skills based activities for Early Years practitioners to use with children aged 0-5. Each activity features step by step guidance, a list of resources and a detailed explanation of the skills children will learn. Creative, simple and highly effective, this series is a must have for every Early Years setting. _____ Co-regulation is the process when children develop the ability to manage emotions, responses and impulses both in mind and body. Self-regulation through connection with nurturing and reliable caregivers. Children need to understand their own feelings and those of others and learn to regulate their behaviour accordingly. One of the key ways children learn to self-regulate is through co-regulation. With modelling support and nurture, practitioners can learn to co-regulate alongside the children so that they can develop those important skills. This dip in and out guide will help practitioners provide the strongest foundations for children and to give them the best emotional start in life. It provides meaningful and inclusive ideas for co-regulation that can be embedded into everyday practice and be used for a broad range of emotional needs without being tokenistic. These practical and easy-to-use resource ideas are expertly formulated to support and develop children's self-regulation skills.

Staging Technology Craig N. Owens, 2021-01-28

Through an examination of a range of performance works ranging from Jean Cocteau's ballet The Eiffel Tower Wedding Party 1921 to Julie Taymor's monumental production of Spider-Man: Turn Off the Dark 2010 and Mexican playwright Isaac Gomez's La Ruta 2018, Staging Technology asks what becomes visible when we encounter plays, operas and musicals that are themselves about fraught human-machine interfaces. What can theatrical production tell us about the way technology functions as an element of ideology and power in narrative drama? About the limits of the human? Staging Technology bridges the divide between the technical practices of theatre production and critical theoretical approaches to interpreting drama to examine the way dramatic theatre's technologies are shaped by larger historical, ideological and economic forces. At the same time, it examines how those technologies themselves have influenced 20th and 21st century playwrights, composers and librettists' choice of subject matter for staged representation. Examining performance works from the modernist and post-modern European and American canon of drama, opera and performance art, including works by Eugene Ionesco, Samuel Beckett, Heiner Müller, Sophie Treadwell, Harold Pinter, Tristan Tzara, Jean Cocteau, Arthur Miller, Robert Pinsky, John Adams and Alice Goodman, Staging Technology transforms how we think about the interrelationship between theatre practice, performance, narrative, drama and text. In it, Craig N. Owens synthesizes approaches to interpretation and practice from disparate realms, offering insights into overarching ways of making meaning that are illustrated through focused and innovative readings of individual works for the dramatic stage. Staging Technology provides a new and transformative paradigm for thinking about dramatic literature, the practices of representational theatre production and the historical and social contexts they inhabit.
