Flow Of Gifts Reciprocity Social Netwo:

The Flow of Gifts Yunxiang Yan,1996 In this study the author examines the gift giving and related social activities that pervade daily life in China focusing on routine activities The Gift in the Heart of Language Genevieve

Vaughan,2015-05-15T00:00:00+02:00 Genevieve Vaughan offers a paradigm shifting view of the structure of material and verbal communication based on mother child experience and confirmed by recent research in infant psychology This view justifies a relational epistemology that informs the material gift economy as well as the structure of language itself

Provisioning economies give value to the receivers and the circulation of gifts consolidates community Understanding language as verbal gifting unites other orientation with reason to liberate us from biopathic patriarchal conceptions of humanity Sketched against this background Vaughan introduces a conception of monetized exchange as a gift denying and expropriating psychological mechanism which is an unintended collective by product of verbal communication This view stands as a warning against visions of the future in which the institutions of money and the market can be fixed to be more caring and sanitized business as usual can halt the destruction of Mother Earth Rather a gift economy which takes as its model the mother child interaction the gifting in language and the gifting in mother centered societies provides hope for a positive future Theories of the Gift in South Asia Maria Heim,2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of

Taylor Francis an informa company Sir John Harington and the Book as Gift Jason Scott-Warren,2001 Sir John Harington 1560 1612 has long been recognized as one of the most colourful and engaging figures at the English Renaissance court Godson of Queen Elizabeth translator of Ariosto and inventor of the water closet he was also a lively writer in a wide variety of modes and an acute commentator on his times This study opens a new perspective on Harington s literary production by attending to the fact that almost all of his writings were designed as gifts Combining detailed readings and first hand historical research Jason Scott Warren reconstructs the complex often devious agenda which Harington wrote into his books as he customized them for specific individuals and occasions Offering a wealth of insights into self fashioning and the pursuit of patronage this study makes a persuasive case for the significance of material culture to textual interpretation It will be of interest to all who work on the early modern period and in particular to historians of the book A Feast for the Eyes

Christina Normore,2015-05-01 To read accounts of late medieval banquets is to enter a fantastical world where live lions guard nude statues gilded stags burst into song and musicians play from within pies We can almost hear the clock sound from within a glass castle taste the fire breathing roast boar and smell the rose water cascading in a miniature fountain Such vivid works of art and performance required collaboration among artists in many fields as well as the participation of the audience A Feast for the Eyes is the first book length study of the court banquets of northwestern Europe in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries Christina Normore draws on an array of artworks archival documents chroniclers accounts and cookbooks to re create these events and reassess the late medieval visual culture in which banquets were staged Feast

