Flowers Of The Pacific Island Seashore:

Flowers of the Pacific Island Seashore W. Arthur Whistler, 1992 The dream of becoming a beachcomber on some distant tropical shore has always held a particular fascination for Westerners To be able to spend one's day relaxing under a tropical sun and walking a palm covered beach bordering a blue lagoon has seemed like the ideal escape from the everyday pressures of the hurried lifestyle of our Western world Ever since its European discovery Polynesia has captivated the imagination of adventurers looking for an island paradise Now with the age of jet travel a visit to the islands is no longer an impossible dream Every year thousands of people fly to the South Pacific to spend their vacation in the tropical sun One of the most remarkable features of Polynesia is the vast array of exotic flowers to be found growing everywhere in profusion For those who are interested in nature the easiest way to identify these exotic species is by using an illustrated book on tropical flowers There are already a number of such books available but most of these deal only with cultivated ornamental plants such as hibiscus frangipani and jasmine These are well suited to those who do not go beyond the confines of their hotel or local tourist attractions But it is for those who seek out nature away from the hotels away from the tourist attractions or even away from civilization that this book is intended Vegetation of the Tropical Pacific Islands Dieter

Mueller-Dombois, F.R. Fosberg, 2013-11-26 Written by the leading authorities on the plant diversity and ecology of the Pacific islands this book is a magisterial synthesis of the vegetation and landscapes of the islands of the Pacific Ocean It is organized by island group and includes information on geography geology phytogeographic relationships and human influences on vegetation Vegetation of the Tropical Pacific Islands features over 400 color photographs plus dozens of maps and climate diagrams The authors efforts in assembling the existing information into an integrated comprehensive book will be welcomed by biogeographers plant ecologists conservation biologists and all scientists with an interest in island biology Coastal Environmental Concern James C. Space, 2002 Sea Level Changes And Their Effects, Ocean And Atmosphere Pacific: Oap 95 John Noye, 2001-01-19 This book contains updated reviewed versions of some selected papers on Sea Level Changes and their Effects presented at the International Ocean and Atmosphere Pacific Conference OAP 95 held in Adelaide South Australia 23-27 October 1995. In addition several reviewed articles on important topics not covered by the papers presented at OAP 95 were invited. The articles in this volume will find an audience among coastal developers, marine biologists and environmentalists. They cover a range of topics including the efforts of long term sea level rise on coastal flows and its impact on mangrove communities, the determination of long term sea level change relative to the vertical motion of the land, to the numerical modelling of short term sea level changes due to tides, tsunamis and the weather. Traditional Trees of Pacific Islands Craig R. Elevitch, 2006 This book is for the person who lives in the tropics or subtropics and is interested in native plants, who wants to know about plants that are useful, who loves to watch plants grow and who is willing to work with them. Such a person might ask questions like: Where will they grow? How do I grow them? Are they good to eat? How are they used? What are their names? These questions and more are answered here. Book jacket Altered Ecologies Simon Haberle, Janelle Stevenson, Matthew Prebble, 2010-11-01 Like a star chart, this volume orientates the reader to the key issues and debates in Pacific and Australasian biogeography, palaeoecology and human ecology. A feature of this collection is the diversity of approaches ranging from interpretation of the biogeographic significance of plant and animal distributional patterns, pollen analysis from peats and lake sediments to discern Quaternary climate change, explanation of the patterns of faunal extinction events, the interplay of fire on landscape evolution and models of the environmental consequences of human settlement patterns. The diversity of approaches, geographic scope and academic rigor are a fitting tribute to the enormous contributions of Geoff Hope. As made apparent in this volume, Hope pioneered multidisciplinary understanding of the history and impacts of human cultures in the Australia-Pacific region, arguably the globe's premier model systems for understanding the consequences of human colonization on ecological systems. The distinguished scholars who have contributed to this volume also demonstrate Hope's enduring contribution as an inspirational research leader, collaborator and mentor.
