Inside the BBC and CNN Lucy

Küng-Shankleman, 2012-11-12 Inside the BBC and CNN provides a unique insight into two of the world's best known media organisations during a period of great change and new challenges. The BBC and CNN have very different histories, remits and identities but both must now compete to provide news in a media environment being reshaped by increasing competition, globalisation, digitisation and convergence. In addition, they face increasing pressures of criticism focussed on the struggle for ratings and the perceived dumbing down of programming. Drawing on intensive research carried out among senior managers in both organisations, Lucy Küng Shankleman's study explores the beliefs and attitudes that shape management priorities and broadcasting policy. More controversially, it examines how each organisation's distinct cultural beliefs about broadcasting's fundamental purpose, about the nature of competition and about the relationship between competition and quality have laid the foundations for their current and past success but could now threaten to limit their ability to respond to the unprecedented changes underway in the world's media landscape.

Fuzzy Monsters Chris Horrie, 1994 The BBC

David Hendy, 2022-03-29 The first in-depth history of the iconic radio and TV network that has shaped our past and present. Doctor Who, tennis from Wimbledon, the Beatles and the Stones, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth and the funeral of Diana, Princess of Wales: for one hundred years the British Broadcasting Corporation has been the preeminent broadcaster in the UK and around the world, a constant source of information, comfort and entertainment through both war and peace, feast and famine. The BBC has broadcast to over two hundred countries and in more than forty languages. Its history is a broad cultural panorama of the twentieth century itself, often although not always delivered in a mellifluous Oxford accent. With special access to the BBC's archives, historian David Hendy presents a dazzling portrait of a unique institution whose cultural influence is greater than any other media organization. Mixing politics, espionage, the arts, social change and everyday life, The BBC is a vivid social history of the organization that has provided both background commentary and screen-grabbing headlines woven so deeply into the culture and politics of the past century that almost none of us has been left untouched by it.

Life On Air, 2008-09-25 Radio Four has been described as the greatest broadcasting channel in the world, the heartbeat of the BBC, a cultural icon of Britishness and the voice of Middle England. Defined by its rich mix encompassing everything from journalism and drama to comedy quizzes and short stories, its programmes such as Today, The Archers, Woman's Hour, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy, Gardeners' Question Time and The Shipping Forecast have been part of British life for decades. Others, less successful, have caused offence and prompted derision. Born as it was in the Swinging Sixties, Radio Four's central challenge has been to change with the times while trying not to lose faith with those who see it as a standard bearer for quality, authoritativeness or simply old-fashioned BBC values. In this first major behind-the-scenes account of the station's history, David Hendy, a former producer for Radio Four, draws on privileged access to the BBC's own archives and new interviews with key personnel to illuminate the arguments and controversies behind the creation of some of its most popular programmes He reveals the station's struggle to justify itself in a television age favouring clear branding and tightly targeted audiences with bitter disputes between the BBC and its fiercely loyal listeners The story of these struggles is about more than the survival of one radio network Radio Four has been a lightning rod for all sorts of wider social anxieties over the past forty years A kaleidoscopic view of the changing nature of the BBC the book provides a gripping insight into the very nature of British life and culture in the last decades of the twentieth century

The Classic Serial on Television and Radio

much of the history of the twentieth century From early documentary recordings to the ground breaking war reporting of Ed Murrow and Richard Dimbleby to the sophisticated commentaries of Alistair Cooke and reporters such as Fergal Keane International Radio Journalism explores the way radio has covered the most important stories this century and the way in which it continues to document events in Britain America Europe and many other countries around the world International Radio Journalism is both a theoretical textbook and a practical guide for students of radio journalism reporters editors and producers The book details training and professional standards in writing presentation technology editorial ethics and media law in America Britain Australia and other English speaking countries and examines the major public sector broadcast networks such as the BBC CBC NPR and ABC as well as the work of commercial and small public radio stations Timothy Crook investigates the way in which news reporting has been influenced by governments and media conglomerates and identifies an undercurrent of racial and sexual discrimination throughout the history of radio news There are chapters on media law for broadcast journalists the implications of multi media and new technologies digital applications in radio news and glossaries which cover the skills of voice presentation writing radio news and broadcast vocabulary Power Without Responsibility James Curran, Jean Seaton, 2003-12-16 Widely regarded as the standard book on the British Media this authoritative introduction to the history sociology theory and politics of media and communications studies has been substantially revised and updated to bring it up to date with developments in the media industry Its three new chapters describe the battle for the soul of the internet the impact of the internet on society and the rise of new media in Britain In addition it examines the recuperation of the BBC how international and European regulation is changing the British media and why Britain has the least trusted press in Europe All in the Best Possible Taste Tom Bromley, 2010-08-19 Television past as LP Hartley might have once said is another country And in the early 1980s it certainly was a different beast There were still only three channels to watch the evening's programmes finished with the playing of the national anthem and the biggest prize on TV was not Chris Tarrant's million pounds but a speedboat on Bullseye But as Tom Bromley suggests in this funny and warming memoir all that was about to change The 1980s saw the end of the original golden era of television and the beginnings of TV as we know it today In 1982 Channel 4 became the first new terrestrial channel for almost twenty years and by the end of the decade Rupert Murdoch's Sky Television was vying to become Britain's first multi channel provider The result of all this was that slowly but surely British viewers had more choice than ever before and the cost of this choice was the erosion of television as a shared national event And no one felt this change more deeply than Tom Bromley Television played a large part in Tom's childhood His first word was two as in BBC Two and his earliest childhood memory is seeing Johnny Ball at a church fete With great humour and affection Tom Bromley tells the story of a childhood spent with his three siblings and that other all important family member the television set Media Freedom Under the Human Rights Act Helen Fenwick, Gavin Phillipson, 2006 Media Freedom under the Human Rights Act provides the most comprehensive analysis to date of the impact of Article 10 ECHR as received through the Human Rights Act 1998 on the substantive law governing freedom of expression in the media Fully up to date the book provides extensive coverage of crucial recent developments in this field these include the key cases of Ashworth and Punch in the area of contempt the ground breaking privacy decisions in Von Hannover v Germany and Campbell v MGN full consideration of theoretical approaches to explicit speech and blasphemy including a detailed critique of Strasbourg case law in the area detailed discussion of the new offence of incitement to religious hatred the new scheme for content regulation of broadcasting under the Communications Act 2003 in the light of Prolife Alliance a full survey of recent domestic and Strasbourg caselaw in the areas of copyright and political defamation and analysis of the early impact of the Freedom of Information Act The authors both leading academics in the field have drawn on significant comparative decisions to formulate a coherent and provocative critique of the relationship between media law and freedom of expression and suggested principles which make a significant contribution to the legal discourse surrounding media freedom in the Human Rights Act era The result is a book which provides a scholarly and theoretically informed analysis of this very topical subject of interest to those studying at all levels and practising in this area of law
