Mason,Christl Verduyn,2015-06-08 Public Poetics is a collection of essays and poems that address some of the most pressing issues of the discipline in the twenty first century The collection brings together fifteen original essays addressing public poetry and poetics from the situated space of Canada while simultaneously troubling the notion of the nation as a stable term. It asks hard questions about who and what count as public in Canada. Critical essays stand alongside poetry as visual and editorial reminders of the cross-pollination required in thinking through both poetry and poetics. Public Poetics is divided into three thematic sections. The first contains essays surveying poetics in the present moment through the lens of the public-private divide, systematic racism in Canada, the counterpublic feminist poetics, and Canadian innovations on postmodern poetics. The second section contains author-specific studies of public poets. The final section contains essays that use innovative renderings of poetics as a means of articulating alternative communities and practices. Each section is paired with a collection of original poetry by ten contemporary Canadian poets. This collection attends to the changing landscape of critical discourse around poetry and poetics in Canada and will be of use to teachers and students of poetry and poetics.

Flowers of Delight Leonard de Vries, 1965 Encounters with American Culture
Peter Prescott, 2018-01-18 This collection of essays discusses some of the important books, authors, and literary trends of a volatile era in American and world literature whose cultural repercussions are still being felt. Peter S. Prescott was one of the most penetrating knowledgeable and sensitive critics to write for a general audience in the tradition of Edmund Wilson. Readers will discover not only Prescott's acute and subtle comments on the enduring and/or representative books of the time but also his humor and style, his way with an anecdote or aphorism, his talent for parody, and his ability to laugh at himself as well as at the authors he sometimes skewers. Prescott's writing has an immediacy and vivacity that suggests what it was like to read new books during his time. Here is one critic's view, ironic and complex, of good books by famous writers like Norman Mailer, Jorge Luis Borges, Joyce Kilmer, Oates, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, and Vladimir Nabokov, as well as of good books by little-known writers and others who would later achieve renown. Here too is some astringent criticism of distinguished and popular authors who have fallen into self-indulgence. Prescott writes about the New Journalism in its early days and about fragmentary autobiography as a literary form, genres whose importance he was among the first to recognize. His essays also touch on theater, film, food, and politics. The criticism in this volume are examples of the literary essay in its truest sense: an attempt to explore, in however brief space allowed, what the author sees around him and connections between books and other aspects of the way people live. Always personal and urbane, these essays are often hilarious, generally moving, and exemplify the essay as an art form.

Education-Literature of the Profession, 1966 Libraries, Books, and Collectors of Texts, 1600-1900 Annika Bautz, James Gregory, 2018-05-03 This book presents the collector's role as prominently as the collections of books and texts which they assembled. Contributors explore the activities and networks shaping a range of continental and transcontinental European public and private collections during the Renaissance, Enlightenment, and modern eras. They study the impact of class, geographical location, and specific cultural contexts on the gathering and use of printed and handwritten texts and other printed artefacts. The volume explores the social dimension of book collecting and considers how practices of collecting developed during these periods of profound cultural social and political change
