Electoral Reform And Minority Representation Local Experiments With Alternative Elections:

Electoral Reform and Minority Representation Shaun Bowler, Todd Donovan, David Brockington, 2003 Questions of minority representation have long plagued the U S voting systems The standard election often leaves political racial or ethnic minorities with little chance of being represented Race conscious districting remains the primary policy tool used for providing representation of racial and ethnic minorities in the United States and it continues to generate tremendous conflict Can alternatives to race conscious single member districts offer benefits that extend beyond simply providing descriptive representations of minorities This study examines one such semi proportional representation election system Cumulative Voting CV For over a decade scores of local U S governments have been elected by Cumulative Voting This provides us with the ability to examine the effects of CV elections over time Moreover the use of CV in the United States allows us to compare politics in places that adopted CV to highly similar places that did not Electoral Reform and Minority Representation shares evidence that CV elections can produce minority representation that matches levels generated with the drawing of race conscious majority minority districting It also offers evidence that the quality of democratic processes in CV communities is in several ways higher than those under districts Given America s growing racial and ethnic diversity and given successful legal challenges that limit the use of race conscious districting Electoral Reform and Minority Representation suggests that Cumulative Voting may be a better way to achieve minority representation in U S politics The Limits of Electoral

Reform Shaun Bowler, Todd Donovan, 2013-03-28 Institutions matter to electoral reform advocates and political scientists both argue that variation in electoral institutions affect how elected officials and citizens behave Change the rules and citizen engagement with politics can be renewed Yet a look at the record of electoral reform reveals a string of disappointments This book examines a variety of reforms including campaign finance direct democracy legislative term limits and changes to the electoral system itself This study finds electoral reforms have limited and in many cases no effects Despite reform advocates claims and contrary to the institutions matter literature findings here suggest there are hard limits to effects of electoral reform The explanations for this are threefold The first is political Reformers exaggerate claims about transformative effects of new electoral rules yet their goal may simply be to maximize their partisan advantage The second is empirical Cross sectional comparative research demonstrates that variation in electoral institutions corresponds with different patterns of political attitudes and behaviour But this method cannot assess what happens when rules are changed Using examples from the US UK New Zealand Australia and elsewhere this book examines attitudes and behaviour across time where rules were changed Results do not match expectations from the institutional literature Third is a point of logic There is an inflated sense of the effects of institutions generally and of electoral institutions in particular Given the larger social and economic forces at play it is unrealistic to expect that changes in electoral arrangements will have substantial effects on political engagement or on how people view politics and politicians Institutional reform is an almost constant part of the political agenda in democratic societies Someone somewhere always has a proposal not just to change the workings of the system but to reform it The book is about how and why such reforms disappoint Comparative Politics is a series for students teachers and researchers of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics Global in scope books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research For more information visit www.ecprnet.eu The Comparative Politics series is edited by Professor David M Farrell School of Politics and International Relations University College Dublin and Kenneth Carty Professor of Political Science University of British Columbia The Oxford Handbook of State and Local Government Donald P. Haider-Markel, 2014-04 The Oxford Handbook of State and Local Government covers the main areas of study in subnational politics by exploring the central contributions to the comparative study of institutions behaviour and policy in the American context Real Choices / New Voices Douglas J. Amy, 2002-09-04 There is a growing realization that many of the problems afflicting American elections can be traced to the electoral system itself in particular to our winner take all approach to electing officials Douglas Amy demonstrates that switching to proportional representation elections the voting system used in most other Western democracies by which officials are elected in large multimember districts according to the proportion of the vote won by their parties would enliven democratic political debate increase voter choice and voter turnout ensure fair representation for third parties and minorities eliminate wasted votes and spoilers and ultimately produce policies that better reflect the public will Looking beyond new voting machines and other quick fixes for our electoral predicament this new edition of Real Choices New Voices offers a timely and imaginative way out of the frustrations of our current system of choosing leaders Redistricting in the New Millennium Peter F. Galderisi, 2005-01-01 The process and politics of redistricting have become more complicated over the years This volume addresses that complication through a series of theoretical historical and case study essays The Oxford Handbook of Public Choice Roger D. Congleton, Bernard Grofman, Stefan Voigt, 2019 The Oxford Handbook of Public Choice provides a comprehensive overview of the research in economics political science law and sociology that has generated considerable insight into the politics of democratic and authoritarian systems as well as the influence of different institutional frameworks on incentives and outcomes The result is an improved understanding of public policy public finance industrial organization and macroeconomics as the combination of political and economic analysis shed light on how various interests compete both within a given rules of the games and at times to change the rules These volumes include analytical surveys syntheses and general overviews of the many subfields of public choice focusing on interesting important and at times contentious issues Throughout the focus is on enhancing understanding how political and economic systems act and interact and how they might be improved Both volumes combine methodological analysis with substantive overviews of key topics This second volume examines constitutional political economy and also various applications including public policy international relations and the study of history as well as methodological and measurement issues Throughout both volumes important analytical concepts and tools are discussed including their application to substantive topics Readers will gain increased understanding of rational choice and its implications for collective action various explanations of voting including economic and expressive the role of taxation and finance in government dynamics how trust and persuasion influence political outcomes and how revolution coups and authoritarianism can be explained by the same set of analytical tools as enhance understanding of the various forms of democracy

