Educational Reform in Europe Richard R. Verdugo, 2014-10-01 Education is a contested terrain The symmetry of education reform among the seven countries examined in this volume is remarkable There is much commonality in the issues they raise in the competing groups battling over education policy their policy choices and the implementation of such policies Also all seven countries address the same issues equity global competition the performance of their students There are at least six important traits characterizing these battles the context the combatants the issues the process and the policies To begin with history culture and governance regime set the context for education policy and reform Second there is the process of how these battles are waged is compromise an outcome or is it a zero sum contest Third there appear to be four groups of combatants each with its own ideology representing a particular social class in society and their views about education and its uses Conservatives Socialists Neo Liberals and Elites Education is an important and valued resource that each status group tries to control and shape to its own views Fourth there are key issues that drive education reform how education can best flatten a social system

how education train students for work and how education socializes students to be functioning citizens In recent years fifth issue has emerged student performance on international standardized tests Not only is a society s international reputation based on their students performance but nations see such performance as an indicator of the quality of their educational system and if it is good enough to secure its economic future Finally there are the policies themselves do they reduce or increase inequality who benefits and how The chapters in this volume clearly point out that education reform is not a homogeneous process as some scholars have conjectured Rather education reform involves heated battles over the control of the educational system because education is seen as a key factor in maintaining a society s vision and social structure

The Color of School Reform Jeffrey R. Henig,Richard C. Hula,Marion Orr,Desiree S. Pedescleaux,2001-01-22 Why is it so difficult to design and implement fundamental educational reform in large city schools in spite of broad popular support for change How does the politics of race complicate the challenge of building and sustaining coalitions for improving urban schools These questions have provoked a great deal of theorizing but this is the first book to explore the issues on the basis of extensive solid evidence Here a group of political scientists examines education reform in Atlanta Baltimore Detroit and Washington D C where local governmental authority has passed from white to black leaders The authors show that black administrative control of big city school systems has not translated into broad improvements in the quality of public education within black led cities Race can be crucial however in fostering the broad civic involvement perhaps most needed for school reform In each city examined reform efforts often arise but collapse partly because leaders are unable to craft effective political coalitions that would commit community resources to a concrete policy agenda What undermines the leadership according to the authors is the complex role of race in each city First public authority does not guarantee access to private resources usually still controlled by white economic elites Second local authorities must interact with external actors at the state and national levels who remain predominantly white Finally issues of race divide the African American community itself and often place limits on what leaders can and cannot do Filled with insightful explanations together with recommendations for policy change this book is an important component of the debate now being waged among researchers education activists and the community as a whole

Logics of Socialist Education

Tom G. Griffiths,Zsuzsa Millei,2012-09-14 For some socialism is a potent way of achieving economic political and social transformations in the twenty first century while others find the very term socialism outdated This book engages readers in a discussion about the viability of socialist views on education and identifies the capacity of some socialist ideas to address a range of widely recognized social ills It argues that these pervasive social problems which plague so called developed societies as much as they contribute to the poverty humiliation and lack of prospects in the rest of the world fundamentally challenge us to act In our contemporary world system distancing ourselves from the injustices of others is neither viable nor defensible Rather than waiting for radically new solutions to emerge this book sees the possibility of transformation in the reconfiguration of existing social logics that comprise our modern societies including logics of socialism The book presents case studies that offer a critical examination of education in contemporary socialist contexts as well as reconsidering examples of education under historical socialism In charting these alternatives and retooling past solutions in a nuanced way it sets out compelling evidence that it is possible to think and act in ways that depart from today s dominant educational paradigm It offers contemporary policy makers researchers and practitioners a cogent demonstration of the contemporary utility of educational ideas and solutions associated with socialism A pioneering collection of essays which is central to understanding the historical and contemporary meanings of socialism in the context of neoliberal globalization It is a most timely contribution to agrowing intellectual project that challenges the hegemony of capitalism while re thinking and theorizing alternatives Iveta Silova Associate Professor of Comparative Education Lehigh University Bethlehem PA USA In this significant contribution to recent scholarship the authors use the lens of socialist education to offer an original critique of hegemonic capitalism and present an intellectually rigorous search for alternatives by reconsidering historical socialism and advancing promising educational experiments that challenge the global architecture of education Anders Breidlid Professor of International Education and Development Oslo University College Norway
