Flood Defence Law:

Flood Defence Law William Howarth, 2002-01-01 This new book provides a new approach to a subject which has become of prominent and widespread public concern recently The combination of unprecedented rainfall and environmental fears about long term climatic change have placed the legal provisions and administrative responsibilities concerning floods and land drainage under new scrutiny The purpose of this book is to examine these issues in a topical context and provide an account of the law which will be of value to those with relevant responsibilities and which is accessible to property owners for whom the operation of the law raises a series of vitally important practical issues Floods, from Defence to Management Jos van Alphen, Eelco van Beek, Marco Taal, 2006-02-16 Floods are natural events but when they impact on human environments they turn into disasters which disrupt society The last decades have seen an alarming increase in the number of major floods and associated damage on every continent The impact is more severe due to population growth and settlement in flood prone areas climate change and disaster Towards Improved Flood Defences Matthijs Kok, Juliette Cortes Arevalo, Martijn Vos, 2022-06-09 Without our dikes and dunes 60% of the Netherlands would flood on a regular basis This area is home to 9 million people The latest report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC February 2022 underlines the importance of reinforcing water safety Sea levels are rising and extreme weather is becoming increasingly common The Flood Protection Programme the largest Dutch water safety operation since the Delta Works will help us minimise the likelihood of flooding New knowledge and innovation are urgently needed The Dutch dikes have stood firm for more than 1 000 years After disasters in 1916 and 1953 storm surge barriers and dams have been added to the network of protective dikes Following the floods in 1993 and 1995 the Room for the River programme was implemented New knowledge of flood risks led to the introduction of new often stricter standards for flood defences in 2017 Funder NWO Domain Applied and Engineering Sciences P15 21 Flood Risk Management in Europe Selina Begum, Marcel J.F. Stive, Jim W. Hall, 2007-06-17 In recent years major floods have occurred across Europe causing serious damages and huge financial implications Flood risk and vulnerability is increasing with increased frequency of occurrence of extreme events due to climate change changes in land use encroachment into floodplains and increasing economic value of assets and businesses Human lives property environment and socio economics are at increasing risk due to flooding Recent alarming events in Central Europe UK and The Netherlands have provided renewed impetus to the development of improved policies and techniques for flood risk management across Europe Sharing of knowledge and understanding of the practical problems dilemmas and challenges will aid in the development and implementation of new technologies and strategies of the challenging issues of flood risk management in Europe This valuable edition brings together 26 peer reviewed articles on technical socio economic environmental and policy aspects of flood risk management These articles contribute to the five sections with the general themes i flood risk management practice ii flood events and impacts iii flood analysis and modelling

iv flood forecasting and v flood risk management policy Some emerging technologies are presented and several future challenges are identified Thus the book Flood Risk Management in Europe Innovation in Policy and Practice with a multi disciplinary combination of articles will form an excellent reference for the engineers scientists planners policy makers researchers insurance industry and all the practitioners involved in flood risk management and its sub disciplines in engineering hydrology environmental studies coastal management economics and public policy Draft Flood and Water Management Bill Great Britain: Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, 2009 This publication contains a consultation paper draft Bill explanatory notes and an impact assessment The proposals in the draft Bill aim to give effect to the Government's response to Sir Michael Pitt's review Learning lessons from the 2007 floods http://archive.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/pittreview/thepittreview/final_report.html and <http://www.defra.gov.uk/enviro/fcd/floods07/Govtresptopitt.pdf> Future water the Government's water strategy for England 2008 Cm 7319 ISBN 9780101731928 and to the flood and water aspects of the Welsh Assembly Government's Environment strategy and Strategic policy position statement on water <http://wales.gov.uk/topics/environmentcountryside> The proposals cover flood and coastal erosion risk management including a strategic overview role for the Environment Agency and provision for a new local authority leadership role in local flood risk management Other policies cover main river mapping co operation and sharing of information sustainable drainage systems Regional Flood Defence Committees implementation of the EU Floods Directive and the Water Framework Directive reservoir safety surface water management plans and hosepipe bans Two major independent reviews are also awaited Martin Cave's review of competition and innovation in water markets and Anna Walker's review of charging and metering for household water and sewerage services Their recommendations will have to be considered and could lead to further legislative proposals in this area

