York, 2021-07-30 The award winning quilter and appliqué designer brings fine art principles to 12 stunning quilts in this surprisingly simple step by step guide. Casey York pushes creative boundaries in the quilting world with her graphic contemporary designs and patterns. In Modern Appliqué Illusions she combines easy quilting methods with the fine art secrets of depth and perspective to create modern quilted optical illusions. Though these sophisticated look like museum pieces they are designed for everyday use. In Modern Appliqué Illusions you will learn to create landscapes that recede into the distance objects that look three dimensional even fish that seem to swim underwater all with easy raw edge appliqué and straight line machine quilting. Hand stitching finishes the appliqué with a clean look that still has a handmade feeling. Punch It: The

Indurkha, 2013-03-09 Many metaphors go beyond pointing to the existing similarities between two objects they create the similarities Such metaphors which have been relegated to the back seat in most of the cognitive science research are the focus of attention in this study which addresses the creation of similarity within an elaborately laid out interactive framework of cognition Starting from the constructivist views of Nelson Goodman and Jean Piaget this framework resolves an apparent paradox in interactionism how can reality not have a mind independent ontology and structure but still manage to constrain the possible worlds a cognitive agent can create in it A comprehensive theory of metaphor is proposed in this framework that explains how metaphors can create similarities and why such metaphors are an invaluable asset to cognition The framework is then applied to related issues of analogical reasoning induction and computational modeling of creative metaphors The Psychology of Line and Color in Dress Mabel Florence Wood, 1923 Extension Circular University of New Hampshire. Agricultural Extension Service, 1928 Making Kantha, Making Home Pika Ghosh, 2020-07-15 In Bengal mothers swaddle their infants and cover their beds in colorful textiles that are passed down through generations They create these kantha from layers of soft recycled fabric strengthened with running stitches and use them as shawls covers and seating mats Making Kantha Making Home explores the social worlds shaped by the Bengali kantha that survive from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries In the first study of colonial period women's embroidery that situates these objects historically and socially Pika Ghosh brings technique and aesthetic choices into discussion with iconography and regional culture Ghosh uses ethnographic and archival research inscriptions and images to locate embroiderers' work within domestic networks and to show how imagery from poetry drama prints and watercolors expresses kantha artists' visual literacy

Affinities with older textile practices include the region's lucrative maritime trade in embroideries with Europe Africa and China This appraisal of individual objects alongside the people and stories behind the objects creation elevates kantha beyond consideration as mere handcraft to recognition as art
