Fluid City Transforming Melbourne's Urban Waterfront:

Fluid City Kim Dovey, 2013-03-07 Fluid City traces the transformation of the urban waterfront of Melbourne the revitalization of the Yarra River waterfront Melbourne Docklands and Port Philip Bay As the financial and industrial centre of Australia in the late nineteenth century Melbourne developed a new world exuberance Yet the twentieth century saw Melbourne suffering from a declining industrial and economic base The city in the 1980s was de industrialising and the re facing of the city to the water was a key urban strategy of the 1980s and 90s and a catalyst for economic transformation This book bridges significant gaps between different discourses about the city and to challenge singular ways of viewing the city

Transforming Urban Waterfronts Gene Desfor, Jennefer Laidley, Quentin Stevens, Dirk Schubert, 2010-10-04 In port cities around the world waterfront development projects have been hailed both as spaces of promise and as crucial territorial wedges in twenty first century competitive growth strategies Frequently these mega projects have been intended to transform derelict docklands into communities of hope with sustainable urban economies economies intended to both compete in and support globally networked hierarchies of cities This collection engages with major theoretical debates and empirical findings on the ways waterfronts transform and have been transformed in port cities in North and South America Europe the Caribbean It is organized around the themes of fixities built environments institutional and regulatory structures and cultural practices and flows information labor capital energy and knowledge which are key categories for understanding processes of change By focusing on these fixities and flows the contributors to this volume develop new insights for understanding both historical and current cases of change on urban waterfronts those special areas of cities where land and water meet As such it will be a valuable resource for teaching faculty students and any audience interested in a broad scope of issues within the field of urban studies

Activating Urban Waterfronts Quentin Stevens, 2020-12-14 Activating Urban Waterfronts shows how urban waterfronts can be designed managed and used in ways that can make them more inclusive lively and sustainable The book draws on detailed examination of a diversity of waterfronts from cities across Europe Australia and Asia illustrating the challenges of connecting these waterfront precincts to the surrounding city and examining how well they actually provide connection to water The book challenges conventional large scale long term approaches to waterfront redevelopment presenting a broad re thinking of the formats and processes through which urban redevelopment can happen It examines a range of actions that transform and activate urban spaces including informal appropriations temporary interventions co design creative programming of uses and adaptive redevelopment of waterfronts over time It will be of interest to anyone involved in the development and management of waterfront precincts including entrepreneurs the creative industries community organizations and most importantly ordinary users

Urban waterfronts and cultural heritage Dimitra Babalis, Tim G. Townshend, 2018-03-07 Approaches to urban waterfront conservation have been much debated in recent decades Early schemes focused on leisure and commercial exploitation more recently greater attention has been paid to environmental and ecological conditions historic preservation and human well being But how do we balance these competing interests and yet ensure sustainable change preserve identity and yet allow for new development And how do we involve local people This book aims to provide some answers to these important questions The book is divided into three parts Part One is an overview for regeneration and awareness of historic waterfronts Part Two argues for the sustainable reuse of important sites to preserve their special identity Part Three shows the importance of introducing young researchers to the complexities of designing waterfronts for sustainable lifestyles

Reshaping Toronto's Waterfront

Gene Desfor, Jennefer Laidley, 2011-05-07 Large scale development is once again putting Toronto's waterfront at the leading edge of change As in other cities around the world policymakers planners and developers are envisioning the waterfront as a space of promise and a prime location for massive investments Currently the waterfront is being marketed as a crucial territorial wedge for economic ascendancy in globally competitive urban areas Reshaping Toronto's Waterfront analyses how and why problem spaces on the waterfront have become opportunity spaces during the past hundred and fifty years Contributors with diverse areas of expertise illuminate processes of development and provide fresh analyses of the intermingling of nature and society as they appear in both physical forms and institutional arrangements which define and produce change Reshaping Toronto's Waterfront is a fundamental resource for understanding the waterfront as a dynamic space that is neither fully tamed nor wholly uncontrolled

Cities in a Sunburnt Country

Margaret Cook, Lionel Frost, Andrea Gaynor, Jenny Gregory, Ruth A. Morgan, Martin Shanahan, Peter Spearritt, 2022-05-19 As cities from Cape Town to La Paz face acute water shortages citizens need to know how urban water systems evolved to understand their vulnerabilities and alternatives This volume sheds light on the challenges of water management in Australian cities drawing on environmental urban and economy history

