The Routledge Introduction to Gender and Sexuality in Literature in Canada Linda M. Morra, 2023-01-31 The Routledge Introduction to Gender and Sexuality in Literature in Canada charts the evolution of gender and sexuality as they have been represented and performed in the literatures of Canada for more than three centuries From early colonial texts by Frances Brooke to settler texts by Susanna Moodie and Catherine Parr Traill to more contemporary texts by Jane Rule Alice Munro Joshua Whitehead Ivan Coyote and others this volume will introduce readers to how gender and sexuality have been variably conceived in Canada and the work they perform across multiple genres Calling upon recent currents of gender theory and examining the composition structure and history of selected literary texts that is the literary sediments that have accumulated over centuries readers of this book will explore how those representations shift over time By examining literature in Canada in relation to crucial cultural political and historical contexts readers will better apprehend why that literature has significantly transformed and broadened to address racialized and fluid identities that continue to challenge and disrupt any stable notion of gendered and sexualized identity today

Seeing Red Mark Cronlund Anderson, Carmen L. Robertson, 2011-09-02 The first book to examine the role of Canada's newspapers in perpetuating the myth of Native inferiority Seeing Red is a groundbreaking study of how Canadian English language newspapers have portrayed Aboriginal peoples from 1869 to the present day It assesses a wide range of publications on topics that include the sale of Rupert's Land the signing of Treaty 3 the North West Rebellion and Louis Riel the death of Pauline Johnson the outing of Grey Owl the discussions surrounding Bill C 31 the Banded Elbow standoff at Kenora Ontario and the Oka Crisis The authors uncover overwhelming evidence that the colonial imaginary not only thrives but dominates depictions of Aboriginal peoples in mainstream newspapers The colonial constructs ingrained in the news media perpetuate an imagined Native inferiority that contributes significantly to the marginalization of Indigenous people in Canada That such imagery persists to this day suggests strongly that our country lives in denial failing to live up to its cultural mosaic boosterism      Firing Lines Debbie Marshall, 2017-02-18 Read between the front lines The stories of three Canadian female journalists stationed in England and France during the First World War Europe 1914 18 Mary MacLeod Moore a writer for Saturday Night Magazine covered the war's impact on women from the munitions factories to the kitchens of London's tenements Beatrice Nasmyth a writer for the Vancouver Province managed the successful wartime political campaign of Canadian Roberta MacAdams and attended the Versailles Peace Conference as Premier Arthur Sifton's press secretary Elizabeth Montizambert was in France during the war and witnessed the suffering of its people first hand She was often near the fighting serving as a canteen worker and writing about her experiences for the Montreal Gazette The reportage from these three women presents an insightful moving funny and compelling body of observations of a devastating conflict from underrepresented points of view Firing Lines is based on the letters articles and books they wrote as well as the records of those who knew them The book offers a fresh perspective on a war that touched nearly every Canadian family and changed our sense of ourselves as a nation      Majesty in Canada Colin Coates, 2006-02-04 On the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of Queen Elizabeth's accession to the throne the Centre of Canadian Studies of the University of Edinburgh hosted its annual conference on the theme Majesty in Canada The essays that were presented at that conference reflect the wide ranging recognitions of the different roles that monarchs and their representatives have played in Canada The essays examine how Canadians have understood their ties to royalty and how the regal principle formed an important part of the national identity Royal tours vice regal initiatives representations of the sovereign's power and Canadian appeals to monarchical sentiments comprise the themes of these engaging essays providing an up to date look at the historical and current personal influence of the Crown in Canada      Red Bird, Red Power Tadeusz Lewandowski, 2016-05-26 Red Bird Red Power tells the story of one of the most influential and controversial American Indian activists of the twentieth century Zitkala a 1876 1938 also known as Gertrude Simmons Bonnin was a highly gifted writer editor and musician who dedicated her life to achieving justice for Native peoples Here Tadeusz Lewandowski offers the first full scale biography of the woman whose passionate commitment to improving the lives of her people propelled her to the forefront of Progressive era reform movements Lewandowski draws on a vast array of sources including previously unpublished letters and diaries to recount Zitkala a's unique life journey Her story begins on the Dakota plains where she was born to a Yankton Sioux mother and a white father Zitkala a whose name translates as Red Bird in English left home at age eight to attend a Quaker boarding school eventually working as a teacher at Carlisle Indian Industrial School By her early twenties she was the toast of East Coast literary society Her short stories for the Atlantic Monthly 1900 are to this day the focus of scholarly analysis and debate In collaboration with William F Hanson she wrote the libretto and songs for the innovative Sun Dance Opera 1913 And yet as Lewandowski demonstrates Zitkala a's successes could not fill the void of her lost cultural heritage nor dampen her fury toward the Euro American establishment that had robbed her people of their land

In 1926 she founded the National Council of American Indians with the aim of redressing American Indian grievances Zitkala's complex identity has made her an intriguing if elusive subject for scholars In Lewandowski's sensitive interpretation she emerges as a multifaceted human being whose work entailed constant negotiation In the end Lewandowski argues Zitkala's achievements distinguish her as a forerunner of the Red Power movement and an important agent of change Canadian Books in Print. Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich, 2018-07-30 In the first half of the twentieth century a number of Canadian authors were revealed to have faked the identities that made them famous What is extraordinary about these writers is that they actually became in everyday life characters they had themselves invented Many of their works were simultaneously fictional and autobiographical reflecting the duality of their identities In Literary Impostors Rosmarin Heidenreich tells the intriguing stories both the true and the fabricated versions of six Canadian authors who obliterated their pasts and re-invented themselves Grey Owl was in fact an Englishman named Archie Belaney Will James the cowboy writer from the American West was the Quebec born francophone Ernest Dufault the prairie novelist Frederick Philip Grove turned out to be the German writer and translator Felix Paul Greve Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance Onoto Watanna and Sui Sin Far were the chosen identities of three mixed race writers whose given names were respectively Sylvester Long Winnifred Eaton and Edith Eaton Heidenreich argues that their imposture in some cases not discovered until long after their deaths was not fraudulent in the usual sense these writers forged new identities to become who they felt they really were In an age of proliferating cyber identities and controversial claims to ancestry Literary Impostors raises timely questions involving race migrancy and gender to illustrate the porousness of the line that is often drawn between an author's biography and the fiction he or she produces
