Family Therapy Theory For Nursing Four Approaches:

Family Therapy Theory for Nursing Ann L. Whall, 1986 Planned Change Theories for Nursing Constance Rimmer Tiffany, Louette R. Johnson Lutjens, 1998

In a groundbreaking publication Constance Rimmer Tiffany and Louette R Johnson Lutjens present a foundation for nurses understanding of planned change Planned Change Theories for Nursing contains overviews of three widely accepted change theories and a new systems oriented planned change theory and shows the implications of these theories for nursing practice The first section of this book offers a thoughtful overview of the issues involved in the use of planned change theories beginning with the rationale for studying planned change theories and important points to consider in choosing among them The authors then explore the role of power in change and discuss moral and ethical questions involved in planned change The final chapter in this section addresses the diagnostic process innovations as solutions and the evaluation of planned change Chapter 9 serves as a transition in which the authors reflect on the implications of planned change in a representative nursing model the well known Roy Adaptation Model This chapter also provides a nursing orientation for Part II in which the authors examine in turn Lewin s micro theories Bennis Benne and Chin s planned change writings the Rogers Diffusion Model and Bhola s Configurations Model For each of these theories or models the authors present an overview an analysis and critique and a discussion entitled Altering the Peg in which the theories are individually viewed in light of the key concepts in the Roy Adaptation Model The book concludes with a discussion of the theoretical underpinnings for carrying out planned change research and incorporating research findings in nursing practice In addition the appendixes provide a wealth of source information for the theories discussed

Foundations of Nursing in the Community - E-Book Marcia Stanhope, Jeanette Lancaster, 2013-10-15 With concise, focused coverage of community health nursing, Foundations of Nursing in the Community: Community Oriented Practice, 4th Edition, provides essential information for community practice from nursing roles and care settings to vulnerable population groups. The book uses a practical, community-oriented approach and places an emphasis on health promotion and disease prevention. Practical application of concepts is highlighted throughout the text in case studies, critical thinking activities, QSEN competencies, and Healthy People 2020 objectives. Evidence-Based Practice boxes highlight current research findings, their application to practice, and how community public health nurses can apply the study results. Levels of Prevention boxes identify specific nursing interventions at the primary, secondary, and tertiary levels to reinforce the concept of prevention as it pertains to community and public health care. Focus on Health Promotion throughout the text emphasizes initiatives, strategies, and interventions that promote the health of the community. Clinical Application scenarios offer realistic situations with questions and answers to help you apply chapter concepts to practice in the community. Case Studies provide client scenarios within the community public health setting to help you develop assessment and critical thinking skills. What Would You Do boxes present problem-solving challenges that encourage both independent and collaborative thinking required in community settings. How To boxes offer specific instructions on nursing interventions. NEW QSEN boxes illustrate how quality and safety goals, competencies, objectives, knowledge, skills, and attitudes can be applied in nursing practice in the community. NEW Feature box on Linking Content to Practice highlights how chapter content is applied in the role of public community health nursing. NEW Healthy People 2020 objectives in every chapter address the health priorities and emerging health issues expected in the next decade.

Theoretical Nursing Afaf Ibrahim Meleis, 2011 An additional assumption was that the processes for theory development were new to nursing and hence nurses in graduate programs learned strategies for advancing knowledge from other disciplines. This assumption was debunked with the knowledge that nurses were always engaged in knowledge development driven by their experiences in clinical practice. Because of these assumptions, most of the early writing about theory development was about outlining strategies that should be used rather than strategies that have already been used in the discipline to develop theories. Theorists themselves did not uncover or adequately discuss ways by which they developed their theories therefore the tendency was to describe processes that were based on theories developed in other disciplines mainly the physical and social sciences And an implicit assumption was made that there should be a single strategy for theory development some claiming to begin the process from practice and others believing it should be driven by research Provided by publisher Children's Rights John T. Pardeck,2006 This book covers the children s rights movement and the rights of parents It examines the implications of children s rights for policy and practice with particular reference to children with disabilities and children in the care of protective services Pediatric Home Care for Nurses Wendy Votroubek,2010-09-15 Pediatric Home Care is a practice based text perfect for either students or for supporting pediatric nurses practicing in a home care setting The text includes a variety of nursing information required for this type of care across a large spectrum of physiologic categories and acuity levels The Third Edition has been completely revised and updated to reflect the most current practice and technology and includes a new focus on evidence based practice
