Educating for Intelligent Belief Or Unbelief Nel Noddings,1993 Educating for Intelligent Belief or Unbelief Nel Noddings,1993 One of the most enduring and controversial issues in American education concerns the place of individual beliefs and moral standards in the classroom Noddings argues that public schools should address the fundamental questions that teenagers inevitably raise about the nature value and meaning of life and death and to do so across the curriculum without limiting such existential and metaphysical discussions to separate religion philosophy or even history classes Explorations of the existence of a God or gods and the value and validity of religious belief for societies or individuals she writes whether they are initiated by students or teachers should be part of the free exchange of human concerns a way in which people share their awe doubts fears hopes knowledge and ignorance Such basic human concerns Noddings maintains are relevant to nearly every subject and should be both non coercive and free from academic evaluation Nel Noddings probes the many ways in which children s questions about God and gods existence and the meaning of life can and should be integrated into life in classrooms and the real world of the public schools From the Foreword This is a rich and sensitive book that will give teachers administrators parents philosophers of education any concerned citizen the basis for more substantial discussion and concrete proposals Free Inquiry Impressive in its sweep of possibilities for exploration in the school curriculum and teacher education Educational Theory Moral Questions in the Classroom Katherine G. Wagner, Frank K. Fair, 2020-10-30 If our goal is Education for Knowing as the title says then we need to be guided by a conception of what knowing is For example we can all agree that there are math facts that students need to learn and we can agree that there are general concepts and laws that students should be acquainted with But is there more involved perhaps something like nurturing in students a desire to probe deeper into the workings of thing Or developing a capacity to explain why things work the way they do Our conceptions of what genuine knowing is serve as guides to what we think the goal of education is and they tell us how to build a student However as it turns out there are multiple conceptions of what knowing truly involves and these conceptions tend to be different for different sets of education stakeholders such as parents and their children school administrators and educational researchers Understanding this diversity of conceptions of knowing will make it easier for representatives of the different stakeholder groups to work together to accomplish the goal of building knowing students Curriculum and Teaching Dialogue Chara Haeussler Bohan, John L.