participants she shows developed sophisticated ways of appreciating artistic skill and attending to their own processes of perception thereby forging a court culture that delighted in the exercise of fine aesthetic judgment Challenging modern assumptions about the nature of artistic production and reception A Feast for the Eyes yields fresh insight into the long history of multimedia work and the complex relationships between spectacle and spectators The Binding Tie Kristina Göransson, 2009-01-01 Since gaining independence in 1965 Singapore has become the most trade intensive economy in the world and the richest country in Southeast Asia This transformation has been accompanied by the emergence of a deep generational divide More complex than simple disparities of education or changes in income and consumption patterns this growing gulf encompasses language religion and social memory The Binding Tie explores how expectations and obligations between generations are being challenged reworked and reaffirmed in the face of far reaching societal change The family remains a pivotal feature of Singaporean society and the primary unit of support The author focuses on the middle generation caught between elderly parents who grew up speaking dialect and their own children who speak English and Mandarin In analyzing the forces that bind these generations together she deploys the idea of an intergenerational contract which serves as a metaphor for customary obligations and expectations She convincingly examines the many different levels at which the contract operates within Singaporean families and offers striking examples of the meaningful ways in which intergenerational support and transactions are performed resisted and renegotiated Her rich material drawn from ethnographic fieldwork among middle class Chinese provides insights into the complex interplay of fragmenting and integrating forces The Binding Tie makes a critical contribution to the study of intergenerational relations in modern rapidly changing societies and conveys a vivid and nuanced picture of the challenges Singaporean families face in today's hypermodern world It will be of interest to researchers and students in a range of fields including anthropology sociology Asian studies demography development studies and family studies From Comrades to Bodhisattvas Gareth Fisher, 2014-08-31 From Comrades to Bodhisattvas is the first book length study of Han Chinese Buddhism in post Mao China Using an ethnographic approach supported by over a decade of field research it provides an intimate portrait of lay Buddhist practitioners in Beijing who have recently embraced a religion that they were once socialized to see as harmful superstition The book focuses on the lively discourses and debates that take place among these new practitioners in an unused courtyard of a Beijing temple In this non monastic space which shrinks each year as the temple authorities expand their commercial activities laypersons gather to distribute and exchange Buddhist themed media listen to the fiery sermons of charismatic preachers and seek solutions to personal moral crises Applying recent theories in the anthropology of morality and ethics Gareth Fisher argues that the practitioners are attracted to the courtyard as a place where they can find ethical resources to re make both themselves and others in a rapidly changing nation that they believe lacks a coherent moral direction Spurred on by the lessons of the preachers and the stories in the media they share these courtyard practitioners inventively combine moral elements from China's recent Maoist past with Buddhist teachings on the workings of karma and the importance of universal compassion. Their aim is to articulate a moral antidote to what they see as blind obsession with consumption and wealth accumulation among twenty-first century Chinese. Often socially marginalized and sidelined from meaningful roles in China's new economy, these former communist comrades look to their new moral roles along a bodhisattva path to rebuild their self-worth. Each chapter focuses on a central trope in the courtyard practitioners' projects to form new moral identities. The Chinese government's restrictions on the spread of religious teachings in urban areas curtail these practitioners' ability to insert their moral visions into an emerging public sphere. Nevertheless, they succeed at least partially. Fisher argues in creating their own discursive space characterized by a morality of concern for fellow humans and animals and a recognition of the organizational abilities and pedagogical talents of its members that are unacknowledged in society at large. Moreover, as the later chapters of the book discuss by writing, copying, and distributing Buddhist-themed materials, the practitioners participate in creating a religious network of fellow Buddhists across the country, thereby forming a counter-cultural community within contemporary urban China. Highly readable and full of engaging descriptions of the real lives of practicing lay Buddhists in contemporary China, From Comrades to Bodhisattvas will interest specialists in Chinese Buddhism, anthropologists of contemporary Asia, and all scholars interested in the relationship between religion and cultural change.

How Migrant Labor is Changing Rural China Rachel Murphy, 2002-09-19 One of the most dramatic and noticeable changes in China since the introduction of economic and social reforms in the early 1980s has been the mass migration of peasants from the countryside to urban areas across the country. Murphy's in-depth fieldwork in rural China offers a rich basis for her findings about the impact of migration on many aspects of rural life: inequality, the organization of agricultural production, land transfers, livelihood diversification, spending patterns, house building, marriage, education, the position of women, social stability, and state-society relations. Her analysis focuses on the human experiences and strategies that precipitate shifts in national and local policies for economic development and the responses of migrants, non-migrants, and officials to changing circumstances, obstacles, and opportunities. This pioneering study is rich in original source materials and anecdotes, as well as useful comparative examples from other developing countries.

