Gaining Access:

Gaining Access Martha S. Feldman, Jeannine Bell, Michele Tracy Berger, 2004-09-01 Gaining access is a critical part of doing research not only because one must get in in order to gain information but also because the quality of access affects what information is available to the researcher Despite its importance the literature on qualitative methods has not yet provided an extensive treatment of this issue Gaining Access fills the void by offering useful prescriptive advice on how to successfully enter different field settings for interviewing and observation The detailed methodological guidelines presented by the authors are reinforced in a set of case studies by expert researchers from diverse disciplinary backgrounds on a wide variety of formal and informal settings from working with ethnic minorities in Bosnia to studying prisons sex workers welfare offices and the clergy This book will provide useful ideas to experienced qualitative researchers as well as invaluable advice to novices conducting their first study

Strategic Business Partner Dana Gaines Robinson, James Robinson, 2005-03-01 Research clearly indicates that there is a strong need for the Human Resources HR function and the people in it to adopt a more strategic and business linked approach In one study business executives ranked the HR function as third after sales and customer service as a function that makes a very significant contribution to a company s bottom line Unfortunately research also indicates that few HR functions have become strategic Most still operate in a primarily administrative and tactical manner the very work that is increasingly being outsourced Clearly there is a gap between what business leaders and employees need from their HR departments and what HR is providing HR functions must become more integrated into the business with some people on the HR team assuming the role of Strategic Business Partner SBP Here Dana and Jim Robinson offer guidance for HR Organization Development and Learning professionals who aspire to transform themselves into effective Strategic Business Partners They explain how SBPs build partnerships based upon credibility and trust with key organization leaders These partnerships provide SBPs with opportunities to identify and support projects directly aligned with business goals The success of these projects deepens the SBPs credibility enabling them to be viewed as strategic partners At this higher level of accountability SBPs work with business leaders to form long range business strategies and plans creating and implementing people initiatives that link into and support the business strategies and plans This practical guide offers case studies exercises tips and tools you can use to become a Strategic Business Partner in your organization
