Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño, 2020-08-10 In Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño examines how Latinized urban landscapes are made palatable for white Americans Such Latinized urban landscapes she observes especially appear when whites feel threatened by concentrations of Latinx populations commonly known as barrios Drawing on archival research interviews and visual analysis of barrio built environments Londoño shows how over the past seventy years urban planners architects designers policy makers business owners and other brokers took abstracted elements from barrio design such as spatial layouts or bright colors to safely Latinize cities and manage a long standing urban crisis of Latinx belonging The built environments that resulted ranged from idealized notions of authentic Puerto Rican culture in the interior design of New York City s public housing in the 1950s which sought to diminish concerns over Puerto Rican settlement to the Fiesta Marketplace in downtown Santa Ana California built to counteract white flight in the 1980s Ultimately Londo o demonstrates that abstracted barrio culture and aesthetics sustain the economic and cultural viability of normalized white and middle class urban spaces
