Flora's Surprise! Debi Gliori, 2003-03-01 Flora a young rabbit tries to grow a house by planting a brick Flora's Festival William Batchelder Bradbury, 1863 Professional Paper Geological Survey (U.S.), 1936 Fossil Record 4 Robert M. Sullivan, Spencer G. Lucas, 2015 Urban Plants Trevor Dines, 2025-06-05 An illuminating account of urban botany in the British Isles its ecology history and cultural significance The walls pavements lawns parks playing fields verges and waste ground that make up the built environment of Britain and Ireland are home to an extraordinary array of plant species Native and non native species together find ways to endure in often harsh and uncompromising habitats In Urban Plants leading botanist Trevor Dines tells the stories of our urban flowers ferns and conifers how they arrived how they survive and how a select few seize the opportunity to become masters of the streets thriving in the face of constant upheaval and change We learn how our villages towns and cities have changed over time from Roman Britain to reconstruction after World War II and the resulting geographical variation that exists in our flora today such as London Rocket at the Tower of London or the newly evolved York Groundsel recently discovered in a railway station carpark Trevor also looks to the future and the potential impacts of invasive species herbicides and climate change as well as the concept of urban rewilding Illustrated with around 350 colour photographs maps and diagrams as well as text boxes exploring key species and habitats this is a fascinating deep dive into the biology ecology and cultural impact of the plants that set up home alongside us

The Plant Life of China Geoffrey P. Chapman, Yin-Zheng Wang, 2013-06-29 Chinese plant life is estimated to include up to 30 000 species and extends from the Himalayan snow line across a diversity of habitats to the lush tropical south It is embraced by a culture going back more than 3000 years providing plants for medicinal use and some of the most valued horticultural species Although for many years access to Chinese plants was limited the present situation provides an opportunity for a new and authoritative assessment of such botanical treasure houses as Yunnan and Sichuan The present book provides an overview of the subject and is fully referenced and indexed It will be of interest to those working in agriculture alternative medicine plant conservation ecology genetics horticulture molecular biology and taxonomy U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper , 1924 Leaf Defence Edward E. Farmer, 2014-05-01 Leaves are among the most abundant organs on earth and are a defining feature of most terrestrial ecosystems However a leaf is also a potential meal for a hungry animal and the question therefore arises why does so much foliage survive in nature What mechanisms protect leaves so that on a global scale only a relatively small proportion of living leaf material is consumed Leaf survival is in large part due to two processes firstly leaf eating organisms fall prey to predators top down pressure on the herbivore secondly leaves defend themselves bottom up pressure on the herbivore Remarkably these two types of event are often linked they are controlled and coordinated by plants and the molecular mechanisms that underlie this are now beginning to emerge This novel text focuses exclusively on the leaf on the herbivorous organisms that attack leaves and the mechanisms that plants use to defend these vital organs It begins with an assessment of the scale of herbivory before examining direct physical and chemical defences on leaf surfaces and within the leaf itself Although some leaf defences are easily seen most operate at the molecular level and are therefore invisible to the naked eye Many of these recently elucidated mechanisms are described Throughout the book perspectives from both the laboratory and the field are combined A central feature of the work is its emphasis on the coevolution of leaf defences and the digestive tracts of animals including humans making the book of relevance in understanding the role of leaf defences in agriculture Leaf Defence is suitable for senior undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in plant science as well as a broader audience of biologists and biochemists seeking a comprehensive and authoritative overview of this exciting and emerging topic Studies on the Alkalinity of Some Silicate Minerals Rollin E. Old Growth Urban Forests Robert E. Loeb,2011-08-26 Millions of urbanites never see primeval forests during their lives except for the old growth forests found in urban parks Unfortunately these forests are on the verge of disappearing because arboreal reproduction is lost to human trampling and park administrators and urban foresters do not maintain these natural forests To aid urban foresters and park managers in meeting the challenges research on old growth forests in urban parks is synthesized in terms of historical ecology to introduce the methods utilized to reveal long term forest composition changes The case study of three stands in Fairmount Park Philadelphia PA relates pre chestnut blight tree species densities and post chestnut blight arboreal changes to fire and visitor trampling The information gained on how urban old growth forests have developed and changed is used to develop restoration ecology based frameworks to restore species composition and address challenges to forest survival including invasive species Transactions and proceedings of the New Zealand Institute ,1879 Transactions and Proceedings Royal Society of New Zealand,1872

Prothero,2009-07-01 Donald R Prothero s science books combine leading research with first person narratives of discovery injecting warmth and familiarity into a profession that has much to offer nonspecialists Bringing his trademark style and wit to an increasingly relevant subject of concern Prothero links the climate changes that have occurred over the past 200 million years to their effects on plants and animals In particular he contrasts the extinctions that ended the Cretaceous period which wiped out the dinosaurs with those of the later Eocene and Oligocene epochs Prothero begins with the greenhouse of the dinosaurs the global warming episode that dominated the Age of Dinosaurs and the early Age of Mammals He describes the remarkable creatures that once populated the earth and draws on his experiences collecting fossils in the Big Badlands of South Dakota to sketch their world Prothero then discusses the growth of the first Antarctic glaciers which marked the Eocene Oligocene transition and shares his own anecdotes of excavations and controversies among colleagues that have shaped our understanding of the contemporary and prehistoric world The volume concludes with observations about Nisqually Glacier and other locations that show how global warming is happening much quicker than previously predicted irrevocably changing the balance of the earth s thermostat Engaging scientists and general readers alike Greenhouse of the Dinosaurs connects events across thousands of millennia to make clear the human threat to natural climate change Transactions and Proceedings of the New Zealand Institute New Zealand Institute,1879 Includes proceedings of member institutes of the Society and of the Society s Science Congress Historical perspective of early twentieth century Carboniferous paleobotany in North America William Culp Darrah,Paul C,Robert Herman Wagner,1995 Annual Report and Proceedings of the Belfast Naturalists' Field Club Belfast Naturalists' Field Club,1888
