Teacher Education Policy and Practice in Europe Ana Raquel Simões, Mónica Lourenço, Nilza Costa, 2018-05-11
Teacher Education Policy and Practice in Europe provides a critical overview of the current challenges facing teacher education policy and practice in Europe Drawing on a wide range of contributions the book demonstrates that in order for teachers to reassume their role as agents of change it is crucial to create a vision of a future European teacher and promote active engagement in preparing children to live and act in a multicultural and increasingly changing world The book suggests ways in which teachers could be prepared to meet and overcome the struggles they will encounter in the classroom including recommendations for teacher education which open up new possibilities for policy practice and research Considering their own experiences as teachers contributors also cover topics such as teacher education for the 21st century the profile of the European teacher citizenship and identity social inclusion linguistic and cultural diversity and comparative education Teacher Education Policy and Practice in Europe is essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students engaged in the study of teacher education educational policy and educational theory It should also be of great interest to research active teacher educators and practising teachers

Access to Education in Europe Paul Downes, 2014-04-29 This book identifies key elements of an international framework to develop systems level change to promote access to education including higher education for socio economically marginalized groups It is based on interviews with senior government officials and senior management in universities non formal education and prisons across 12 countries in Europe The book identifies systemic obstacles to and opportunities for promotion of access to education for socio economically excluded groups that are issues transferable to other countries contexts It adopts a systemic focus on access across a range of domains of education both formal higher education and non formal education as well as prison education Through a focus on a more dynamic structuralist systems framework it develops an innovative post Bronfenbrennerian view of system levels in lifespan developmental and educational psychology It also develops an international agenda for reform in relation to these various system levels for access to education for socio economically marginalized groups through extraction of key structural indicators to evaluate reform progress in a transparent culturally sensitive manner The book identifies current gaps and strengths in policy practice and structures that impact upon access to education including higher education across a range of countries These gaps and strengths are illustrative and are to inform a strategic approach to system level change and development for the promotion of access to education for socio economically marginalized groups in Europe and beyond Too many educational practices entrench social exclusion it is an urgent priority across Europe that social justice policies are implemented for the inclusion of marginalised groups Paul Downes analysis of these issues is timely His conclusions are considered and practical this book is a valuable and constructive resource for practitioners academics and the policy community Professor Alistair Ross Jean Monnet ad Personam Professor of Citizenship Education in Europe Emeritus Professor of Education Institute for Policy Studies in Education London Metropolitan University

The Englishization of Higher Education in Europe Robert Wilkinson, René Gabriels, 2025-10-01 The introduction of English as a medium of instruction EMI has changed higher education enormously in many European countries This development is increasingly encapsulated under the term Englishization that is the increasing dispersion of English as a means of communication in non Anglophone contexts Englishization is not undisputed legal challenges have arisen in several countries Nor is it uniform universities across Europe embrace Englishization but they do so in their own way In this volume authors from 15 European countries present analyses from a range of perspectives coalescing around core concerns the quality of education cultural identity inequality of opportunities and access questions of justice and democracy and internationalization and language policy This book will appeal to researchers in applied linguistics sociolinguistics educational sciences and political science as well as policy makers and people with a concern about the direction of higher education

Non-University Higher Education in Europe James S. Taylor,José Brites Ferreira,Maria de Lourdes Machado,Rui Santiago,2008-06-01

Today a substantial portion of higher education is provided outside of the traditional universities in non university institutions with a multitude of varied characteristics In recent decades higher education systems have been subjected to many changes and reforms throughout the world One of the most important was undoubtedly the expansion of higher education in the second half of the last century from an elite system to one for the masses While institutions of higher learning have been in existence for approximately 1 000 years this exponential growth has been much more recent This movement toward mass higher education has created substantial national impacts on the development of the systems of higher education While common denominators of change and adaptation can be identified globally there remain important differences from country to country There are many factors challenging higher education today and in the foreseeable future In one form or another these issues and trends can be seen in higher education systems throughout the world They include chronic underfunding marketisation and competition alternative providers massification internationalisation governance leadership strategic management accountability accreditation and social relevance Another key factor for many countries especially in Europe and the focus of this book is the current and future status of the higher education systems that differentiate the university and non university sectors

outlined in the preface this book is based on the belief that the only substantial hope of rescue in the present world crisis and the saving of even civilization itself depend upon the degree to which the creative thought that the coming generations may bring is applied to a continued and purposeful reconstruction of the modes of living The world is in need as never before of stronger and more clearly conceived ideals of conscious effort in the service of humanity The salvation of society must be mined out of its own depths Much of this work must be done by those now at school and therefore we are at once led to inquire to what extent the present systems of education provide for conditions that are provocative of free and spontaneous thought In each of the several countries with which the present study is concerned there is a considerable body of men and women who have undertaken a serious and thoughtful campaign of education The pages that follow attempt to give a summary account of the origin and the likelihood of success of these several undertakings
