Gangland The Case Of Bentley And Craig:

Gangland Francis Selwyn, 1988-01-01 Gangland Francis Selwyn, 2025-03-03 On the evening of 2nd November 1952 a shot fired from a makeshift weapon on a warehouse roof in Croydon killed PC Sidney Miles. Next morning the newspaper headlines proclaimed a Chicago gun battle in London: gangsters machine gunning armed police over the rooftops. But the trial of Bentley and Craig affronted common sense and alienated a generation raised in the post-war suburbia of cinemas, coffee bars and drab streets. How could Derek Bentley, nineteen and with learning difficulties, be hanged for a murder committed a quarter of an hour after he was arrested? Lord Chief Justice Goddard and the Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe found a way. The nation was split into those determined to teach young thugs a lesson and those dismayed by an act of judicial murder. The execution of Bentley, wrote Kenneth Allsop in Picture Post, caused an emotional upset in England comparable only to Dunkirk and the death of George VI. Originally published in 1988, Gangland evokes the high drama of those weeks in the autumn of 1952. The moral authoritarianism of the Churchill government was backed by Lord Goddard's zeal for hanging and flogging, by women's groups demanding tougher sentences and corporal punishment, by a popular press which portrayed society under threat from 'cosh boys' and teenage gunmen, flick knives and horror comics violence on the cinema screen and the printed page. Against this, the demonstrators packed Whitehall, chanting 'Bentley must not die'. Others pointed out that violent crime was falling rather than rising. Bentley went to his death and thereby perhaps did more to discredit capital punishment than anyone. The facts of the case, including hysteria over sex and violence in the media and the clamour over rising crime which helped to ensure his execution, have a relevance to all periods of history, not least our own. Politics of The Rope Neville Twitchell, 2012-10-15 This illuminating, broad-based political and cultural study presents the definitive account of the campaign to abolish capital punishment in the period 1955-69. It comprises a work of contemporary history exploring the theme from a number of angles, both pro and contra, which have not been covered so extensively before. From the sphere of governmental and parliamentary politics to the relevant pressure groups, to the role of the mass media, to the significance of the different churches and the influence of professional bodies such as those representing the police and prison officers, the book skilfully identifies their interaction with one another. It examines the effect on the campaign of fluctuations in public opinion and of controversial murder cases such as those of Timothy Evans, Derek Bentley, Ruth Ellis and James Hanratty, which in turn often informed the state of public opinion. The work sets the campaign in the context of the social and cultural ferment of the era, the advent of the permissive society, and contrasts the fortunes of the movement with those of other conscience issues such as the legalisation of abortion, homosexual law reform, divorce liberalisation and the abolition of theatre censorship. It seeks to account for the success of the campaign within a relatively short time span in the face of intense public antipathy and a concerted effort by various elements of the establishment to thwart its fulfilment. It asks why the campaign succeeded when so many others, facing lesser institutional obstacles, failed, and it asks why it

succeeded when it did and in the way it did and considers whether the success of the campaign can be accounted for by the Zeitgeist On one level it is a study of the politics of social reform but at a deeper level it is a study of the way in which social trends feed through into political action at the parliamentary level and illustrates the process of policy formation in the area of private members legislation and free votes where the party has voluntarily taken a back seat Adventures in Criminology Sir Leon Radzinowicz, 2002-03-11 Sir Leon Radzinowicz is one of the key figures in the development of criminology in the twentieth century This account of the development of criminology intertwines his personal narrative as a criminologist with the progression of criminology itself His experience gained from a career which has spanned 70 years since the 1920s offers a profound overview of how the understanding of crime and criminals of criminal justice systems and penology has changed and of the tensions and dilemmas these pose for democratic societies An East End Legacy Colin Holmes, Anne J Kershen, 2017-08-15 An East End Legacy is a memorial volume for William J Fishman whose seminal works on the East End of London in the late nineteenth century have served as a vital starting point for much of the later work on the various complex web of relations in that quarter of the capital A variety of leading scholars utilise the insight of Fishman's work to present a wide range of insights into the historical characters and events of the East End The book's themes include local politics anti alienism anti-Semitism and war and culture and society In pursuing these topics the volume examines in great depth the social political religious and cultural changes that have taken place in the area over the past 120 years many of which remain both significant and relevant In addition it illustrates East London's links with other parts of the world including Europe and America and those territories beyond the oceans This book will prove valuable reading for researchers and readers interested in Victorian and twentieth century British history politics and culture The New Policing Eugene McLaughlin, 2007 The New Policing provides a comprehensive introduction to the critical issues confronting policing today It incorporates an overview of traditional approaches to the study of the police with a discussion of current perspectives The book goes on to examine key themes including the core purpose of contemporary policework the reconfiguration of police culture organizational issues and dilemmas currently confronting the police the managerial reforms and professional innovations that have been implemented in recent years and the future of policing security and crime control In offering this discussion of the nature and role of the police The New Policing illustrates the need to re-examine and re-think the theoretical perspectives that have constituted policing studies Examining evidence from the UK the USA and other western societies the book promotes and enables an understanding of the cultural and symbolic significance of policing in society Failed Justice M J Trow, 2025-03-30 Uncovers the wrongful conviction of Derek Bentley revealing new evidence that challenges his unjust execution in 1953 On 2 November 1952 two teenagers Derek Bentley and Christopher Craig tried to break into a warehouse in Croydon Surrey The police were called and in the minutes that followed Craig wounded one policeman and shot another dead At 16 Craig was too young to hang but Bentley at 19 was not Even though he had not fired a shot or carried a gun and was under arrest at the time PC Sidney Miles died Bentley was deemed to be guilty of murder The law of joint felonious enterprise was unjust and Bentley had an IQ of 66 the national average is 100 Even so he was hanged at Wandsworth in February 1953 Nearly forty years later PC Claude Pain who was there at the time of the shooting told a different story He was on the warehouse rooftop and saw the whole thing What really hanged Bentley were the words he allegedly used Let him have it Chris And Pain did not hear those words M J Trow s Let Him Have It Chris published in 1990 was based on Pain s new evidence Eight years later the conviction against Bentley was overturned not as a result of police corruption but because of the appallingly partial performance of the trial judge Lord Goddard At the time access to any material relating to the case was denied and only now with the Freedom of Information Act can Pain s testimony be refuted He was not on the roof His original deposition is still in The National Archive This book aims to put the record straight There was indeed a dreadful miscarriage of justice in 1952 one of many before and since and in a way Claude Pain was part of it