The Delta of Chinese Management Jane Jian Zhang, 2023-04-27 This book explores the differential mode of people management in the Chinese context. Based on years of ethnographic research, this book illustrates how and why the guanxi phenomena exist across different organisations, and thus the guanxi could break the organisational laws, e.g. structure and system, rules and regulations, policies and procedures. By focusing on personnel practices within organisations, the book provides an outlook for keeping indigenous management with Chinese characteristics. Most importantly, this book offers significant insights into how to manage people in the private and public sectors within the Chinese cultural and institutional environment. The Delta of Chinese Management will appeal not only to academics and researchers who have an interest in management and Chinese studies but also to expatriates and practitioners who are engaged in doing business and managing people with in China

Taming Tibet Emily Yeh, 2013-11-15 The violent protests in Lhasa in 2008 against Chinese rule were met by disbelief and anger on the part of Chinese citizens and state authorities perplexed by Tibetans apparent ingratitude for the generous provision of development In Taming Tibet Emily T Yeh examines how Chinese development projects in Tibet served to consolidate state space and power Drawing on sixteen months of ethnographic fieldwork between 2000 and 2009 Yeh traces how the transformation of the material landscape of Tibet between the 1950s and the first decade of the twenty first century has often been enacted through the labor of Tibetans themselves Focusing on Lhasa Yeh shows how attempts to foster and improve Tibetan livelihoods through the expansion of markets and the subsidized building of new houses the control over movement and space and the education of Tibetan desires for development have worked together at different times and how they are experienced in everyday life The master narrative of the PRC stresses generosity the state and Han migrants selflessly provide development to the supposedly backward Tibetans raising the living standards of the Han s little brothers Arguing that development is in this context a form of indebtedness engineering Yeh depicts development as a hegemonic project that simultaneously recruits Tibetans to participate in their own marginalization while entrapping them in gratitude to the Chinese state The resulting transformations of the material landscape advance the project of state territorialization Exploring the complexity of the Tibetan response to and negotiations with development Taming Tibet focuses on three key aspects of China s modernization agrarian change Chinese migration and urbanization Yeh presents a wealth of ethnographic data and suggests fresh approaches that illuminate the Tibet Question

Best Practice Kimberly Chong, 2018-10-18 In Best Practice Kimberly Chong provides an ethnography of a global management consultancy that has been hired by Chinese companies including Chinese state owned enterprises She shows how consulting emerges as a crucial site for considering how corporate organization employee performance business ethics and labor have been transformed under financialization To date financialization has been examined using top down approaches that portray the rise of finance as a new logic of economic accumulation Best Practice by contrast focuses on the everyday practices and narratives through which companies become financialized Effective management consultants Chong finds incorporate local workplace norms and assert their expertise in the particular terms of China s national project of modernization while at the same time framing their work in terms of global best practices Providing insight into how global management consultancies refashion Chinese state owned enterprises in preparation for stock market flotation Chong demonstrates both the dynamic fragmented character of financialization and the ways in which Chinese state capitalism enables this process

Consumer Culture Theory in Asia Yuko Minowa, Russell Belk, 2021-12-27 We live in times of increasing world uncertainty Consumer culture in Asia has embodied such precariousness with their unprecedented states of both prosperity and vulnerability Works in this volume examine the consumer cultures that exist in today s precarious Asia They do this through culturally oriented critical consumer research How deeply has the consumer precariousness in Asia been intertwined with the sociohistorical patterning of consumption including class gender and other social categories How do these problematics affect consumers identity projects consumer rituals and marketplace cultures How is consumer precariousness aggravated by the governmentality of the superpower How does the changing landscape of inter Asian and global popular culture impact consumer culture in these nations Together the authors in this volume attempt to answer these questions through consumer research within the paradigm known as consumer culture theory CCT Since most CCT inquiry has been in Western contexts this volume augments the existing knowledge It presents the most current critical historical and material consumer studies focused on Asia This volume will be of interest to seasoned CCT researchers and academics for anyone new to CCT and for postgraduate students interested in CCT or writing a consumer culture related thesis

