Family Television Cultural Power And Domestic Leisure:

Family Television David Morley, 2005-07-22 First Published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Media, Home and Family Stewart M. Hoover, Lynn Schofield Clark, Diane F. Alters, 2012-09-10 Based on extensive fieldwork this book examines how parents make decisions regulating media use and how media practices define contemporary family life

Television for Women Rachel Moseley, Helen Wheatley, Helen Wood, 2016-11-10 Television for Women brings together emerging and established scholars to reconsider the question of television for women In the context of the 2000s when the potential meanings of both terms have expanded and changed so significantly in what ways might the concept of programming addressed explicitly to a group identified by gender still matter The essays in this collection take the existing scholarship in this field in significant new directions They expand its reach in terms of territory looking beyond for example the paradigmatic Anglo American axis and also historical span Additionally whilst the influential methodological formation of production text and audience is still visible here the new research in Television for Women frequently reconfigures that relationship The topics included here are far reaching from television as material culture at the British exhibition in the first half of the twentieth century women s roles in television production past and present to popular 1960s television such as The Liver Birds and in the twenty first century highly successful programmes including Orange Is the New Black Call the Midwife One Born Every Minute and Wanted Down Under This book presents ground breaking research on historical and contemporary relationships between women and television around the world and is an ideal resource for students of television media and gender studies

The Wired Homestead Joseph Turow, Andrea L. Kavanaugh, 2003-06-06 Multidisciplinary essays on the effects of the internet on family life in particular parental oversight of children s use of the World Wide Web The use of the internet in homes rivals the advent of the telephone radio or television in social significance Daily use of the World Wide Web and e mail is taken for granted in many families and the computer linked internet is becoming an integral part of the physical and audiovisual environment The internet s features of personalization interactivity and information abundance raise profound new issues for parents and children Most researchers studying the impact of the internet on families begin with the assumption that the family is the central influence in preparing a child to live in society and that home is where that influence takes place In The Wired Homestead communication theorists and social scientists offer recent findings on the effects of the internet on the lives of the family unit and its members The book examines historical precedents of parental concern over new media such as television It then looks at specific issues surrounding parental oversight of internet use such as rules about revealing personal information time limits and web site restrictions It looks at the effects of the web on both domestic life and entire neighborhoods The wealth of information offered and the formulation of emerging issues regarding parents and children lay the foundation for further research in this developing field Contributors Robert Kraut Jorge Reina Schement Ellen Seiter Sherry Turkle Ellen Wartella and Barry Wellman

