A Dictatorship of Relativism? Jeffrey M. Perl, 2007 In the last homily he gave before becoming Pope Benedict XVI Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger described modern life as ruled by a dictatorship of relativism which does not recognize anything as definitive and whose ultimate goal consists solely of satisfying the desires of one's own ego An eminent scholar familiar with the centuries old debates over relativism Ratzinger chose to oversimplify or even caricature a philosophical approach of great sophistication and antiquity His homily depicts the relativist as someone blown about by every wind of doctrine whereas the relativist sticks firmly to one argument that human knowledge is not absolute Gathering prominent intellectuals from disciplines most relevant to the controversy ethics theology political theory anthropology psychology cultural studies epistemology philosophy of science and classics this special double issue of Common Knowledge contests Ratzinger's denunciation of relativism One essay relates the arguments of Ratzinger to those of two other German scholars the conservative political theorist Ernst Wolfgang Bockenforde and the liberal philosopher and sociologist Jürgen Habermas since all three men assume that social order depends on the existence of doctrinal authority divine or otherwise The contributors here argue for an intellectual and social life free of the desire for an infantilizing authority One proposes that the Christian god is a relativist who prefers limitation and ambiguity another initially in agreement with Ratzinger about the danger relativism poses to faith and morals then argues that this danger is what makes relativism valuable The issue closes with the first English translation of an extract from a book on Catholic Jewish relations by Cardinal Carlo Maria Martini one of the Catholic Church's most progressive figures Contributors David Bloor Daniel Boyarin Mary Baine Campbell Lorraine Daston Arnold I Davidson John Forrester Kenneth J Gergen Simon Goldhill Jeffrey F Hamburger Julia Kristeva Carlo Maria Cardinal Martini Christopher Norris Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger Richard Shusterman Barbara Herrnstein Smith Jeffrey Stout Gianni Vattimo

The First Manned Spaceflight Vladimir Suvorov, Alexander Sabelnikov, 1997 This book is about the early era of the Russian space challenge It is based on the notes of Vladimir Suvorov a distinguished chief documentary cinematographer who eyewitnessed and described in his top secret diary all these events from 1959 to 1969 He and his team made 35 films on the Russian conquest of space He worked closely with the key scientists including Chief Designer Sergey Korolev the President of the Academy of Sciences Mstislav Keldish and other high ranking military officers who were in charge of the Soviet space program Many cosmonauts especially the first ones like Yuri Gagarin German Titov et al became his friends This book is the first close up and personal account of these remarkable events Spacefarers Michael J.

Neufeld, 2013-11-06 The recent 50th anniversaries of the first human spaceflights by the Soviet Union and the United States and the 30th anniversary of the launching of the first U S Space Shuttle mission have again brought to mind the pioneering accomplishments of the first quarter century of humans in space. Historians, political scientists and others have extensively examined the technical, programmatic and political history of human spaceflight from the 1960s to the 1980s but work is only beginning on the social and cultural history of the pioneering era. One rapidly developing area of recent scholarship is the examination of the images of spacefarers in the media, government propaganda and popular culture. How was space travel imagined in the visual media on the cusp of human spaceflights? How were astronauts and cosmonauts represented in official and quasi official media portraits? And how were those images reproduced and transformed by in the imagination of film makers, movie producers, popular writers and novelists? Spacefarers addresses these questions with nine contributions from scholars in the field of aerospace history, Russian and American history and English literature. These essays are preceded by an introduction by the editor who discusses their place in the historiography of spaceflight and social and cultural history. The book will have potential appeal to a wide variety of scholars in history, literature and the social sciences and will include a number of striking visual images.
