In an age when responses to accountability regimes in education range from hysteria to cynicism this volume reframes accountability in narratives of collective participatory responsibility that leave one feeling inspired and ready to act The authors all scholar practitioners speaking from contexts spanning leadership policy literacy indigenous education and diversity explore ways to navigate accountability discourses with wisdom courage and hope Tara Fenwick PhD Head Dept of Educational Studies University of British Columbia In this collection the preoccupation of educational institutions with accountability is critically examined by writers who work in the field They consider the impact of accountability regimes on professional practice and the learning agenda challenge current policies and call for a rethinking of accountability The skills and knowledge associated with this work is what we should hold schools accountable to It is as you see from reading these contributions time for change Stephen Murgatroyd PhD Chief Scout The Innovation Expedition Inc About the Book From their diverse perspectives nine educational practitioners discuss current educational accountability policies and how these affect students educators learning and teaching in a variety of settings from K 12 schools to post secondary institutions and government agencies The authors combine theory research and their day to day experiences to reflect on the challenges posed by realities such as outcomes based curricula high stakes testing standardized reporting and management by objectives By examining current accountability initiatives and their effects in relation to core values of public education such as equity diversity democracy and opportunity this book offers educators a range of insights for thinking about and doing education differently The Accountability Mindset John Tanner, 2021-10-07

Effective accountability systems are surprisingly easy to observe in effective organizations of all kinds Unfortunately for schools those leading the school reform agenda chose to follow a different path one that uses all the right words but that opted for tools and systems that are incapable of achieving any of the policy goals they envision The reason for this can be compared to selecting a jackhammer to do the work of a needle it would be the wrong tool for the job John Tanner has spent well over a decade researching and exploring what a meaningful educational accountability could look like His findings are profound and simple effective organizations of all types follow the same underlying formula when it comes to their organizational accountabilities which is not the accountability schools currently use Furthermore the accountability structure assigned to schools was designed for an entirely different purpose and excellence organizational effectiveness innovation equity and quality are not in that purpose The fact is that the harder schools work within the current system the less likely they are to meet the needs of the students they serve What makes this book and its content accessible to a wide audience is that Tanner takes the voice of a high school principal guiding her team through the process of converting to a True Accountability system That voice is an amalgam of thousands of conversations with and among educators doing the work and as such is intended to make the process both clear and meaningful Newton High is a fictional high school but every dialogue that takes place there has occurred multiple times in real life Finally solving the school accountability conundrum is long overdue With the publication of The Accountability Mindset solving one of the most pressing problems in education is now that much closer to being a reality
