Academy Award for Best Original Screenplay John Fleming offers the first book length assessment of Stoppard's work in nearly a decade. He takes an in depth look at the three newest plays Arcadia, Indian Ink and The Invention of Love and the recently revised versions of Travesties and Hapgood as well as at four other major plays Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead and The Real Thing. Drawing on Stoppard's personal papers at the University of Texas Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center (HRHRC) Fleming also examines Stoppard's previously unknown play Galileo as well as numerous unpublished scripts and variant texts of his published plays. Fleming also mines Stoppard's papers for a fuller more detailed overview of the evolution of his plays. By considering Stoppard's personal views from both his correspondence and interviews and by examining his career from his earliest scripts and productions through his most recent this book provides all that is essential for understanding and appreciating one of the most complex and distinctive playwrights of our time.

Post-War British Theatre (Routledge Revivals) John Elsom, 2014-10-17 Since the Second World War we have witnessed exciting often confusing developments in the British theatre. This book first published in 1976 presents an enlightening objective history of the many facets of post war British theatre and a fresh interpretation of theatre itself. The remarkable and profound changes which have taken place during this period range from the style and content of plays through methods of acting to shapes of theatres and the organisational habits of managers. Two national theatres have been brought almost simultaneously into existence while at the other end of the financial scale the fringe and pub theatres have kicked their way into vigorous life. The theatre in Britain has been one of the post war success stories to judge by its international renown and its mixture of experimental vitality and polished experience. In this book Elsom presents an approach to the problems of criticism and appreciation which range beyond those of literary analysis.