Prevention and Management of Soil Erosion and Torrential Floods Milutinović, Slobodan, Živković, Snežana, 2021-12-31 Soil erosion and torrential floods as destructive processes have serious implications on the economy society and environment The severity of torrential floods lies in their sudden occurrence and high intensity and hence the defense against torrential floods is very complex and demanding Much remains to be discovered about soil erosion and torrential floods prevention management legislation practices and solutions worldwide Thus a better understanding of various prevention and management developments on soil erosion and torrential floods across different contexts is needed to assess their impact on sustainability especially in the changed climate conditions Prevention and Management of Soil Erosion and Torrential Floods investigates the problems of erosion and torrential floods and opportunities for the prevention management and control of these destructive processes It highlights the importance of the prevention and management practices of soil erosion and torrential floods with respect to the exchange of knowledge and best practices Covering topics such as dam maintenance wind erosion and natural disasters it is ideal for environmentalists environmental engineers crisis response specialists policymakers government officials academicians students experts

Flood Issues in Contemporary Water Management J. Marsalek, W. Ed Watt, Evzen Zeman, Friedhelm Sieker, 2012-12-06 In 1997 disastrous flooding running through the Czech Republic Poland Germany took the lives of a great number of people and caused economic damage estimated in tens of billions of dollars Flooding of the Yangtze river in 1998 killed more than 3000 people dislocated 230 million souls and caused direct damage of more than 45 billion Both the general public and the experts are asking what we can learn from these recent events to reduce loss of life and flood damage The 1997 floods were dealt with by experts from the Czech Republic Poland and Germany who presented timely reports on combatting floods both success stories and shortcomings This experience is further extended by reports from experts drawn from 13 other countries developing a broad overview of flood risk management covering the ecosystem approach to flood management including socioeconomic issues flood impacts on water quality human health and natural ecosystems

Legal and Institutional Aspects of Integrated Flood Management Associated Programme on Flood Management, 2006 Floods and law two topics that at first glance do not seem to have many obvious connections Yet the way we deal with floods is partly expressed and governed through laws at various levels of society reaching from the local to the international level The publication contains four case studies from India Japan Serbia and Switzerland to provide policy and law makers as well as flood managers insight into how the issue of floods has been addressed in different legal systems around the world The case studies have been compiled by leading experts from the respective countries and are published in conjunction with a publication that discusses and describes the legal and institutional aspects of integrated flood management Publisher's description

Flood Risk Management: Hazards, Vulnerability and Mitigation Measures Jochen Schanze, Evzen Zeman, Jiri Marsalek, 2007-09-17 Floods are of increasing public concern world wide due to increasing damages and unacceptably high numbers of injuries Previous approaches of flood protection led to limited success especially during recent extreme events Therefore an integrated flood risk management is required which takes into consideration both the hydrometeorological and the societal processes Moreover real effects of risk mitigation measures have to be critically assessed The book draws a comprehensive picture of all these aspects and their interrelations It furthermore provides a lot of detail on earth observation flood hazard modelling climate change flood forecasting modelling vulnerability mitigation measures and the various dimensions of management strategies In addition to local and regional results of science engineering and social science investigations on modelling and management transboundary co operation of large river catchments are of interest Based on this the book is a valuable source of the state of the art in flood risk management but also covers future demands for research and practice in terms of flood issues

Advances in Urban Flood Management Richard Ashley, Stephen Garvin, Erik Pasche, Andreas Vassilopoulos, Chris Zevenbergen, 2007-02-01 One of the effects of global climate change is the increasing variability of extreme flood events and cyclones Current measures to mitigate flood impacts particularly in the urban environment are based on previously planned flood risk intervals and no longer provide sufficient protection Being prepared for unexpected changes and extreme flood events asks for a paradigm shift in current strategies to avoid and manage flood disasters In order to stem the increasing impact of urban floods a major rethink of current planning and flood management policies and practice is required taking into account different spatial and temporal scales This book addresses a broad spectrum of relevant issues in the emerging field of urban flood management It may act as a stimulus for further research and development in urban flood management while informing and engaging stakeholders in the promotion of integrated and cooperative approaches in water management An interdisciplinary approach which will be of interest to all those who are active in water risk and urban management

