Towards Globo

Sapiens Patricia Kelly, 2008-01-01 Global and local studies show that the present growth based approach to development is unsustainable If we are serious about surviving the 21st century we will need graduates who are not simply globally portable or even globally competent but also wise global citizens Globo sapiens This book contributes to what educators need to know do and be in order to support transformative learning The book is based on work with large socially and culturally diverse first year engineering students at an Australian university of technology It shows that reflective journals with appropriate planning and support can be one pillar of a transformative pedagogy which can encourage significant and even transformative attitude change in relation to gender culture and the environment It also offers evidence of improved communication skills and other tangible changes to counter common criticisms that such work is airy fairy and irrelevant The author combines communication theory with critical futures thinking to provide layered understandings of how transformative learning affected students thinking learning and behaviour So the book is both a case study and a detailed response to the personal and professional challenges that educators all over the world will face as they try to guide students in sustainable directions      Transforming the Future Riel Miller, 2018-04-27 People are using the future to search for better ways to achieve sustainability inclusiveness prosperity well being and peace In addition the way the future is understood and used is changing in almost all domains from social science to daily life This book presents the results of significant research undertaken by UNESCO with a number of partners to detect and define the theory and practice of anticipation around the world today It uses the concept of Futures Literacy as a tool to define the understanding of anticipatory systems and processes also known as the Discipline of Anticipation This innovative title explores new topics such as Futures Literacy and the Discipline of Anticipation the evidence collected from over 30 Futures Literacy Laboratories and presented in 14 full case studies the need and opportunity for significant innovation in human decision making systems This book will be of great interest to scholars researchers policy makers and students as well as activists working on sustainability issues and innovation future studies and anticipation studies The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781351047999> has been made available under a Attribution NonCommercial NoDerivs 3.0 IGO CC BY NC ND 3.0 IGO license      A Future for Planning Michael Harris, 2019-04-25 As well as being spatial planning is necessarily also about the future and yet time has been relatively neglected in the academic practice and policy literature on planning Time in particular the need for longer term thinking is critical to responding effectively to a range of pressing societal challenges from climate change to an ageing population poor urban health to sustainable economic development This makes the relative neglect of time not only a matter of theoretical importance but also increasing practical and political significance A Future for Planning is an accessible wide ranging book that considers how planning practice and policy have been constrained by short termism as well as by a familiar lack of spatial thinking in policy in response to major social economic and environmental challenges It suggests that failures in planning often represent failures to anticipate and shape the future which go well beyond planning systems and practices rather our failure to plan for the longer term relates to wider issues in policy making and governance This book traces the rise and fall of long term planning over the past 80 years or so but also sets out how planning can take responsibility for twenty first century challenges It provides examples of successes and failures of longer term planning from around the world In short the book argues that we need to put time back into planning and develop forms of planning which serve to promote the sustainability and wellbeing of future generations
