Traditional Ecological Knowledge of Resource Management in Asia Suresh Chand Rai, Prabuddh Kumar Mishra, 2023-01-01

This book highlights the different ways of traditional ecological knowledge (TEK) practices that conserve natural resources sustainably. Traditional ecological knowledge (TEK) along with synonymous or closely related terms like indigenous knowledge and native science originates in the literature on international development and adaptive management. Against the backdrop of unprecedented global degradation and reduction in ecosystem services with impacts on human well being over the last 50 years there is a growing interest in the role of traditional ecological knowledge (TEK) practices and systems of local communities in ensuring the sustainable utilization and management of resources. In this context this book comprehensively analyzes the important aspects of natural resources in Asia. This book covers a detailed study of the different aspects of natural resources. It is divided into three sections which deal with varying dimensions of indigenous ecological knowledge of resource management in Asia The first part reflects upon the concept of traditional ecological knowledge the second part analyzes the systematic documentation of TEK practices and the third part deals with policy for governance This book critically describes and explains the indigenous knowledge about resource management This book is the ideal text for undergraduate postgraduate and research scholars in India and abroad This book is designed in such a manner that it covers all the aspects of natural resources It also helps the administrator and policymakers use indigenous knowledge in resource management

Disaster Risk Reduction and Rural Resilience Sudip Mitra,Rajib Shaw,2024-10-30 Even though frequent disaster losses occur in rural and agricultural areas a substantial number of the prevailing disaster research has focused on urban areas often failing to notice rural populations communities and rural development as a whole It is critical to assess how the needs and vulnerabilities in rural communities impact the creation of resilience especially in countries with a large area under rural regions For disaster managers rural areas present different opportunities and challenges from their urban counterparts Rural communities position after a disaster is different from that of urban communities Efficient DRR disaster risk reduction is the key to sustainable rural development Disasters can cause human and animal life loss field crops stored seeds agricultural equipment materials supply systems e g infrastructure livelihood and associated indigenous knowledge Such impacts have its short term repercussions and affect the long term sustainability of the rural sector Rural regions of the developing world can be remote with high concentrations of mass poverty food insecurity and illiteracy hence access to food shelter and communication related to relief and recovery is a challenge after a disaster In rural areas farmers strongly rely on natural resources and have no alternative source of income or employment making them more vulnerable to a crisis Role of women in rural development and agricultural activities is of paramount importance Yet they are the most affected ones during any disaster Vulnerabilities of children and especially abled people in the rural sector are untouched areas that require more attention in days to come This book deliberates on the aspects as mentioned above related to disaster risk reduction preparedness and management Apart from the introduction the book has four parts 1 Food and Agriculture 2 Water and Sanitation 3 Gender and Social Issues and 4 Technology Overall this book is a valuable resource material for students researchers academia policymakers and development practitioners
