Gangster movies Harry Hossent, 1974 The Gangster Film Ron Wilson, 2014-12-16 This volume examines the gangster film in its historical context with an emphasis on the ways the image of the gangster has adapted and changed as a result of socio cultural circumstances From its origins in Progressive era reforms to its use as an indictment of corporate greed the gangster film has often provided a template for critiquing American ideas and values concerning individualism success and business acumen The gangster genre has also been useful in critically examining race and ethnicity in American culture in terms of otherness Films studied include Musketeers of Pig Alley 1912 The Racket 1928 The Captive City 1952 The Godfather Part Two 1974 Goodfellas 1990 and Killing Them Softly 2012 The Movie Treasury Gangster Movies Harry Hossent, 1974 Gangsters and Hoodlums Raymond Lee, B. C. Van Hecke, 1971 Hoodlum Movies Peter Stanfield, 2018-07-13 From The Wild Angels in 1966 until its conclusion in 1972 the cycle of outlaw motorcycle films contained forty odd formulaic examples All but one were made by independent companies that specialized in producing exploitation movies for drive ins neighborhood theaters and rundown inner city theaters Despised by critics but welcomed by exhibitors denied first run films these cheaply and quickly produced movies were made to appeal to audiences of mobile youths The films are repetitive formulaic and eminently forgettable but there is a story to tell about all of the above and it is one worth hearing Hoodlum Movies is not only about the films its focus is on why and how these films were made who they were made for and how the cycle developed through the second half of the 1960s and came to a shuddering halt in 1972

Ultimate Book of Gangster Movies George Anastasia, Glen Macnow, 2011-09-27 The gangster movie is one of the most popular genres in film From the Italian Irish and Russian families in America to similarly sinister groups in Europe Japan and beyond the cinema has never shied away from portraying the evil exploits of these brutal outfits In this highly entertaining and informative book two accomplished and apropos authors put the genre in perspective like no other author or documentarian has done before The Ultimate Book of Gangster Movies provides extensive reviews of the Top 100 gangster films of all time including sidebars like Reality Check Hit and Miss I Know That Guy Body Count and other fun and informative features Also included are over a dozen stand alone chapters such as Sleeper Hits Fugazi Flops Guilty Pleasures Lost Treasures Q A Interviews with top actors and directors including Chazz Palinteri Michael Madsen Joe Mantegna and more plus over 50 compelling photographs Foreword by Joe Pistone the FBI agent and mob infiltrator who wrote the bestselling book and acclaimed movie Donnie Brasco Punishment in Popular Culture Charles J. Ogletree, Jr., Austin Sarat, 2015-06-05 The way a society punishes demonstrates its commitment to standards of judgment and justice its distinctive views of blame and responsibility and its particular way of responding to evil Punishment in Popular Culture examines the cultural presuppositions that undergird America's distinctive approach to punishment and analyzes punishment as a set of images a spectacle of condemnation It recognizes that the semiotics of punishment is all around us not just in the architecture of the prison or the speech made by a judge as she sends someone to the penal colony but in both high and popular culture iconography in novels television and film This book brings together distinguished scholars of punishment and experts in media studies in an unusual juxtaposition of disciplines and perspectives Americans continue to lock up more people for longer periods of time than most other nations to use the death penalty and to racialize punishment in remarkable ways How are these facts of American penal life reflected in the portraits of punishment that Americans regularly encounter on television and in film What are the conventions of genre which help to familiarize those portraits and connect them to broader political and cultural themes Do television and film help to undermine punishment's moral claims And how are developments in the boarder political economy reflected in the ways punishment appears in mass culture Finally how are images of punishment received by their audiences It is to these questions that Punishment in Popular Culture is addressed

The Gangster Film Reader Alain Silver,James Ursini,2007-02 In the 1930s the gangster film in the United States coincided with a very real and very sensational gangsterism at large in American society Little Caesar 1931 The Public Enemy 1931 and Scarface 1932 borrowed liberally from the newspapers and books of the era With the release of just these three motion pictures in barely more than a year's time Hollywood quintessentially defined the genre The characters the situations and the icons from fast cars and tommy guns to fancy fedoras and fancier molls established the audience expectations associated with the gangster film that remain in force to this day As with their Film Noir Reader series using both reprints of seminal articles and new pieces editors Silver and Ursini have assembled a group of essays that presents an exhaustive overview of this still vital genre Reprints of work by such well known film historians as Robin Wood Andrew Sarris Carlos Clarens Paul Schrader and Stuart Kaminsky explore the evolution of the gangster film through the 1970s and The Godfather Parts 2 and 3 comprise two dozen newer articles most of them written expressly for this volume by Ursini and Silver These case studies and thematic analyses from White Heat to the remake of Scarface to The Sopranos complete the anthology