Urban Regeneration in Australia

Kristian Ruming, 2018-02-20 Drawing together leading urban academics this book provides the first detailed and cohesive exploration of contemporary urban regeneration in Australian cities It explores the multiple aspects and processes of regeneration including planning policy strategic and regulatory development financing sustainability remediation and transport The book puts forward a unique and innovative scaled analysis of urban regeneration which positions urban regeneration as more than just large scale redevelopment projects It examines the processes of urban change which occur outside inner suburbs which contribute to regenerating the city as a whole The book moves beyond the planning and economic considerations of the regeneration process to describe the social and cultural aspects of regeneration In doing so it focuses on the management of higher density environments culture as a trigger for regeneration and community opposition to the regeneration process Urban Regeneration in Australia would benefit academics students and professionals of urban geography and planning as well as those with a particular interest in Australian urbanism

Places of Reconciliation

Sarah W Pinto, 2021-06-01 Central Melbourne is filled with markers of the city's pasts At its heart are the stories of exploration and settlement of the so called first to arrive and of the building of a colony and nation But when it comes to its Indigenous pasts the centre of Melbourne has long been a place of silence Over the last two decades Indigenous histories and peoples have been brought into central Melbourne s commemorative landscapes Memorials commemorative markers namings and public artworks have all been used to remember the city s Indigenous pasts Places of Reconciliation shows how they came to be part of the city and the ways in which they have challenged the erasures of its Indigenous histories Sarah Pinto considers the kind of places that have been made and unmade by these commemorations and concludes that the twenty first century settler city does not give up its commemorative landscapes easily

Urban Interstices: The Aesthetics and the Politics of the In-between

Andrea Mubi Brighenti, 2016-02-11 Bringing together a team of international scholars with an interest in urban transformations spatial justice and territoriality this volume questions how the interstice is related to the emerging processes of partitioning enclave making and zoning showing how in between spaces are intimately related to larger flows networks territories and boundaries Illustrated with a range of case studies from places such as the US Quebec the UK Italy Gaza Iraq India and South east Asia the volume analyses the place and function of interstitial locales in both a disciplined urban space and a disordered space conceptualized through the notions of excess danger and threat Warning not to romanticize the interstice the book invites us to study it as not simply a place but also a set of phenomena events and social interactions How are interstices perceived and represented What is the politics of visibility that is applied to them How to capture their peculiar rhythms speeds and affects On the one hand interstices open up venues for informality improvisation challenge and bricolage playful as well as angry statements on the neoliberal city and enhanced urban inequalities On the other hand they also represent a crucial site of governance even governance by withdrawal and urban management where an array of techniques ranging from military urbanism to new forms of value extraction are experimented At the point of convergence of all these tensions interstices appear as veritable sites of transformation where social forces clash and mesh prefiguring our urban future The book interrogates these territories proposing new ways to explore the dynamics events and visibilities that define them

Urban Heritage, Development and Sustainability Sophia Labadi, William Logan, 2015-10-23 More than half of the world s population now live in urban areas and cities provide the setting for contemporary challenges such as population growth mass tourism and unequal access to socio economic opportunities Urban Heritage Development and Sustainability examines the impact of these issues on urban heritage considering innovative approaches to managing developmental pressures and focusing on how taking an ethical inclusive and holistic approach to urban planning and heritage conservation may create a stronger basis for the sustainable growth of cities in the future This volume is a timely analysis of current theories and practises in urban heritage with particular reference to the conflict between and potential reconciliation of conservation and development goals A global range of case studies detail a number of distinct practical approaches to heritage on international national and local scales Chapters reveal the disjunctions between international frameworks and national implementation and assess how internationally agreed concepts can be misused to justify unsustainable practices or to further economic globalisation and political nationalism The exclusion of many local communities from development policies and the subsequent erosion of their cultural heritage is also discussed with the collection emphasising the importance of grass roots heritage and exploring more inclusive and culturally responsive conservation strategies Contributions from an international group of authors including practitioners as well as leading academics deliver a broad and balanced coverage of this topic Addressing the interests of both urban planners and heritage specialists Urban Heritage Development and Sustainability is an important addition to the field that will encourage further discourse

Secondary Cities Mark Pendras, Charles Williams, 2021-06-03 This book explores cities and the intra regional relational dynamics often overlooked by urban scholars and it challenges common representations of urban development successes and failures Gathering leading international scholars from Europe Australia and North America it explores the secondary city concept in urban development theory and practice and advances a research agenda that highlights uneven development concerns By emphasising the subordinate status of secondary cities relative to their dominant neighbours the book raises new questions about regional development in the Global North It considers alternative relations and development strategies that innovatively reimagine the subordinate status of secondary cities and showcase their full potential Stranger Cities: Australian Creation and the Ambidextrous Mind, a Profile of Portal Modernity Peter Murphy, 2023-06-19 Stranger Cities explores the metaphysics of Australian society and the clash between its competing strands of romantic culture and classic civilization The social expression artistic resonance economic significance civic character historic phases mythic representations creative antinomies and imaginative contribution of these metaphysical fundamentals form the background of Australia's distinctive urban civilization with its bustling stranger populations ocean facing portal cities revealing art and architecture and cyclical worlds of markets and industries war and peace Murphy portrays a classic eudemonic society whose dominant ethos of phlegmatic happiness vies with a subsidiary current of melancholic and choleric romanticism