Transformation of Rural China Jonathan Unger, 2002-02-21 During the past quarter century Jonathan Unger has interviewed farmers and rural officials from various parts of China in order to track the extraordinary changes that have swept the countryside from the Maoist era through the Deng era to the present day A leading specialist on rural China Professor Unger presents a vivid picture of life in rural areas during the Maoist revolution and then after the post Mao disbandment of the collectives This is a story of unexpected continuities amidst enormous change Unger describes how rural administrations retain Mao era characteristics despite the major shifts that have occurred in the economic and social hierarchies of villages as collectivization and class struggle gave way to the slogan to get rich is glorious A chapter explores the private entrepreneurship that has blossomed in the prosperous parts of the countryside Another focuses on the tensions and exploitation that have arisen as vast numbers of migrant laborers from poor districts have poured into richer ones Another based on five months of travel by jeep into impoverished villages in the interior describes the dilemmas of under development still faced by many tens of millions of farmers and the ways in which government policies have inadvertently hurt their livelihoods

Common Circuits Luis Felipe R. Murillo, 2025-02-25 How hackers facilitate community technology projects that counter the monoculture of big tech and point us to brighter innovative horizons A digital world in relentless movement from artificial intelligence to ubiquitous computing has been captured and reinvented as a monoculture by Silicon Valley big tech and venture capital firms Yet very little is discussed in the public sphere about existing alternatives Based on long term field research across San Francisco Tokyo and Shenzhen Common Circuits explores a transnational network of hacker spaces that stand as potent but often invisible alternatives to the dominant technology industry In what ways have hackers challenged corporate projects of digital development How do hacker collectives prefigure more just technological futures through community projects Luis Felipe R. Murillo responds to these urgent questions with an analysis of the hard challenges of collaborative autonomous community making through technical objects conceived by hackers as convivial shared technologies Through rich explorations of hacker space histories and biographical sketches of hackers who participate in them Murillo describes the social and technical conditions that allowed for the creation of community projects such as anonymity and privacy networks to counter mass surveillance community made monitoring devices to measure radioactive contamination and small scale open hardware fabrication for the purposes of technological autonomy Murillo shows how hacker collectives point us toward brighter technological futures a renewal of the digital commons where computing projects are constantly being repurposed for the common good

Modern Chinese Religion II: 1850 - 2015 (2 vols.), 2015-10-20 The last of four two volume sets on the key periods of paradigm shift in Chinese religious and cultural history this book examines the transformation of values in China since 1850 in the secular realms of economics science medicine aesthetics media and gender and in each of the major religions Confucianism Buddhism Daoism Christianity as well as in Marxist discourse The nation and science are the values invoked most frequently with the market and democracy a distant second As in previous periods of fundamental change in Chinese history rationalization and secularization have played central roles but interiorization nearly disappears as a driving force Also in continuity with the past the state insists on an exclusive right to define and adjudicate orthodoxy Contributors include Daniel H Bays S bastien Billioud Adam Yuet Chau Na Chen Philip Clart Walter B Davis Arif Dirlik Thomas David DuBois Lizhu Fan David Faure Melissa Wei Tsing Inouye Ji Zhe Xiaofei Kang Eric I Karchmer Andr Lalibert Angela Ki Che Leung Xun Liu Richard Madsen David Ownby Ellen Oxfield Volker Scheid Grace Yen Shen Michael Szonyi Wang Chien ch uan Xue Yu

Rural Origins, City Lives Roberta Zavoretti, 2016-12-01 A new understanding of rural urban migration and inequality in contemporary China Many of the millions of workers streaming in from rural China to jobs at urban factories soon find themselves in new kinds of poverty and oppression Yet their individual experiences are far more nuanced than popular narratives might suggest Rural Origins City Lives probes long held assumptions about migrant workers in China Drawing on fieldwork in Nanjing Roberta Zavoretti argues that many rural born urban dwellers are contrary to state policy and media portrayals diverse in their employment lifestyle and aspirations Working and living in the cities such workers change China s urban landscape becoming part of an increasingly diversified and stratified society Zavoretti finds that more than thirty years after the Open Door Reform class formation not residence status is key to understanding inequality in contemporary China
