Future Of Theology:

The Future of Theology Miroslav Volf, Carmen Krieg, Thomas Kucharz, 1996 This is a print on demand book and is therefore non returnable Perhaps no other theologian of the second half of this century has shaped theology so profoundly as has Jürgen Moltmann He appeared on the world theological scene with his Theology of Hope 1964 and took most of its capitals by storm His subsequent works have kept him at the forefront of the modern theological enterprise and the power of his vision and the originality of his method have inspired a host of new theologians In terms of fecundity Moltmann's opus remains unmatched among his generation of theologians More than 130 dissertations written so far on his thought most of them in the past decade testify eloquently to its continued attractiveness In honor of Moltmann's 70th birthday twenty six of the world's leading theologians his friends colleagues interlocutors and former students have contributed to this volume on the future of theology Moltmann himself has always sought to be both contemporary and future oriented his theology can be viewed as an exercise not only from the perspective of God's future but also toward a new human future Thus a book on the future of theology takes up an aspect of his theme and his concern Yet this volume also makes a significant contribution to theology in its own right seeking as it does to address the present crisis of theology As Miroslav Volf writes in his introduction On the threshold of the third millennium the presumed queen of sciences has grown old and feeble unable to see that what she thinks is her throne is just an ordinary chair uncertain about what her territories are and confused about how to rule in the realms she thinks are hers seeking advice from a quarrelsome chorus of counselors each of whom thinks himself the king and ending up with a divided even schizophrenic mind The essays in this volume attempt to revitalize theology as it confronts a difficult future Despite the formidable obstacles that threaten the very survival of theology in the next century religious and cultural plurality the marginalization of theology in public discourse increasing abstraction in the practice of theology pressing issues of gender race poverty and ecology the seemingly archaic voice of theology in post Christian societies the contributors to this volume all believe in the future of theology as a vibrant discipline The Future of Theology is organized in three parts Challenges deals with the external or internal problems that theology is facing Perspectives offers proposals on how to meet the challenges Themes concentrates on various issues that need special attention today Together these essays succeed in setting the theological agenda for the future of theology and thereby serve as a fitting tribute to this volume's esteemed honoree Contributors Stanley Hauerwas Elisabeth Moltmann-Wendel John B Cobb Jr James H Cone D Lyle Dabney Ingolf U Dalferth Gustavo Guti rrez Douglas John Hall Ellen T Charry M Douglas Meeks Johann Baptist Metz Konrad Raiser Wolfhart Pannenberg Paul Ricoeur John Howard Yoder Dietrich Ritschl Dorothy S Lee Jon Sobrino Elsa Tamez Geoffrey Wainwright Rosemary Radford Ruether Miroslav Volf Michael Welker Nicholas Wolterstorff Catherine Keller Huns K ng Apocalyptic and the Future of Theology Joshua B. Davis, Douglas Harink, 2012-11-07 Ernst Kasemann famously claimed that apocalyptic is the mother of Christian theology J Louis Martyn's radical interpretation of the overarching significance of apocalyptic in Paul's theology has pushed Kasemann's claim further and deeper. Still, despite the recognition that apocalyptic is at the core of New Testament and Pauline theology, modern theology has often dismissed domesticated or demythologized early Christian apocalyptic. A renewed interest in taking apocalyptic seriously is one of the most exciting developments in recent theology. The essays in this volume, taking their point of departure from the work of Martyn and Kasemann, wrestle critically with the promise and possible peril of the apocalyptic transformation of Christian theology. With original contributions from established scholars including Beverly Gaventa, Stanley Hauerwas, Robert Jenson, Walter Lowe, Joseph Mangina, Christopher Morse, and Fleming Rutledge, as well as younger voices, this volume makes a substantial contribution to the discussion of apocalyptic and theology today. A unique feature of the book is a personal reflection on Ernst Kasemann by J. Louis Martyn himself.

Religion and the Scientific Future Langdon Gilkey, 1981

Theology for the Future Andrew Hollingsworth, 2021-08-19

Wolfhart Pannenberg was one of the most important theologians of the twentieth century, and his work has much to offer contemporary theologians. In this book, the contributors analyze and discuss a component of Pannenberg's theology with an eye to demonstrating its enduring promise for contemporary and future theological construction. Topics discussed include Pannenberg's theological method, defense of the historicity of Jesus' resurrection, doctrine of God, doctrine of the Trinity, theory of time, doctrine of creation, doctrine of salvation, and public theology.

God-- the World's Future Ted Peters, 2015

God: The World's Future has been a proven and comprehensive textbook in systematic theology for over twenty years. Explicitly crafted to address our postmodern context, Peters explains the whole body of Christian historical doctrine from within a roleptec framework, whereby the gospel is understood as announcing the pre-actualization of the future consummation of all things in Jesus Christ. Peters skillfully deploys this concept not only to organize the various theological areas or loci, but also to rethink doctrines in light of key postmodern challenges from ecumenism, critical historical thinking, contemporary science, and gender and sexuality issues.

