The Knowledge Economy and Lifelong Learning D.W. Livingstone, David Guile, 2012-09-07 This book presents some of the most trenchant critical analyses of the widespread claims for the recent emergence of a knowledge economy and the attendant need for greater lifelong learning The book contains two sections first general critiques of the limits of current notions of a knowledge economy and required adult learning in terms of historical comparisons socio political construction and current empirical evidence secondly specific challenges to presumed relations between work requirements and learning through case studies in diverse current workplaces that document richer learning processes than knowledge economy advocates intimate Many of the leading authors in the field are represented There are no other books to date that both critically assess the limits of the notion of the knowledge economy and examine closely the relation of workplace restructuring to lifelong learning beyond the confines of formal higher education and related educational policies This reader provides a distinctive overview for future studies of relations between work and learning in contemporary societies beyond caricatures of the knowledge economy The book should be of interest to students following undergraduate or postgraduate courses in most social sciences and education business and labour studies departments as well as to policy makers and the general public concerned about economic change and lifelong learning issues D W Livingstone is Canada Research Chair in Lifelong Learning and Work and Professor Emeritus at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto David Guile is Professor of Education and Work at the Institute of Education University of London

The Learning Society and People with Learning Difficulties Riddell, Sheila, Baron, Stephen, Alastair Wilson, 2001-05-16 This work argues that policy based on human capital premises has produced forms of lifelong learning which exacerbate the marginalization of people with learning disabilities It explores the links between community care education training employment housing and benefits policies The Routledge International Handbook of Lifelong Learning Peter Jarvis, 2009-05-07 As lifelong learning grows in popularity few comprehensive pictures of the phenomenon have emerged This volume is designed to demonstrate precisely what is happening around the world and to do so within a systematic framework showing the complexity of the phenomenon

From Foreign Language Education to Education for Intercultural Citizenship Michael Byram, 2008 This collection of essays analyses the evolution of theory of intercultural competence and its relationship to education for citizenship It does so by analysing the concepts of intercultural competence including the notion of the intercultural speaker by discussing the ways in which language education policy develops and by comparing the theories and purposes of foreign language education and education for citizenship

Faith Schools and Society Jo Cairns, 2011-10-20 Do faith schools have a place in a plural society Which types of school contribute most effectively to a plural society This fascinating monograph seeks to answer these questions and more by exploring the fit between personal spiritual and academic goals in contemporary educational experience and individual school cultures Jo Cairns a well respected authority on faith schools argues that educational ideology in plural societies has to find a way of recognizing and responding to the predicament of pluralism as it is experienced by individuals and communities This provocative and challenging book will undoubtedly stimulate debate among educationists across the world

Educational Restructuring in the Context of Globalization and National Policy Holger Daun, 2002 This study posits that global change is being driven mainly by financial forces new patterns of economic growth and market ideology It then goes on to examine the forces opposing such globalizing processes such as religious and ethnic social movements throughout Africa Asia and Latin America

Fourth International Handbook of Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda, 2024-12-04 This handbook provides a global synthesis of on going research in education and policy change during the last decade It examines discourses of globalisation from the perspectives of the global North and global South Major theories of globalisation and education policy reforms employed in the handbook are classified into two broad categories structuralist and post structuralist The handbook while examining the impact of global trends in different societies cultures and educational settings attempts to synthesise different meta theories of globalisation and their impact on societies and educational systems It discusses the continued interaction of global national and local forces and influences especially the importance of standards and quality driven education reforms the need to overcome inequality of access to quality schools and aims at providing quality education for all students In addition the impact of neo liberal ideology on education is examined in terms of its impact on ongoing standards driven education reforms globally The handbook analyses neo liberalism in education and its focus on increasing global competitiveness accountability efficiency quality standards driven policy reforms and educational stratification The impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms is a strategically significant issue for us all The unifying conceptual framework used in the handbook to critique strategic significance of globalisation is grounded in discourse CDA and critical theory The work offers the latest findings concerning major issues in education and policy directions such as global social and economic inequality neo liberal standard driven education and policy reforms performing schools in the performing culture education for human rights and social justice new perspectives on education for sustainability dominant and effective models of values education in schools and the ubiquitous impact of ICTs on education systems

Tertiary Education in the 21st Century R. Strathdee, 2016-04-30 Challenging the popular opinion that the rising inter personal and inter organizational networks confer advantage to individuals as they secure education resources this book identifies new forms of emerging social exclusions

Education Policy Les Bell, Howard Stevenson, 2006-09-27 The study of educational leadership makes little sense unless it is in relation to who the leaders are how they are leading what is being led and with what effect Based on the premise that learning is at the heart of leadership and that leaders themselves should be learners the Leadership for Learning series explores the connections between educational leadership policy curriculum human resources and accountability Each book in the series approaches its subject matter through a three fold structure of process themes and impact Series Editors Clive Dimmock Mark Brundrett and Les Bell As global pressures focus increasing attention on the outcomes of education policy and on their implications for economic prosperity and social citizenship the experience of each individual learner is decisively shaped by the wider policy environment However there is often an underdeveloped understanding of how education policy is formed what drives it and how it impacts on schools and colleges This book explicitly makes these connections and links them to the wider challenges of educational leadership in a modern context Education Policy is divided into three sections which examine the development of policy at the levels of the nation state and individual institutions the forces that shape policies with emphasis on human capital theory citizenship and social justice and accountability research based case studies highlighting the application of policy in a range of situations The book provides a valuable resource for students practitioners middle managers and educational leaders in all sectors both in the UK and internationally who are engaged on masters and doctoral degrees or undertaking leadership training and preparation programmes Inequity in the Technopolis Joseph Straubhaar,2012-03-15 Over the past few decades Austin Texas has made a concerted effort to develop into a technopolis becoming home to companies such as Dell and numerous start ups in the 1990s It has been a model for other cities across the nation that wish to become high tech centers while still retaining the livability to attract residents Nevertheless this expansion and boom left poorer residents behind many of them African American or Latino despite local and federal efforts to increase lower income and minority access to technology This book was born of a ten year longitudinal study of the digital divide in Austin a study that gradually evolved into a broader inquiry into Austin s history as a segregated city its turn toward becoming a technopolis what the city and various groups did to address the digital divide and how the most disadvantaged groups and individuals were affected by those programs The editors examine the impact of national and statewide digital inclusion programs created in the 1990s as well as what happened when those programs were gradually cut back by conservative administrations after 2000 They also examine how the city of Austin persisted in its own efforts for digital inclusion by working with its public libraries and a number of local nonprofits and the positive impact those programs had Public Policy in a Divided Society Alex McEwen,2018-10-26 First published in 1999 this volume is focused on the framing and implementation of public policy in education in a society with deeply entrenched cultural and political identities as expressed by Protestants and Catholics through their different schooling systems
