Elizabeth F. Oldfield,2013 Fictions written between 1939 and 2005 by indigenous and white post colonial women writers emerging from an African European cultural experience form the focus of this study Their voyages into the European diasporic space in Africa are important for conveying how African women s literature is situated in relation to colonialism Notwithstanding the centrality of African literature in the new postcolonial literatures in English the accomplishments of the indigenous writer Grace Ogot have been eclipsed by the critical attention given to her male counterparts while Elspeth Huxley Barbara Kimenye and Marjorie Oludhe Macgoye who are of Western cultural provenance but adopt an African perspective are not accommodated by the genre of expatriate literature The present study of both indigenous and white post colonial women s narratives that are common to both categories fills this gap Focused on the representation of gender identity culture and the Other the texts selected are set in Kenya and Uganda and a main concern is with the extent to which they are influenced by setting and intercultural influences The African woman s creation of textuality is at once the expression of female individualities and a transgression of boundaries The particular category of fiction for children as written by Kimenye and Macgoye reveals the configuration of a voice and identity for the female Other and writer which enables a subversive renegotiation of identity in the face of patriarchal traditions Food and Foodways in African

Historicizing Colonial Nostalgia P. Lorcin, 2011-12-15 Comparative study of the writings and strategies of European women in two colonies French Algeria and British Kenya during the twentieth century Its central theme is women s discursive contribution to the construction of colonial nostalgia The Whole Staggering Mystery Sylvia Brownrigg, 2025-04-22 Sylvia Brownrigg s wise intimate and deliciously entertaining memoir Carol Edgarian reconstructs a poignant story of fathers lost and found When Sylvia Brownrigg received a package addressed to her father that had been lost for over fifty years she wanted to deliver it to him before it was too late She did not expect that her father Nick would choose not to open it A few years later she and her brother finally did Nick an absent father was a would be writer and back to the lander who lived off the grid in Northern California Nick s own father Gawen also absent had been a wellborn Englishman who wrote a Bloomsbury like novel about lesbian lovers before moving to Kenya and ultimately dying a mysterious death at age twenty seven Brownrigg was told Gawen had likely died by suicide Reconstructing Gawen s short colorful life from revelations in the package takes her through glamorous 1930s London and staid Pasadena toward the last gasp of the British Empire in Kenya and from there deep into the California redwoods where Nick later carved out a rugged path in the wilderness keeping his English past at bay Vividly weaving together the lives of her father and grandfather through memory and imagination Brownrigg explores issues of sexuality and silences and childhoods fractured by divorce In her uncovering of this lost family she writes movingly of daughterhood and of parenthood gradually making her own story whole British Decolonisation and the Female Middlebrow Novel Anne Wetherilt, 2025-09-01 British Decolonisation and the Female Middlebrow Novel offers the first detailed discussion of middlebrow fiction by women writers who personally witnessed the dismantling of the British Empire the intensification of the Cold War and the domestic tensions following the arrival of thousands of migrants from Britain's former colonies Studying selected novels by Cecilie Leslie Elspeth Huxley Mary McMinnies Han Suyin and Kamala Markandaya this study demonstrates that women's middlebrow writing reveals a much deeper engagement with the politics and economics of decolonisation than is usually ascribed to the genre As Anne Wetherilt argues by transcending the politics of domesticity the female middlebrow registers a critique of both Britain's colonial history and mainstream conceptions of decolonisation as a well managed transition from empire to commonwealth As such the middlebrow novel of the immediate post war decades takes us back to a place where the end of empire was imagined rather than denied and the ambiguities of British colonial politics exposed rather than repressed
