Thorough chapters are devoted to nutrition, weight gain, food safety, the postpartum diet, and how to eat when trying to conceive again. And the book comes with 150 contemporary tasty and healthy recipes that feed mum and baby well, take little time to prepare, and are gentle on queasy tummies. At the heart of the book are hundreds of pressing questions every mother-to-be has: Is it true I shouldn't eat any food cooked with alcohol? Will the caffeine in coffee cross into my baby's bloodstream? I'm entering my second trimester and I'm losing weight, not gaining help. Is all sushi off-limits? How do I get enough calcium if I'm lactose intolerant? I keep dreaming about a hot fudge sundae, can I indulge? The answer is yes.

Assisting Seniors at Home Gretchen Mary Rose, 2020 Most families in need of assistance for senior caregiving have two questions: Can you please help us? How do we go about this? We don't even know where to start. This is the overshadowing climate that exists until a navigational chart is presented. Assisting Seniors at Home: A Planning Guide for Families and Caregivers is designed to harmonize the unique perspectives and roles of the three entities involved: the seniors, the family, and hired caregivers. Each role is described with specific intervention priorities for our aging family members. Within this guide, there are two skill level indicators: one for the general aging population and another for those with dementia. Each provides a clear description of specific needs as changes occur. This is the compass by which all family members may intercede proactively to bring seniors from early intervention to the final stages of hospice care The skill level indicator is the most valuable element as it designates the amount of care needed how to establish a care plan and when to make necessary changes In summary this adds up to effective in home care inclusive of home modifications and safety as a top priority for all involved