The Third Edition is thoroughly revised with updated chapters additional chapters updated annotations and bibliographies and further elaborations in light of recent developments in method and theological reflection This classic text opens up systematic theology in new dimensions retrieving traditional categories and topics for a new generation of students and learners to give a fresh reading of Christian theology and articulation of the liberating message of the gospel of God s grace for the future of the world

The Future of Liberation Theology Ivan Petrella,2017-03-02 The Future of Liberation

Theology envisions a radical new direction for Latin American liberation theology One of a new generation of Latin American theologians Ivan Petrella shows that despite the current dominance of end of history ideology liberation theologians need not abandon their belief that the theological rereading of Christianity must be linked to the development of historical projects models of political and economic organization that would replace an unjust status quo In the absence of historical projects liberation theology currently finds itself unable to move beyond merely talking about liberation toward actually enacting it in society Providing a bold new interpretation of the current state and potential future of liberation theology Ivan Petrella brings together original research on the movement with developments in political theory critical legal theory and political economy to reconstruct liberation theology s understanding of theology democracy and capitalism The result is the recovery of historical projects thus allowing liberation theologians to once again place the reality of liberation and not just the promise at the forefront of their task

The Future of Christian Theology David F. Ford,2011-02-28 The Future of Christian Theology represents a personal manifesto from one of the world s leading theologians exploring the ways Christian theology in the twenty first century has been and can now continue to be both creative and wise Represents an outstanding and engaging account of the task of theology today Offers an insightful description of what makes for discerning and creative theology Written from the perspective of decades of experience and in close dialogue with theologians of other faiths Features a strong interfaith and public theology dimension and a contemporary portrait of the field from the inside A hopeful and illuminating search for wisdom and understanding in the increasingly complex religious and secular world of the twenty first century

The Future of Hope Miroslav Volf,William Henry Katerberg,2004 Over the last three decades a major cultural shift has taken place in the attitudes of Western societies toward the future Modernitybs eclipse by postmodernity is characterized in large part by the loss of hope for a future substantially better than the present Old optimism about human progress has given way to uncertainty and fear In this book scholars from various disciplines theology the social sciences and the humanities explore the move from a bculture of optimismb to a bculture of ambiguity b and they seek to infuse todaybs jaded language of hope with a new vitality The Future of Hope offers a powerful critique of todaybs stifling cultural climate and shows why the vision of hope central to Christian faith must be a basic component of any flourishing society The first section of the book sets the context with telling cultural criticism of modernity The second section focuses on affinities between premodern Christian visions of hope and twentieth century thought The final section of the book examines the relationship between postmodern thought Christian tradition and biblical hope addressing how Christians in a postmodern world can best articulate their faith Written by truly profound thinkers these chapters are diverse in their content methodologies and temperament yet they are united by a deep engagement with both the Christian tradition and the larger cultural and intellectual climate in which we live and work The Future of Hope can thus be read not just as an attempt at retrieval of hope for today but as itself one small act of hope in an age when people too seldom take time to think critically and hopefully Contributors David Billings Robert Paul Doede Kevin L Hughes Paul Edward Hughes Daniel Johnson William Katerberg John Milbank Jurgen Moltmann James K A Smith Miroslav Volf Nicholas Wolterstorff Future Faith Graeme Smith, Andrew Todd, 2024-12-30 Future Faith Public and Practical Theologies for the Contemporary World explores what is needed for theology to survive and thrive in the next generation As well as declining student numbers and pressures on university theology departments churches are increasingly questioning the value of theological study The volume addresses the need for innovative responses to this crisis which re evaluate the place of theological study in the ecclesial academic social and cultural landscape Focusing on the UK it brings together leading scholars in public and practical theology from the academy and the churches Contributors engage in particular with the insights and work of Professor Stephen Pattison It is argued that the future of contemporary theology lies in its ability to contribute to modern life in practical and public ways If theology is to have a future it must be relevant in the workplace in public institutions and in public life The chapters consider the methodological innovations required for theology to have such a future and investigate specific examples of the practical expressions of a future theology in some important contemporary settings Public theology professional life and chaplaincy are the three key areas in which the outward facing nature of theological reflection is explored and developed Future Faith will be of particular interest to scholars and students working in these spheres

The Future of Religion and the Religion of the Future Theodore John Rivers, 2011-11-25 In The Future of Religion and the Religion of the Future Theodore John Rivers explores the changing relationship between technology and religion Rivers draws upon his expertise in the fields of medieval and religious history to discuss how the promotion of Christianity and monasticism in the Middle Ages began a process that has lent religious undertones to the way in which we interact with modern technology Rivers ultimately suggests that the growing presence of technology makes it a likely candidate for the next religious form competing with all the major religions in place today

