Electronic Chronicles Paul Levinson,1992 Digital McLuhan Paul Levinson,2003-09-02 Marshall McLuhan died on the last day of 1980 on the doorstep of the personal computer revolution Yet McLuhan s ideas anticipated a world of media in motion and its impact on our lives on the dawn of the new millennium Paul Levinson examines why McLuhan s theories about media are more important to us today than when they were first written and why the Wired generation is now turning to McLuhan s work to understand the global village in the digital age The Soft Edge Paul Levinson,1998 Explores theories on the evolution of technology the effects that human choice has on this revolution and what s in store in the future

Marshall McLuhan: Theoretical elaborations Gary Genosko,2005 This collection contains key critical essays and assessments of the writings of Canadian communications thinker Marshall McLuhan selected from the voluminous output of the past forty years McLuhan s famous aphorisms and uncanny ability to sense megatrends are once again in circulation across and beyond the disciplines Since his untimely death in 1980 McLuhan s ideas have been rediscovered and redeployed with urgency in the age of information and cybernation Together the three volumes organise and present some forty years of indispensable critical works for readers and researchers of the McLuhan legacy The set includes critical introductions to each section by the editor Forthcoming titles in this series include Walter Benjamin 0 415 32533 1 December 2004 3 vols Theodor Adorno 0 415 30464 4 April 2005 4 vols and Jean Francois Lyotard 0 415 33819 0 2005 3 vols Real Space Paul Levinson,2014-01-21 Is planet earth the end of the line or is space itself the next stop Cyberspace It s incredible taking us to any part of the planet we want to visit But as Paul Levinson shows in his brilliant new book when it comes to transport we re still stuck in the past preferring to take our bodies with us Whether it s trains yachts scooters or pogo sticks we re compelled to keep moving our movements curtailed only by the earth itself In our imaginations however we soar way past the limits of current technology With a lucid but reflective style that takes in everything from robots and science fiction to religion and philosophy Paul Levinson asks why there is a deep seated human desire to know what s out there Why after getting a man on the moon did the US space program develop so slowly In a world where space is constantly repackaged how do we know what real space is Is our desire to get into space natural or a religious craving and is it a modern phenomenon or did our ancestors also dream of escaping the clutches of Mother Earth Jam packed with exciting innovative even revolutionary thinking about our future Realspace is essential reading for everyone who has ever sat at their desk gazed into the distance and imagined boarding a space shuttle Communication Theory Today David J. Cellphone Paul Levinson,2004-04-17 Although the Internet takes us everywhere in cyberspace it usually requires us to be seated behind a desk In contrast the cellphone lets us walk through the world fully connected Cellphone explores the history of mobility in media from books to cameras to transistor radios to laptops and examines the unique impact of a device that sits in a pocket or palm and lets us converse by voice or text The restricting and liberating edge of accessibility transforms restaurants public transport automobiles romance literacy parent child relationships war and indeed all walks of life trivial and profound Like an organic cell that moves evolves combines with other cells and generates the cellphone has become a complex sparkplug of human life JQ.
