Raheja,2011-01-01 In this deeply engaging account Michelle H Raheja offers the first book length study of the Indigenous actors directors and spectators who helped shape Hollywood s representation of Indigenous peoples Since the era of silent films Hollywood movies and visual culture generally have provided the primary representational field on which Indigenous images have been displayed to non Native audiences These films have been highly influential in shaping perceptions of Indigenous peoples as for example a dying race or as inherently unable or unwilling to adapt to change However films with Indigenous plots and subplots also signify at least some degree of Native presence in a culture that largely defines Native peoples as absent or separate Native actors directors and spectators have had a part in creating these cinematic representations and have thus complicated the dominant and usually negative messages about Native peoples that films portray In Reservation Reelism Raheja examines the history of these Native actors directors and spectators reveals their contributions and attempts to create positive representations in film that reflect the complex and vibrant experiences of Native peoples and communities German Romanticism and Its

Romanticism the imagination is the site of the encounter between the subject and its environment this book examines that encounter Dealing with both literary and philosophical texts it argues that the Romantic imagination performs a critique of rationalism In reflecting on the fragmentary the Romantics require the reader to both imagine and to question this as a hermeneutic process As such they understand writing to be an experiment in memory both individual and cultural This book is a study of the writings of E T A Hoffmann Novalis Tieck and also of the utopian project of Romanticism itself

Methodologically it is informed by what Foucault termed the archaeological approach to discourse as well as by psychoanalysis and literary theory Examining points of contact as well of divergence between Kantian epistemology and Romantic nature philosophy it also highlights the correspondences between literature philosophy and science Above all it treats Romanticism as an experiment in the portrayal of ambivalent modern identity The Wounded Storyteller E.