Virtual Gender Alison Adam, Eileen Green, 2005-08-03 As yet there has been relatively little published on women's activities in relation to new digital technologies Virtual Gender brings together theoretical perspectives from feminist theory the sociology of technology and gender studies with well designed empirical studies to throw new light on the impact of ICTs on contemporary social life A line up of authors from around the world looks at the gender and technology issues related to leisure pleasure and consumption identity and self Their research is set against a backcloth of renewed interest in citizenship and ethics and how these concepts are recreated in an on line situation particularly in local settings With chapters on subjects ranging from gender switching on line computer games and cyberstalking to the use of the domestic telephone this stimulating collection challenges the stereotype of woman as a passive victim of technology It offers new ways of looking at the many dimensions in which ICTs can be said to be gendered and will be a rich resource for students and teachers in this expanding field of study The Cultural Studies Reader Simon During,1999 The Cultural Studies Reader is essential reading for any student wanting to know how cultural studies developed where it is now and its future directions Planet TV Lisa Parks,Shanti Kumar,2003 Provides an overview of the rapidly changing landscape of global television combining previously published essays by pioneers of the study of television with new work by cutting edge television scholars who refine and extend intellectual debates in the field The Politics of Domestic Consumption Stevi Jackson,Shaun Moores,2014-06-06 This Reader brings together a broad range of critical work on the everyday practices and power relations of domestic consumption drawing on material from sociology women s studies and media and cultural studies The book is divided into five main sections on economics food and clothing leisure and media reception household technologies and the construction of home and its selected contributions examine the social dynamics of gender generation class and ethnicity The Platformization of the Family Julian Sefton-Green,Kate Mannell,Ola Erstad,2024-11-28 This open access book outlines how the digital platforms that mediate so many aspects of commercial and personal life have begun to transform everyday family existence It presents theory and research methods to enable students and scholars to investigate the changes that platformization has brought to the routines and interactions of family life including intergenerational communication interpersonal relationships forms of care and togetherness The book emerged from a seminar jointly funded by the Collaboration of Humanities and Social Sciences in Europe project the Norwegian Research Council and The Australian Centre of Excellence for the Study of the Digital Child Media, Children, and the Family Dolf Zillmann,Jennings Bryant,Aletha C. Huston,2013-11-05 This book brings together a group of scholars to share findings and insights on the effects of media on children and family Their contributions reflect not only widely divergent political orientations and value systems but also three distinct domains of inquiry into human motivation and behavior social scientific psychodynamic or psychoanalytical and clinical practice Each of these three domains is privy to important evidence and insights that need to transcend epistemological and methodological boundaries if understanding of the subject is to improve dramatically In keeping with this notion the editors asked the authors to go beyond a summary of findings and lend additional distinction to the book by applying the binoculars of their particular perspective and offering suggestions as to the implications of their findings One of the goals of the conference that resulted in this book was consensus building in the area of media and family From examining the findings and insights of a diverse group of scholars it seems that consensus building in several areas is a distinct possibility Addressing the concerns of educators about the influence of the mass media of communication entertainment programs in particular on children and the welfare of the nuclear family this volume projects directions for superior programming especially for educational television The influence of sex and violence on children and adults is given much attention and the development of moral judgment and sexual expectations among other things is explored The critical analysis of media effects includes examination of positive contributions of the media such as the search for missing children and exemplary educational programs Cultural Studies Lawrence Grossberg, Janice Radway, 2005-08-08 First published in 1994 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company Value and the Media Professor Göran Bolin, 2013-01-28 Value is seldom discussed in its own right though it is of utmost importance to our relations with media texts and cultural objects as we constantly make judgements of various kinds with respect to them This book focuses on how value aesthetic political and social and economic value is produced in contemporary media and cultural production Contending that value is not constituted by the essence of a thing but is rather produced in social relations through negotiations and justifications Value and the Media discusses changes in the cultural industries over the past two decades emphasising the rise of new digital media and the opportunities that these afford for the production and consumption of media texts and objects Richly illustrated with examples from the UK USA and Europe this volume explores a range of media both old mass media and new personal media with a constant focus on the importance of both for our understanding of the changes that have occurred on the media landscape and their implications for the production of value As such this book will be of interest to social scientists and theorists working in the fields of cultural and media studies popular culture and consumption The Audience And Its Landscape John Hay, Lawrence Grossberg, Ellen Wartella, James Hay, 2018-10-08 This book offers a major reconceptualization of the term audience one which involves a landscape including the landscape of a given audience situated and territorializing features of any way of seeing and defining the world It acknowledges in the face of conventional discourse analysis the contextual features of discourse to produce complex and textured understanding of the concept of audience The book will speak to students of rhetoric mass communication cultural studies anthropology and sociology alike This book offers a major reconceptualization of the term audience including the landscape of a given audience the situated and territorializing features of any way of seeing and defining the world Given de Certeaus hypothesis that listening watching and reading all occur in places and result in produce transformed paths or spaces the contributors to this landmark volume have provided innovative essays analyzing the transformations that take place in the geography between sender and receiver The book acknowledges in the face of conventional discourse analysis the contextual features of discourse to produce a complex and textured understanding of the concept of audience The Audience and Its Landscape presents the work of a vital cross section of international scholars including Swedens Karl Erik Rosengren the UKs Jay G Blumler and Roger Silverstone Australias Tony Bennett Israels Elihu Katz Canadas Martin Allor and the United States Janice Radway Byron Reeves and John Fisk to name a few This book is truly groundbreaking in its depth and scope and will speak to students of rhetoric mass communication cultural studies anthropology and sociology alike Theorizing Culture Barbara Adam, Stuart Allan, 2006-04-07 This highly original and timely volume engages scholars from the breadth of social science and the humanities to provide a critical perspective on cultural forms practices and identities It looks beyond the postmodern debate to reinstate the critical dimension in cultural analysis providing a student friendly introduction to key contemporary issues such as the body AIDS race the environment and virtual reality Theorizing Culture is essential reading for undergraduate courses in cultural and media studies and sociology and will have considerable appeal for students and scholars of critical theory gender studies and the history of ideas

