Family Life Education for Adolescent Girls D. Sarada, 1999 Contents Introduction Review of Relevant Literature Methodology Results and Discussion Summary and Conclusion Adolescent Drinking and Family Life Geoff Lowe, David R. Foxcroft, David Sibley, 2022-12-29 Originally published in 1993 Adolescent Drinking and Family Life portrays teenage drinking not as a symptom of pathology but as a perfectly normal developmental phase within the context of the home environment Drinking is predominantly social behaviour and the family is seen as a major agent of socialization The authors have therefore explored family dynamics and the influence which the home environment has upon adolescent drinking to come up with a new theoretical model A major feature of this approach is the interaction of ideas from family life psychology and human geography The authors present a typology of domestic regimes illustrated by case studies of boundary enforcement and transgression The general theme of boundary transgression applied here to both the psychosocial environment and built form represents an interesting new theoretical perspective The integration of these two fields is an innovation which should stimulate further interdisciplinary work in adolescence and addiction research Adolescent Drinking and Family Life will be interesting to researchers and practitioners in adolescence family dynamics and alcohol as well as any social scientist with an interest in the link between behaviour and the home environment This new approach had important implications for health education and for interventions concerned with adolescent alcohol use at the time Today it can be read in its historical context Empowering Families, Helping Adolescents Wendy Snyder, 1998-12 Designed for alcohol and other drug abuse AODA and mental health professionals paraprofessionals administrators and policymakers who want to learn more about family centered treatment of adolescents with alcohol drug abuse and mental health disorders this monograph explains the steps necessary to implement a family centered approach to treatment Includes a brief overview of family systems theory and practice focuses on some specific aspects of family centered clinical practice examines administrative organizational financing and training issues and outlines strategies for addressing these issues Implementation checklist

Congress. Senate. Committee on Labor and Human Resources. Subcommittee on Family and Human Services, 1985

Family Stories and the Life Course Michael W. Pratt, Barbara H. Fiese, 2004-04-26 This edited book draws from work that focuses on the act of telling family stories as well as their content and structure The process of telling family stories is linked to central aspects of development including language acquisition affect regulation and family interaction patterns This book extends across traditional developmental psychology personality theory and family studies Drawing broadly on the epigenetic framework for individual development articulated by Erik Erikson as well as on conceptions of the family life cycle the editors bring together contemporary examples of psychological research on family stories and their implications for development and change at different points in the life course The book is divided into sections that focus on family stories at different points in the life cycle from early childhood and the beginnings of narrative skill through adolescence young adulthood midlife and then mature adulthood and its intergenerational meaning During each of these periods of the life cycle research focusing on individual development within an Eriksonian framework of ego strengths and virtues is highlighted The dynamic role of family stories is also featured here with work exploring the links between family process intergenerational attachment and storytelling Sociocultural theories that emphasize how such development is situated in the wider cultural context are also featured in several chapters This broad lifespan developmental focus serves to integrate the exciting diversity of this work and foster further questions and research in the emerging field of family narrative The book is intended primarily for researchers and advanced level students in the fields of developmental and personality psychology as well as those in family studies and in gerontology It may also be of interest to those in the helping professions who are concerned with family therapy and family issues and may due to its content and illustrative material have appeal to a wider market of the lay public The chapters are written in a readily accessible style and the analyses are presented in a fairly non technical way Because family stories are charted across the lifespan it would be a suitable companion book to a more traditional lifespan textbook in certain courses
