Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Carol Farley Kessler, 1982 Twayne's United States Authors Series, 1970 "Women and the Material Culture of Needlework and Textiles, 1750-1950" Maureen Daly Goggin, 2017-07-05 Rejecting traditional notions of what constitutes art this book brings together essays on a variety of fiber arts to recoup women's artistic practices by redefining what counts as art Although scholars over the last twenty years have turned their attention to fiber arts redefining the conditions practices and products as art there is still much work to be done to deconstruct the stubborn patriarchal art/craft binary With essays on a range of fiber art practices including embroidery knitting crocheting machine stitching rug making weaving and quilting this collection contributes to the ongoing scholarly redefinition of women's relationship to creative activity Focusing on women as producers of cultural products and creators of social value the contributors treat women as active subjects and problematize their material practices and artifacts in the complex world of textiles Each essay also examines the ways in which needlework both performs gender and in turn constructs gender Moreover in concentrating on and theorizing material practices of textiles these essays reorient the study of fiber arts towards a focus on process the making of the object including the conditions under which it was made by whom and for what purpose as a way to rethink the fiber arts as social praxis Books in Series, 1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles The Novel at Work 1870-1920 Stephen Lee Fox, 1992 Journal of American Culture, 1999 Listening to Silences : New Essays in Feminist Criticism Elaine Hedges Professor of English and Director of Women's Studies Towson State University, Austin Shelley Fisher Fishkin Professor of American Studies and English University of Texas, 1994-09-22

be quoted where there is talk of the circumstances in which literature is possible Adrienne Rich author of Diving into the Wreck Subject Catalog, 1981 Library of Congress, 1981 Disarming the Nation Elizabeth Young, 1999-12-15 In a study that will radically shift our understanding of Civil War literature Elizabeth Young shows that American women writers have been profoundly influenced by the Civil War and that in turn their works have contributed powerfully to conceptions of the war and its aftermath Offering fascinating reassessments of works by white writers such as Harriet Beecher Stowe Louisa May Alcott and Margaret Mitchell and African American writers including Elizabeth Keckley Frances Harper and Margaret Walker Young also highlights crucial but lesser known texts such as the memoirs of women who masqueraded as soldiers In each case she explores the interdependence of gender with issues of race sexuality region and nation Combining literary analysis cultural history and feminist theory Disarming the Nation argues that the Civil War functioned in women's writings to connect female bodies with the body politic Women writers used the idea of civil war as a metaphor to represent struggles between and within women including struggles against the cultural prescriptions of civility At the same time these writers also reimagined the nation itself foregrounding women in their visions of America at war and in peace In a substantial afterword Young shows how contemporary black and white women including those who crossdress in Civil War reenactments continue to reshape the meanings of the war in ways startlingly similar to their nineteenth century counterparts Learned witty and accessible Disarming the Nation provides fresh and compelling perspectives on the Civil War women's writing and the many unresolved civil wars within American culture today Women in Dialogue Dilek Direnç, Günseli Sönmez İşçi, 2009-03-26 Women in Dialogue M Uses of Culture results from an international symposium held at Ege University Izmir Turkey in 2006 which brought together scholars from over ten countries and from multiple academic backgrounds who share professional interest in women's studies and to no less degree in current women's realities The book presents a collection of essays united by a common focus on the position of women as objects of cultural production in different geographic national and political contexts as well as the character and typology of women's contribution to cultural activity across the ethnic or religious divide marking the face of contemporary world The volume comprises two sections the first titled Women in Dialogue contains contributions which analyze literary representations of women from a variety of perspectives and from diverse spatial and temporal locations The second part titled M Uses of Culture includes personalized observations by several women writers of both poetry and fiction their commentaries on their own work as artists and their deeply experienced musings on the position of women as artists in the world of today The essays that this volume brings together are varied in subject matter yet they are connected by the common theme epitomized in the metaphor of dialogue as a platform for active productive communication leading on the pages of the book if not elsewhere to learning and mutual understanding America,1984 Writing for Immortality Anne E. Boyd,2010-01-01 Before the Civil War American writers such as Catharine Maria Sedgwick and Harriet Beecher Stowe had established authorship as a respectable profession for women But though they had written some of the most popular and influential novels of the century they accepted the taboo against female writers regarding themselves as educators and businesswomen During and after the Civil War some women writers began to challenge this view seeing themselves as artists writing for themselves and for posterity Writing for Immortality studies the lives and works of four prominent members of the first generation of American women who strived for recognition as serious literary artists Louisa May Alcott Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Elizabeth Stoddard and Constance Fenimore Woolson Combining literary criticism and cultural history Anne E Boyd examines how these authors negotiated the masculine connotation of artist imagining a space for themselves in the literary pantheon Redrawing the boundaries between male and female literary spheres and between American and British literary traditions Boyd shows how these writers rejected the didacticism of the previous generation of women writers and instead drew their inspiration from the most prominent literary writers of their day Emerson James Barrett Browning and Eliot Placing the works and experiences of Alcott Phelps Stoddard and Woolson within contemporary discussions about genius and the American artist Boyd reaches a sobering conclusion Although these women were encouraged by the democratic ideals implicit in such concepts they were equally discouraged by lingering prejudices about their applicability to women American Book Publishing Record ,1983-04 Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library. Voices of the Nation Caroline Field Levander,1998-01-13 Studies the relationship between women s speech and nineteenth century American literary culture The Story of Avis Elizabeth Stuart Phelps,Carol Farley Kessler,1985 Avis is a nineteenth century painter who strives to keep herself free of marriage and entanglements Although Avis declares and her fiance agrees that she must not resign my profession as an artist the reality greets her with their first house Through her life Elizabeth Stuart Phelps describes the struggle of a woman to be wife mother and artist How modern is the modern man and how much do women s roles ever change This book written more than one hundred years ago will still seem very real to many women today Choice Richard K.