Living with Water Mohammed Mahbubur Rahman, Nawrose Fatemi, 2025-07-31 Living with Water explores the perennial dynamic relationship between water and the built environment in South Asia This interdisciplinary survey of the unique urban and ecological landscapes of the region presents a diverse selection of cities and projects and offers practical contextual strategies for the design and protection of these sites against emergent impacts of climate change and population growth Water resources in South Asia are some of the most vulnerable to the effects of global warming In the many historic urban centres that have grown over time along the rivers and waterfronts of the region deteriorating water systems and rapid population expansion have contributed to problems such as water insecurity exposure of built structures to weather damage floods and erosion Case studies drawn from Bangladesh India Pakistan and Sri Lanka illustrate a range of contemporary and traditional approaches to living with water within the ecosystems floodplains wetlands waterfronts river systems and water networks of the region Chapters authored by architects planners historians sociologists geographers and environmentalists combine insights into analytical methods and processes of urban planning and development with critical attention to the importance of cultural heritage vernacular construction traditional water systems and indigenous knowledge in shaping climate resilient built and natural environments This context supports resilient ecology and a sustainable approach to building and resource management offering guidance in the creation of water sensitive development integrated urban design wetlands restoration and more Living with Water is an essential read for researchers and professionals in architecture urban planning water management environmental conservation real estate development tourism and local governance and will appeal to broad range of readers interested in the history geography and culture of South Asia

Place and Placelessness Revisited Robert Freestone, Edgar Liu, 2016-07-15 Since its publication in 1976 Ted Relph's Place and Placelessness has been an influential text in thinking about cities and city life across disciplines including human geography sociology architecture planning and urban design For four decades ideas put forward by this seminal work have continued to spark debates from the concept of placelessness itself through how it plays out in our societies to how city designers might respond to its challenge in practice Drawing on evidence from Australian British Japanese and North and South American urban settings Place and Placelessness Revisited is a collection of cutting edge empirical research and theoretical discussions of contemporary applications and interpretations of place and placelessness It takes a multi disciplinary approach including contributions from across the breadth of disciplines in the built environment architecture environmental psychology geography landscape architecture planning sociology and urban design in critically re-visiting placelessness in theory and its relevance for twenty first century contexts

Refractions of the National, the Popular and the Global in African Cities Simon Bekker, Sylvia Croese, 2021-02-26 Case studies of metropolitan cities in nine African countries from Egypt in the north to three in West and Central Africa two in East Africa and three in Southern Africa make up the empirical foundation of this publication The interrelated themes addressed in these chapters the national influence on urban development the popular dynamics that shape urban development and the global currents on urban development make up its framework All authors and editors are African as is the publisher The only exception is Gran Therborn whose recent book Cities of Power served as motivation for this volume Accordingly the issue common to all case studies is the often conflictual powers that are exercised by national global and popular forces in the development of these African cities Rather than locating the case studies in an exclusively African historical context the focus is on the trajectories of the postcolonial city with the important exception of Addis Ababa with a non colonial history that has granted it a special place in African consciousness These trajectories enable comparisons with those of postcolonial cities on other continents This in turn highlights the fact that Africa today the least urbanised continent on an increasingly urbanised globe is in the thick of processes of large scale urban transformation illustrated in diverse ways by the case studies that make up the foundation of this publication

Short Description Urban Transformations through Exceptional Architecture Nadia Alaily-Mattar, Alain Thierstein, 2021-05-30 Urban Transformations through Exceptional Architecture focusses on the nexus between architecturally exceptional projects and the city It addresses the following questions How can the complexity of these projects be comprehended What roles do the political contexts play in the commissioning of such projects and what audiences do these projects serve How has the granting of professional recognition for architects changed and what will this change mean to measures of exceptionality in architectural design What roles do the architectural competitions play in the process of commissioning the design of architecturally exceptional projects and do design competitions as an urban planning tool grant high value designs

Architecturally exceptional projects are situated in physical urban fabrics How can this situatedness be analysed and what different values does the urban design dimension of these projects add By considering diverse aspects of architecturally exceptional projects the chapters in this book utilise a variety of research methods They bring into dialogue a range of themes regarding the architectural urban design and political aspects of these projects This volume illustrates that multidisciplinary might well be the best strategy to balance the risks of over simplification and the challenges of complexity in analysing these exceptional projects and the city in its ever transformative process The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Urban Design
