Williams, 2010-08-16

This moment by moment account of a major airplane crash on a beautiful and treacherous mountainside puts the reader at the pilot's side describing the flight its catastrophic ending and the aftermath At 7 05 a m on February 19 1955 TWA Flight 260 took off from the Albuquerque airport for a short flight to Santa Fe To avoid flying over the Sandia Mountains the plane's approved air route was a dogleg running north northwest from Albuquerque then east northeast into Santa Fe But at 7 08 a m Flight 260 was headed directly toward Sandia Ridge almost entirely obscured by storm clouds A local resident who saw Flight 260 overhead observed that if the plane was eastbound it was too low if it was northbound it was off course At 7 12 a m the plane's terrain warning bell sounded its alarm Both pilots saw the sheer west face of the Sandias just beyond the right wingtip an appalling shock considering they should have been ten miles further west Reacting instantly they rolled the plane steeply to the left pulled its nose up and started to level the wings It was their final act Hidden by the storm another cliffside lay directly ahead When they struck it they were still in a left bank nose high Racing for Diamonds Anita