Jürgen Moltmann and the Work of Hope M. Douglas Meeks, 2018-10-31 These essays reflect on the future of Christian theology in light of the contributions Jürgen Moltmann has made in his prolific career as one of the world's foremost theologians They are not a prediction of what is coming in the future of theology since God's own actions and human history for that matter are not predictable Expressed here is hope for what future theology should take seriously from Moltmann's work Moltmann broke the mold of 19th and 20th century theology by focusing consistently on God's promises of a new heaven and a new earth The result was a theological imagination that is utterly realistic delighting in the creative tension of theology that lives in an unfinished open field of negations and possibilities Hope for the promised future of God casts its light on present sufferings that contradict that future The prominent themes here focus on the contradictions of God's promises and God's justice The essays see clearly the human domination that leads to the oppression of nature the hatred of the poor the dominance of one gender over the other the migration of those who find no home in their homeland and the wounds of neocolonialism For Moltmann these sufferings do not belong simply to ethics but to the heart of theology The doctrines of creation redemption and new creation are fully engaged in the political economic ecological and social problems of this time Here lies the way ecumenism will be reborn in the future The essays argue that theology should not turn aside from Moltmann's main theme of the resurrection of the Crucified One and of the presence of God's future in the present Hope opens our eyes to the work of God's Spirit of Life and the affirmation of eternal life in the present The future of Christian theology should not miss the theme of joy in the face of sin death and evil and the celebration of God's cosmic all inclusive future in which God will be at home in God's creation

Ethics and the Future of Religion W. Royce

Clark,2022-02-03 W Royce Clark observes that humanity appears to be jeopardizing our own future in a chaos of mutual antagonism and hypocrisy Religions have traditionally provided ethical guidance but because their absolutized metaphysics are incompatible with each other we cannot rely on any one of them in a religiously pluralistic culture The ethics of various religions are also built on theocratic or authoritarian foundations which are incompatible with any democratic society Finally many of their premises are very ancient so not relevant or appropriate in our modern scientific world The Western Enlightenment brought challenges against religion's singularity exclusivity heteronomy and anti scientific assumptions all of which disrupted their ethics and the Absolute metaphysical grounds upon which those ethics rested raising the question of whether a freestanding ethic was possible Inasmuch as the primary claim of most religions was regarded as beyond challenge but was a conflation of history and myth modern historical method created more doubt than certainty about such allegedly certain doctrines as Jesus is the Son of God By the end of the 20th century the impossibility of validating such primary Christological claims from a historical approach became evident despite the articulate attempts at credibility in the brilliant works of John Dominic Crossan and Wolfhart Pannenberg which remained unconvincing in important ways Between 1832 and 2014 innovative Christian theologians such as Schleiermacher Hegel Tillich and Scharlemann took a detour from the futility of historical verification This study examines their remarkable attempts at a form of corroboration of the basic Christological claim even if their primary interests were more in Christology than ethics The question Clark takes up here is whether or not these figures have thereby provided a base for a universal ethic or the only answer is for principles freestanding from any religion

The Future of Christian Theology David Ford,2011      A New Conversation Robert Boak Slocum,2018-02-22 In these twenty nine essays Episcopalians consider the tradition and the future of their church its theology its polity its missiology These new conversations come from ministers of every order bishop priest deacon laity and from practiced hands at many ministries education theology music chaplaincy and spiritual direction Several essayists write urgently that the Episcopal Church must change if it is to survive Others contend with equal fervor that American Anglicanism can work if Episcopalians will reclaim and reaffirm their liturgical spiritual and theological heritage Between these views are other writers who suggest that points of supposed opposition might indeed coexist in the church of the future taking vibrant and perhaps paradoxical new forms

Pluralism: The Future of Religion Kenneth Rose,2013-03-28 Theology of religions has defaulted in the last two decades to an epicyclic inclusivism which seeks to undermine pluralism with claims that it is covertly triumphalistic and that it mirrors the logic of exclusivism With the exception of pioneers in the field such as John Hick and Paul Knitter most major figures in this theological field have retreated from pluralism and promote versions of particularism and inclusivism Pluralism The Future of Religion argues for an apophatic pluralism that is motivated by the insight that it is impossible to secure universal assent for changeable bodies of religious teachings This insight implies the non finality and consequent departicularization of all religious teachings and their inclusivistic defenses These conclusions point us inevitably toward pluralism and lead us out of the inclusivistic impasse of contemporary theology in religions

The Future of God Stephen R. Schwalbe,2025-05-30 This book reviews the three Abrahamic faiths Judaism Islam and Christianity to determine how humankind will accommodate God in the future While there are many publications about the future of God or the future of religion they tend to reflect a specific academic field such as theology or sociology This book reviews the future of God reflected in four primary academic fields including theology dealing directly with God and religion sociology addressing how societies evolved with God and religion biology dealing with the scientific evidence of the existence of God and physics addressing God s intelligent design of the universe Then the book analyzes each field s future projections for God in order to determine the most likely future In the end the book discusses a possible future religion based on the academic review of the future of God
