Flight From The Mother Stone:

Flight from the Mother Stone Laurence Lieberman, 2000-01-01 In his newest collection of poetry Laurence Lieberman widens the scope of his previous Caribbean collections by drawing attention to the small enchanting islands of the Grenadines a chain running between Grenada and St Vincent These outposts often frequented by sailors are mainly off the beaten tourist tracks Lieberman's poems bring to life all the overlooked people hidden places and indigenous but rarely seen animals which can be found on these islands These poems are as powerful as voodoo full of energetic narratives in which Lieberman acts as observer while his characters native Caribs and friends guide us through the mystifying world of Guyana and the Caribbean the planting of tree farms local myths and religious sects the daily crises of manual laborers working in the gold and diamond mines and encounters with water and harpy eagles Lieberman's lines are rhythmic and strong voices swirl in and out of his stanzas From Lieberman's own precise observations to his inclusion of Caribbean dialects the language created here is deeply textured and unique The majority of these poems are narrative stories about a culture that is extremely attuned to the richness of its past They remind their readers that no matter how diverse a society becomes it remains irrevocably connected to the land it was born of and the plants and animals that struggle to survive in its midst

You Never Know Don LoCicero, 2003-06-23 You Never Know depicts a world in which every question is an answer and every answer a new question a world where nothing is certain except uncertainty The reader will marvel at the incredible tale of the sweating corpse suffer along with a young man who refuses to accept the fact that it is raining bananas admire the perseverance of the shoemaker who invents a substance that makes heels invisible shudder as voracious rats devour an unfortunate victim alive and marvel as a nude defendant presents his case to a jury LoCicero's satirical philosophical metaphysical romp spares no segment of society the legal medical and theological experts are fair game as are the reader and author themselves LoCicero challenges us to do the most difficult thing of all to think the unthinkable The Chariton Review, 2000 Sticks, Stones & Songs Eleanor Corey, 2015-01-22
