Urban Mass Transit Robert C. Post, 2006-11-30 This volume in the Greenwood Technographies series covers urban mass transit that is the technologies that allow cities to move large numbers of people around Just a few hundred years ago the size of cities was limited by the time it took people to move from one part of the city to another The development of successive technologies has forever altered the urban landscape From horse drawn omnibuses to subways to current light rail this volume highlights the technological and social struggles that have accompanied urbanization and the need for an efficient and cost effective means of transportation in cities

From Small Town to Downtown Lawrence A. Brough, James H. Graebner, 2004-04-06 The Jewett Car Company was born in the heyday of the electric railway boom in the 1890s The company gained an excellent reputation for its elegant well built wooden cars for street railway companies interurban lines and rapid transit service Cities large and small used Jewett cars including New York Boston Chicago and San Francisco Many Jewett cars found their way to Indiana and many of the interurban lines employed the graceful arch windowed wood interurban that Jewett was famous for Automobile competition and the problems of competing with much larger car builders such as J G Brill and the St Louis Car Company signaled the beginning of the end The company was offered the opportunity to produce munitions for World War I but refused The reason the major source of finance for Jewett was a German nationalist banker from Wheeling West Virginia who refused to have the company do anything to harm Germany As a direct result of that action the Jewett Car Company failed
