The Five Dynamics of Creative Development Johannes Ziskoven,Ad van Vugt,2020-09-30 The Five Dynamics of Creative Development proposes a framework for exploring and better understanding the complex and beautiful process of development and growth This creative process takes on many forms however always following the structure of underlying dynamics The work is focused on recognising the dynamics and creating the right environment and conditions for growth to occur naturally At its root lies the assumed reality that love is the true force behind positive growth and that every human being has this basic capacity Based on 45 years of experience working in mental health institutions it is written by a young explorer of Art Therapy who will guide you through a journey of positive and playful learning It is a book full of recognition and useful tips for anyone who is personally interested in growth creativity and change as well as for parents therapists teachers and other professionals Ad van Vugt worked in psychiatry for over forty years both clinically and on an out patient basis Early on he came to the conclusion that mere talking was not enough and that the felt experience through creativity was at the basis of change Creative activities would be an important tool to support this change He started developing programmes with the help of colleagues and clients The core question that occupied him was about which dynamics are actually responsible for change and development and which conditions stimulate these dynamics in a natural way He moved away from problem oriented thinking and into development oriented thinking The theory that he developed is described in this book Johannes Ziskoven decided in 2015 to stop his philosophy course and travelled to Spain to assist his father participate in the courses and in return write the book about his father s work For three years he followed him did and assisted in workshops tried out the different creative techniques and had almost daily conversations and interviews with his father The result was this book It is not only a fitting rendering of his father s work but also a clear expression of his own creative process He now studies in the Netherlands to become an art therapist himself rediscovery of the colony's now repentant ancient enemy is not the salvation they hoped for and may have arrived too late. The increasing threat of the monstrous alien Others coupled with fear fueled unrest over a supposed alliance with the beings who forced the colony to rebuild from nothing could all too easily spell their doom. Worse yet it seems that Earth has not forgotten about the colony after all and their intentions are at best unclear. Monster Loyalty Jackie Huba, 2013

Marketing expert Jackie Huba explores Gaga's biography and fan philosophy and isolates the seven lessons any business can learn from her. And while not all businesses want to stand out the way she does any business can win big by creating monster loyalty. Amazon.com Feeding the Monster Rick Tobin, 2005 The book is divided into three parts. Using Mary Shelley's classic tale of horror Frankenstein or the Modern Prometheus as a metaphor I explain why too many Americans are turning into monsters. Too many Americans are becoming self alienated and their children are not succeeding in our schools. I also explain what educators have mistakenly emphasized and tried in order to solve the problem. Part I Making the Monster builds a definition of personal addiction. I argue that addicts teach addiction to others and that a vast population of Americans is deeply involved in an education in addiction. Part I deals with human needs desires and current cultural trends that give birth to addictive personality traits the monster habits that I talk about when I show the Pet Monster to my pupils. These traits breed self doubt and low self esteem. They undermine our relationships and hinder our ability to love and care for ourselves and others. When we can't love ourselves our children learn not to love themselves. They have difficulty adjusting to the demands and responsibilities they face in school. Addiction has become an entrenched cultural phenomenon. I argue that certain cultural trends are creating personal isolation family dysfunction and personal self doubt. We are witnessing a withering of character and moral value. We are seeing a failure of commitment to personal growth. Part II Feeding the Monster shows why more and more American families are becoming codependent to addictive cultural values and how this trend leads to the birth of the monster habits that keep our children from succeeding in school. I also discuss the ways our schools themselves support and nourish addictive tendencies in families and students. I look at the debate surrounding school reform and show how although it is well intentioned it is also misplaced. In Part II we learn why we don't see our mistakes and why both parents and educators have developed blind spots in their vision of education. We're so accustomed to the supermonster of addiction that we just don't see it anymore. This is the true failure of education. We're not admitting that cultural codependency to addiction to the monster even exists. Part III Taming the Monster explains what we can do to save ourselves from slipping farther into monsterhood. I suggest what schools families and communities must do to foster academic success and breathe value and character back into the lives of children and society. I also provide an outline for educational recovery. Only when we take steps to kill the supermonster and free ourselves from monstrous habits will we be able to stop the destruction that the monsters bring the destruction that can end our world.