The Historic Record & AV Collector Quarterly ,1997 Includes separate unnumbered section Historic record sales section Criminal Belief Systems Glenn D. Walters,2002-09-30 Walters integrates information from traditional criminological models and findings from developmental psychology to form a system of five belief systems self view world view past view present view and future view designed to explain crime initiation and maintenance While reviewing belief systems that support crime Walters also offers a model of change through which belief systems incongruent with crime can be constructed He begins with a review of six traditional criminological models each of which is considered to possess sufficient breadth and substance to advance our understanding of crime Information gathered from these major theoretical systems is integrated with research from developmental psychology to create a system of crime congruent belief systems The belief systems along with recent research on attributions outcome expectancies efficacy expectancies values goals and thinking styles are then used to construct a general theory of crime and explain four specific categories of crime violent crime sexual assault white collar crime and drug trafficking Walters concludes with a model of assisted change whereby belief systems incongruent with crime are initiated and maintained with the intent of helping people abandon crime congruent lifestyles This change model revolves around four core elements responsibility confidence meaning community each of which is emphasized in a clinician's interactions with clients seeking to abandon crime congruent lifestyles As Walters maintains belief systems are instrumental in both the development and cessation of crime congruent lifestyles Of particular interest to scholars students researchers and practitioners involved with criminology criminal justice and clinical and correctional psychology

Tough Girls Sherrie A. Inness,2018-01-09 Tough girls are everywhere these days Whether it is Ripley battling a swarm of monsters in the Aliens trilogy or Captain Janeway piloting the starship Voyager through space in the continuing Star Trek saga women strong in both body and mind have become increasingly popular in the films television series advertisements and comic books of recent decades In Tough Girls Sherrie A Inness explores the changing representations of women in all forms of popular media and what those representations suggest about shifting social mores She begins her examination of tough women in American popular culture with three popular television shows of the 1960s and 70s The Avengers Charlie's Angels and The Bionic Woman and continues through such contemporary pieces as a recent ad for Calvin Klein jeans and current television series such as The X files and Xena Warrior Princess Although all these portrayals show women who can take care of themselves in ways that have historically been seen as uniquely male they also variously undercut women's toughness She argues that even some of the strongest depictions of women have perpetuated women's subordinate status using toughness in complicated ways to break or bend gender stereotypes while simultaneously affirming them Also of interest Madcaps Screwballs and Con Women The Female Trickster in American Culture Lori Landay Subject Catalog,

1975 Library of Congress, 1975 Showing and Telling: Film heritage institutes and their performance of public accountability Nico de Klerk, 2019-03-25 Showing and Telling is the first academic work to explore how publicly funded film heritage institutes account for their mandate in their public activities It does that by inspecting and evaluating public presentations and visitor information about these presentations The research was done by juxtaposing two complementary approaches The first is grounded in the author's experience as a collection researcher and curator and makes a case for the richness of archival objects usually ignored for their lack of aesthetic qualities The second is a survey of the public activities of 24 institutes worldwide based on their websites in February 2014 the latter constitutes a unique source This original work uncovers the disconnect between the curatorial activities of these institutes and their missions A central finding is that publicly funded film heritage institutes give their public an inadequate sense of cinema history By and large they offer a mainstream oriented repertoire of presentations overwhelmingly consisting of feature fiction they show a disproportionate amount of recent and new works often through commercial distribution their screenings consist of an unexplained melee of technological formats sometimes substandard and their presentations monotonously frame film as art although their professed aesthetics are mostly of a cinephile nature and rest on received opinion Specific materials early cinema in particular and specialist knowledge both historical and methodological are largely restricted to their network of peer communities Wholesome transfer of full knowledge in word and image to the public is not a major concern Showing and Telling concludes with recommendations for curatorial activities Firstly with a conceptual apparatus that allows a more complete understanding of film heritage and its histories Secondly with a plea for rethinking the institutes gatekeeper function and for developing more varied imaginative and informative public presentations both on site and online that reflect the range of their collections and their histories
