Gunn,2007-12-30 Disasters can strike at any time From the eruption of Mt Vesuvius to Hurricane Katrina floods tornadoes earthquakes hurricanes and other natural disasters have caused tremendous loss of life human suffering and environmental catastrophe The complex technological and social changes of the last few centuries have not only intensified the impact of such natural disasters but have added new introduced new reasons to be concerned plane crashes bombings industrial accidents genocides Calling some disasters natural and others man made downplays the important interrelationship between the event and human actions Human actions or inactions can catapult a natural phenomenon into a deadly catastrophe Likewise nature can be terribly disrupted by events that are created by humans Encyclopedia of Disasters covers over 180 of the most important disasters in history Arranged chronologically the encyclopedia includes entries on those disasters that have had the greatest historical environmental and cultural impact The eruption of Mt Vesuvius which destroyed the towns of Pompeii and Herculaneum the London Fire of 1666 which flattened much of London and allowed the rebuilding of the city the influenza epidemic of 1918 which killed millions the 1964 Prince William Sound earthquake in Alaska which caused death and destruction as far away as Hawaii the worst nuclear power plant accident in Chernobyl Ukraine in 1964 that has rendered the surrounding landscape uninhabitable and the 2004 earthquake that created a tsunami that killed thousands in Sumatra Each entry includes a list of readings for additional research and the encyclopedia is illustrated with numerous photos and line illustrations that show the destruction and despair caused by these disasters

Twice as Far Thomas Juby,RJ Parker,2017-01-25 On the 2nd of September 1998 near the small fishing village of Peggy's Cove. A Swissair passenger jet carrying 229 people crashed into the ocean with a complete loss of life. This book is the true story of the crash investigation as told by the RCMP's main crime scene investigator who worked on the investigation from start to finish. For more than four years he searched for the truth amid the remains of human flesh and the debris of the aircraft. What he found was not what was presented to the public. Nepotism, deception, intimidation, and lies were tools used by supervisors and managers to overcome this one person criminal investigation and keep the truth from the public. This is the in-depth story that shows how the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Transportation Safety Board of Canada broke the law and failed to perform their legal obligations to the Canadian and International public and to the victims and their families.