Representation and Inequality in Late Nineteenth-Century America Peter H. Argersinger, 2012-10-29 This book examines fierce conflicts over apportionment and gerrymandering in the late nineteenth century Midwest Parties legislatures and courts became embroiled in disruptive struggles that first overturned and then entrenched gerrymanders in American politics The book demonstrates the centrality of apportionment to American politics and critically reveals the ways that political institutions themselves obstructed rather than implemented democratic ideals

Changing How America Votes Todd Donovan, 2017-04-01 Democracy requires conversations about how its practice can be improved This is an enduring theme in American politics and demands for change in how we conduct elections are highly salient today The crisis of the 2000 presidential election generated demands for changes in election rules but the response was muted After 2000 several states adopted photo ID laws and other rules that made it more difficult to vote The 2010 Citizens United decision

heralded in deregulation of campaign finance The Voting Rights Act was weakened by The Court in 2013 More recently the unprecedented presidential election of 2016 generated accusations from the left and right that America's elections were a rigged system of caucuses conventions and campaign finance desperately in need of reforms Changing How America Votes is an edited volume comprised of 15 short substantive chapters on various specific reform topics that examine how electoral democracy in the United States is working and how it might be improved Editor Todd Donovan has written brief introductory and concluding chapters and very brief introductions to the following three thematic sections that divide the readings accordingly Voting and Participation Changing Who Votes Electoral Rules and Systems Changing How We Vote and Changing the Role of Parties and Money In order to facilitate student learning and assist instructors ability to use the book this edited volume reads as a coherent text The contributors many of whom are accomplished scholars or who write frequent blog posts and Op Ed pieces were asked to write as accessibly as possible for an undergraduate audience and address many of the following topics Why is this issue important What would a proposed reform look like What are arguments in favor of the proposal Is there evidence it might make a difference and what difference would it make Beyond the evidence is it the right thing to do List of contributors Joseph Anthony Lonna Rae Atkeson Matt Barreto Brian Brox Barry C Burden Jason S Byers Jamie L Carson Jason P Casellas Kellen Gracey Wendy L Hansen Ron Hayduk Jordan Hsu David C Kimball Vladimir Kogan Martha Kropf Eric McGhee Stephen Nu o Drew Spencer Penrose Rob Richie Gabriel Sanchez Shane P Singh Caroline J Tolbert Hannah Walker Holly Whisman and Kenicia Wright

Discount Voting Michael J. Hanmer, 2009-08-17 In the US there is wide variation from state to state in the institutional arrangements for example registration laws that structure the environment in which citizens decide whether to vote and parties decide whom to mobilize This has important consequences for who gets elected and the policies they enact In this book Michael Hanmer argues that to understand how these institutional arrangements affect outcomes it is necessary to consider the interactions between social and political context and these laws He tests this theory by examining how the factors that influence the adoption of a set of registration laws affect turnout the composition of the electorate and party strategies His multi method research design demonstrates that the effect of registration laws is not as profound as either reformers would hope or previous studies suggest especially when reform is a response to federal legislation He concludes by arguing for a shift in the approach to increasing turnout

