Denmark in the 1870s Coming of age in Europe the Lindhard sisters had aspirations that were restricted by societal norms about what women could and should be and do This is a story of how each of the sisters made a life for themselves marrying and having children becoming single parents at an early age marrying again or not working together providing for their children and making choices that set them on different paths While their lives diverged at various points their commitments to each other and the next generation remained strong The sisters stories illustrate the importance of family and community relationships as support structures for women entrepreneurs who combine family responsibilities with earning a living While they were not heroic in the traditional patriarchal sense of the word the Lindhard sisters were powerful influential members of their families and their community and their lives reveal much about the complex social fabric of early British Columbia and the unsung contributions of women Current History,1927 Reconsidering a Century of Flight Roger D.