The Psychosocial Interior of the Family Gerald Handel, Gail G. Whitchurch, 1994 This long awaited fourth edition has the same goal as the preceding editions to understand families in terms of the kinds of interaction through which family life is constructed The changes in the family as an institution have influenced these processes just as they have influenced the ways we understand and write about them But even in these postmodern circumstances an underlying premise of the volume is that two partners establish a family because they have selected each other as distinctively meaningful to one another They will affirm modify elaborate or retreat from various aspects of the relationship through interaction over time and in changing circumstances This volume contains the best available interdisciplinary work on the social psychology of the family More than half of the selections are new to this edition which incorporates a variety of theoretical and research perspectives that provide the reader with a range of authoritative and up to date sources on the family and interpersonal relations The newer forms of family organization that have emerged in the more recent literature specifically single parent families stepfamilies and families of gay and lesbian domestic partners are included Authors have been drawn from a variety of disciplines including sociology communication family studies human development psychology anthropology and social work

Media Audiences John L. Sullivan, 2013 Whether we are watching TV surfing the Internet listening to our iPods or reading a novel we are all engaged with media as a member of an audience Despite the widespread use of this term in our popular culture the meaning of the audience is complex and it has undergone significant historical shifts as new forms of mediated communication have developed from print telegraphy and radio to film television and the Internet Media Audiences explores the concept of media audiences from four broad perspectives as victims of mass media as market constructions commodities as users of media and as producers subcultures of mass media The goal of the text is for students to be able to think critically about the role and status of media audiences in contemporary society reflecting on their relative power in relation to institutional media producers

Star Gazing Jackie Stacey, 2013-11-05 In a historical investigation of the pleasures of cinema Star Gazing puts female spectators back into theories of spectatorship Combining film theory with a rich body of ethnographic research Jackie Stacey investigates how female spectators understood Hollywood stars in the 1940 s and 1950 s Her study challenges the universalism of psychoanalytic theories of female spectatorship which have dominated the feminist agenda within film studies for over two decades Drawing on letters and questionnaires from over three hundred keen cinema goers Stacey investigates the significance of certain Hollywood stars in women s memories of wartime and postwar Britain Three key processes of spectatorship escapism identification and consumption are explored in detail in terms of their multiple and changing meanings for female spectators at this time Star Gazing demonstrates the importance of cultural and national location for the meanings of female spectatorship giving a new direction to questions of popular culture and female desire

The End of Television? Elihu Katz, Paddy Scannell, 2009-09-17

Is television dead The classic television era of the 1950s and 1960s characterized by limited choices of programs broadcast on over the air channels to families as if they were seated around a hearth and to a nation as if gathered around a campfire has indeed ended That early stage of sharedness and scarcity gave way to the television of plenty when satellite and cable and competition reigned choice was suddenly expanded and every room in the home had its own television set And now television offers infinite choices where we can view what we like when we like where we like on a variety of screens telephones and Web sites Some researchers assert that television is not dead but has merely moved from a collectivist to an individualist phase Throughout the drastic evolution of this media thousands of studies have examined the short term effects of television such as the evaluation of persuasion campaigns Yet there is scant research on the overreaching sociological impacts of television and its centrality to Western culture over the past 60 years This compelling volume of The ANNALS is the first collection of rigorous articles devoted to studying ways in which television has impacted our values ideologies institutions social structure and culture Focusing on classic television these leading experts in media studies delve into the effects on social institutions namely family and politics and its effects on values and everyday behavior These seminal articles lay the groundwork for innovative studies of the numerous ways that television has impacted democracy social integration nation and family trust and suspiciousness materialism and identity social and physical Students and researchers will find a wealth of inspiration for new research projects It is a must have resource for social scientists interested in media studies