More Parties Or No Parties Jack Santucci, 2022 In More Parties or No Parties Jack Santucci traces the origins and performance of proportional representation in US cities the reasons for repeal in all but one case and discusses the implications of this history for current reform movements in US cities and states as well as at the national level Santucci also introduces a new shifting coalitions theory which argues that electoral reform is likely in periods of party system instability Drawing on extensive research in cities with experience of proportional representation Santucci provides a timely and insightful theory of electoral reform with advice for the next generation of reformers

The Australian Electoral System David M. Farrell, Ian

McAllister, 2006 The Australian Electoral System provides the first ever comprehensive study of the design of Australian electoral systems. It focuses on the two electoral systems both preferential that are most closely associated with Australia namely the alternative vote and the single transferable vote. The book covers four main themes. First it traces the origins of Australia's electoral systems explaining how and why Australia ended up with such a relatively unique arrangement. Second it explores the range of variation in the detail of how the various schemes operate variations which can have significant behavioural and electoral consequences. Third it uses aggregate and survey data to systematically analyse the consequences of electoral system design. Fourth it examines voter reaction to these systems both in Australia and also cross nationally.

(Re-)Mobilizing Voters in Britain and the United States Gregory Benedetti, Veronique Molinari, 2021-02-22 This collective work offers a historical approach to the issue of voters mobilisation and through case studies aims to expand the field's research agenda by taking into account less familiar mobilising strategies from various groups or parties both in Britain and the United States. Two different yet complementary approaches are used: one from the top down with political parties, the other from the bottom up with grassroots organisations to analyze how these groups either re-connect citizens with politics or give birth to social movements which durably occupy and change the political landscape of the United States and Britain.

The Politics of Electoral Systems Michael Gallagher, Paul Mitchell, 2005-09-15 Electoral systems matter. They are a crucial link in the chain connecting the preferences of citizens to the policy choices made by governments. They are chosen by political actors and once in existence have political consequences for those actors. They are an important object of study for anyone interested in the political process and in this book we subject them to systematic analysis. In addition to some comparative chapters, the book contains full accounts of the operation of electoral systems in 22 countries: France, the UK, Germany, Italy, Israel, Spain, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, The Netherlands, Ireland, Hungary, Russia, Australia, Canada, India, the USA, Japan, New Zealand, Chile, and South Africa. The book provides detailed analyses of the operation of a diverse set of electoral systems in their national context. Each chapter explains how the electoral system really works in the given country, examining the strategic incentives the system provides to voters, candidates and parties. All country chapters have a common format and structure. Successive sections analyse the institutional context, how each electoral system was chosen historically, how the current electoral system operates, the rules, mechanics and ballot structure, and the political consequences of the current system, the impact on the party system, the internal life of parties and the impact on parliament and government formation. Each country chapter then contains a final section which focuses on the politicization of electoral institutions. In recent years many countries have changed their electoral systems either entirely or in part, so there is a strong focus on the processes of electoral reform both historically and prospectively. The book concentrates on the real world politics as well as the political science of electoral systems. The book will be of interest to those concerned with the practical political business of electoral reform. The book contains a wealth of evidence about the performance of various kinds of proportional representation and of non PR systems This will be invaluable for anyone interested in the question What would be the best electoral system for my country University of Chicago Law Review University of Chicago Law Review,2013-06-28 The University of Chicago Law Review s second issue of 2013 features articles and essays from internationally recognized legal and policy scholars Contents include Article Property Lost in Translation by Abraham Bell Gideon Parchomovsky Article Tiers of Scrutiny in Enumerated Powers Jurisprudence by Aziz Z Huq Article State and Federal Models of the Interaction between Statutes and Unwritten Law by Caleb Nelson Article Our Electoral Exceptionalism by Nicholas O Stephanopoulos Essay Reverse Advisory Opinions by Neal Devins Saikrishna B Prakash Review Essay The Inescapability of Constitutional Theory by Erwin Chemerinsky reviewing a new book by Judge J Harvie Wilkinson III Comment Amongst the Waives Whether Sovereign Immunity for Contractual Damages Is Waived under the Public Vessels Act or the Suits in Admiralty Act by Maria A Lanahan The University of Chicago Law Review first appeared in 1933 thirty one years after the Law School offered its first classes Since then the Law Review has continued to serve as a forum for the expression of ideas of leading professors judges and practitioners as well as student authors and as a training ground for University of Chicago Law School students who serve as its editors and contribute original research Principal articles and essays are authored by internationally recognized legal scholars Quality eBook editions feature active Contents linked footnotes and linked URLs in notes The ^AUnited States and Canada Paul J. Quirk,2019-07-11 This edited volume presents an integrated comparative examination of the political systems of the United States and Canada with special attention to the effects of political institutions and their interaction with political values and other factors in policymaking It explores in particular the differences between the American presidential or separation of powers system and the Canadian parliamentary system It also considers a number of further institutional differences concerning federalism bureaucratic leadership judicial definitions of citizens rights and others New Directions in Campaigns and Elections Stephen K. Medvic,2011-02-26 The ground upon which campaigns and elections are contested has been shifting rapidly in the last decade Radical and ongoing changes to the way elections are administered and campaigns are financed new approaches to polling campaign management and advertising and voter mobilization and recent developments in the organization of political parties and interest groups the operation of the media and the behavior of voters require close examination New Directions in Campaigns and Elections guides students through the tangle of recent developments in real world politics drawing on the insights of innovative scholarship on these topics More than any other aspects of American politics campaigns and elections have been affected in many cases transformed by new communication technologies a recurring theme throughout the volume This tightly organized collection of original contributions raises important normative questions grounds students thinking in cutting edge empirical research and balances applied politics with scholarly insights Like other volumes in the New Directions in American Politics series the focused exploration of the latest developments across a comprehensive range of topics makes this an ideal companion for students eager to understand the rapidly changing political environment of the U S electoral process Democracy in the States Bruce E. Cain, Todd Donovan, Caroline J.

