 Kate Mahoney, 2023-12-12 Feminist mental health activism in England c 1968 1995 provides the first in depth examination of feminist mental health activism in England employing original oral history interviews alongside detailed case studies of unexplored feminist initiatives It charts how feminist activists in the late 1960s initially rejected psychological approaches before employing a range of therapies to understand themselves and support one another This book charts the emergence of feminist mental health groups in the early 1970s the development of feminist therapy across the 1980s and the influence of feminist politics on national charity Mind in the 1990s It examines what participation in feminist activism felt like demonstrating how these emotions have influenced the construction of its history The book simultaneously forges a new direction in the history of mental healthcare in postwar England establishing how feminists grassroots support for women redefined community care The Ludic Self in Seventeenth-Century English Literature Anna K. Nardo, 1991-09-03 This book

argues that play offered Hamlet John Donne George Herbert Andrew Marvell Robert Burton and Sir Thomas Browne a way to live within the contradictions and conflicts of late Renaissance life by providing a new stance for the self Grounding its argument in recent theories of play and in a historical analysis that sees the seventeenth century as a point of crisis in the formation of the western self the author demonstrates how play helped mediate this crisis and how central texts of the period enact this mediation

Arthur Miller - Death of a Salesman/The Crucible Stephen Marino, 2015-08-16 Arthur Miller was one of the most important American playwrights and political and cultural figures of the 20th century Both Death of a Salesman and The Crucible stand out as his major works the former is always in performance somewhere in the world and the latter is Miller's most produced play As major modern American dramas they are the subject of a huge amount of criticism which can be daunting for students approaching the plays for the first time This Reader's Guide introduces the major critical debates surrounding the plays and discusses their unique production histories initial theatre reviews and later adaptations The main trends of critical inquiry and scholars who have purported them are examined as are the views of Miller himself a prolific self critic

The Psychological Effects of War and Violence on Children Lewis A. Leavitt, Nathan A. Fox, 2014-01-14 The outgrowth of a conference planned as a response to the need for researchers and clinicians to develop integrated plans for addressing the psychological trauma of children exposed to violence this volume's goals are to summarize research on the subject with particular emphasis on the Gulf War to use this information to formulate an outline of what current knowledge suggests are reasonable approaches to public mental health intervention and to develop an agenda for future research necessary for improving clinical efforts in varying international conflicts A significant collection of diverse perspectives attending to a diversity of cultural and political contexts the contributors offer many conclusions about important dimensions for analyzing the effects of violence on children Suggesting informed approaches to public mental health efforts which can be implemented the work presented here directs attention to the need for interdisciplinary collaboration among researchers and clinicians to better understand the effects of exposure to violence on the psychological well being of children and the optimal modes of remediation on individual family and community levels

Sourcebook of Family Theories and Methods Pauline Boss, William J. Doherty, Ralph LaRossa, Walter R. Schumm, Suzanne K. Steinmetz, 2008-11-19 Origins We call this book on theoretical orientations and methodological strategies in family studies a sourcebook because it details the social and personal roots i.e. sources from which these orientations and strategies flow Thus an appropriate way to preface this book is to talk first of its roots its beginnings In the mid 1980s there emerged in some quarters the sense that it was time for family studies to take stock of itself A goal was thus set to write a book that like Janus would face both backward and forward a book that would give readers both a perspective on the past and a map for the future There were precedents for such a project The Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Harold Christensen and published in 1964 the two Contemporary Theories about the Family volumes edited by Wesley Burr Reuben Hill F. Ivan

Nye and Ira Reiss published in 1979 and the Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Marvin Sussman and Suzanne Steinmetz then in production

Handbook of Family Resilience Dorothy S. Becvar, 2012-08-24 Resilience is a topic that is currently receiving increased attention In general resilience refers to the capacity of those who even under the most stressful circumstances are able to cope to rebound and to go on and thrive Resilient families are able to regain their balance following crises that arise as a function of either nature or nurture and to continue to encourage and support their members as they deal with the necessary requirements for accommodation adaptation and ultimately healthy survival Handbook of Family Resilience provides a broad body of knowledge regarding the traits and patterns found to characterize resilient individuals and well functioning families including those with diverse structures various ethnic backgrounds and a variety of non traditional forms This Handbook brings together a variety of perspectives aimed at understanding and helping to facilitate resilience in families relative to a full range of challenges Subject Catalog, 1977 Library of Congress, 1977 Helping Children Cope with Trauma Ruth Pat-Horenczyk, Danny Brom, Juliet M. Vogel, 2014-01-21 Helping Children Cope with Trauma bridges theory and practice in examining emerging approaches to enhancing resilience and treating traumatised children Adopting a child centred perspective it highlights the importance of the synergy between individual family community and social interventions for recovery from post traumatic stress Consisting of chapters by an international range of contributors the book is presented in three sections reflecting the ecological circles of support that facilitate healthy development in the face of traumatic circumstances Section 1 Individual addresses the impact of exposure to trauma and loss on post traumatic adaptation focusing on biological aspects attachment patterns emotion regulation and aggressive behaviour in children Section 2 Family looks at the concept of family resilience the impact of trauma on playfulness in toddlers and parents innovative models for working with children traumatised by war domestic violence and poverty and describes the challenges faced by refugee families in the light of intergenerational transmission of trauma Section 3 Community broadly explores the concept of community resilience and preparedness the centrality of the school in the community during times of war and conflict post traumatic distress and resilience in diverse cultural contexts and the impact of trauma work on mental health professionals who live and work in shared traumatic realities The book concludes with a theoretical discussion of the concept of Survival Mode as an organising principle for understanding post traumatic phenomena Helping Children Cope with Trauma will provide mental health professionals child welfare workers educators child development experts and researchers with a thorough understanding of the needs of children after trauma and how those needs may best be met Library of Congress Subject Headings: F-O Library of Congress.