Broadcasting in Japan Masami Ito,2010-11-01 Japan has developed what is arguably the most sophisticated and the most democratic broadcasting system in the world The Great Kanto Earthquake of 1st September 1923 with its devastation and confusion drove home in its appalling way the importance of being able to broadcast immediate information to the public The same year the Ministry of Communications promptly established an administrative system to regulate broadcasting In less than a decade over one million people were registered listeners Under the post war Constitution of 1946 freedom of speech and all other forms of expression was guaranteed and the subsequent Broadcast Law instituted a dual system of broadcasting with the public service Nippon Hoso Kyokai NHK on the one hand and commercial and private broadcasting organizations on the other In 1978 there were ninety one television broadcasting organizations and fifty one radio broadcasting organizations In this informative study Professor Ito and his team comprehensively describe the staggering growth of broadcasting in Japan from the dawn of radio and television to satellite communication and through to the multiplex broadcasting of the future

Issues and options in flood hazards management.
, Integrated Flood Risk Management Kuniyoshi Takeuchi,2022-10-10 This book tackles the question of how we can manage flood related disaster risks such as from typhoons monsoons and torrential rain which have been intensified by climate change and have generated unprecedented floods landslides and debris flows worldwide It presents recent conceptual developments in disasters risk and resilience and surveys UN policies on environment and development as well as disaster management Sustainable and resilient development requires an integrated approach and human empowerment Japan provides a useful example of effective flood management and disaster recovery in its current strategies for river and basin integrated flood management Very few English language books present up to date Japanese experiences for students and professionals in the context of global trends relevant to a time of climate change and with global application Outlines an integrated approach to flood risk management in the context of UN initiatives Details Japanese good practice developed through culture and the needs of a changing society Integrated Flood Risk Management is ideal for professionals working for environmental agencies hydrologists and engineers as well as students of disaster management and water resources development

Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 2001 Fluvial Hydrosystems G.E. Petts, C. Amoros, 2012-12-06 Fluvial Hydrosystems provides a unified approach to the study of running waters and aims to provide a scientific basis for sustainable management of rivers. It differs from traditional texts in viewing rivers as structured four dimensional systems and integrating ecological and geomorphological approaches to provide a holistic perspective on river dynamics. Advanced students of geomorphology, ecology, environmental science, land use and civil engineering will all benefit from this wide ranging and stimulating textbook.

Flood Risk Management Edmund C. Penning-Rowsell, Matilda Becker, 2019-01-22 Our changing climate and more extreme weather events have dramatically increased the number and severity of floods across the world. Demonstrating the diversity of global flood risk management, FRM this volume covers a range of topics including planning and policy, risk governance and communication, forecasting and warning and economics. Through short case studies the range of international examples from North America, Europe, Asia and Africa provide analysis of FRM efforts, processes and issues from human governance and policy implementation perspectives. Written by an international set of authors, this collection of chapters and case studies will allow the reader to see how floods and flood risk management is experienced in different regions of the world. The way in which institutions manage flood risk is discussed, introducing the notions of realities and social constructions when it comes to risk management. The book will be of great interest to students and professionals of flood, coastal, river and natural hazard management as well as risk analysis and insurance, demonstrating multiple academic frameworks of analysis and their utility and drawbacks when applied to real life FRM contexts.

Flood Resilience of Private Properties Thomas Hartmann, Willemijn van Doorn-Hoekveld, Helena F.M.W. van Rijswijk, Tejo Spit, 2020-12-17 Flood Resilience of Private Properties examines the division and balance of responsibilities between the public and the private when discussing flood resilience of private properties. Flooding is an expensive climate related disaster and a threat to urban life. Continuing development in flood prone zones compound the risks. Protecting all properties to the same standards is ever more challenging. Research has focused on improved planning and adapting publicly owned infrastructure such as streets, evacuation routes and retention ponds. However, damages often happen on private land. To realize a flood resilient city, owners of privately owned residential houses also need to act. Measures such as mobile barriers and backwater valves or avoiding vulnerable uses in basements can make homes more flood resilient. But private owners may be unaware of flooding risks or may lack the means and knowledge to act. Incentives may be insufficient while fragmented or unclear property rights and responsibilities entrench inertia. The challenge is motivating homeowners to take steps. Political and societal systems influence the action citizens are prepared to take and what they expect their governments to do. The responsibility for implementing such measures is shared between the public and the private domain in different degrees in different countries This book will be of great interest to scholars of water law property rights flood risk management and climate adaptation This book was originally published as a special issue of Water International