Tolbert, 2011-06-01 Democracy in the States offers a 21st century agenda for election reform in America based on lessons learned in the fifty states Combining accessibility and rigor leading scholars of U S politics and elections examine the impact of reforms intended to increase the integrity fairness and responsiveness of the electoral system While some of these reforms focus on election administration which has been the subject of much controversy since the 2000 presidential election others seek more broadly to increase political participation and improve representation For example Paul Gronke Reed College and his colleagues study the relationship between early voting and turnout Barry Burden University of Wisconsin Madison examines the hurdles that third party candidates must clear to get on the ballot in different states Michael McDonald George Mason University analyzes the leading strategies for redistricting reform And Todd Donovan Western Washington University focuses on how the spread of safe legislative seats affects both representation and participation Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis famously observed that a single courageous state may if its citizens choose serve as a laboratory and try novel social and economic experiments without risk to the rest of the country Nowhere is this function more essential than in the sphere of election reform as this important book shows Smarter Ballots J.S. Maloy, 2019-06-08 This book presents a new democratic theory of election reform using the tradition of political realism to interrogate and synthesize findings from global elections research and voting theory In a world of democratic deficits and uncivil societies political researchers and reformers should prioritize creating smarter ballots before smarter voters Many democracies electoral systems impose a dilemma of disempowerment which traps voters between the twin dangers of vote splitting and lesser evil choices restricting individual expression while degrading systemic accountability The application of innovative conceptual tools to comparative empirical analysis and previous experimental results reveals that ballot structure is crucial but often overlooked in sustaining this dilemma Multi mark ballot structures can resolve the dilemma of disempowerment by allowing voters to rank or grade multiple parties or candidates per contest thereby furnishing democratic citizens with a broader array of options finer tools of expression and stronger powers of accountability Innovative proposals for ranking and grading ballots in both multi winner and single winner contests including referendums are offered to provoke further experimentation and reform a process that may help the cause of democratic elections relevance and survival Ranked Choice Voting James W. Endersby, Michael J. Towle, 2025-02-26 Ranked Choice Voting provides a balanced discussion of an electoral reform operating and up for adoption in many states and localities throughout North America Drawing on numerous examples of recent ranked choice elections the book offers the history and theory behind this election method in an accessible and nonpartisan way Broad ranging even handed and evidence based this authoritative overview of an increasingly popular format for democratic elections in the US will appeal to anyone interested in electoral reform and American democracy more generally
