Aging, Economic Growth, and Old-age Security in Asia Donghyun Park, Sang-Hyop Lee, Andrew Mason, 2012-01-01

Population aging is perhaps the single biggest economic and social obstacle confronting Asia's future. The region-wide demographic transition towards an older population is fundamentally reshaping the demographic landscape and is giving rise to two key socio-economic challenges. This timely book provides an in-depth analysis of these challenges and presents concrete policy options for tackling them. First, the expert contributors argue Asia must find ways to sustain rapid economic growth in the face of less favorable demographics which implies slower growth of the workforce. Second, they contend Asia must find ways to deliver affordable, adequate and sustainable old-age economic security for its growing elderly population. Underpinned by rigorous analysis, a wide range of concrete policy options for sustaining economic growth while delivering economic security for the elderly are then presented. These include Asia-wide policy options relevant to the entire region such as building up strong national pension systems whilst other policy options are more relevant to sub-groups of countries. This stimulating and informative book will be of great interest to academics, students and researchers with an interest in Asian studies, economics generally and more specifically public sector economics.

China's Aging Population China Development Research Foundation, 2024-08-02. This book provides a systematic study of the challenges of aging in China and of the measures being taken, planned and still needed to cope with the challenges. It highlights that the number of people aged 65 or above is growing and that the growth will accelerate from 176 million people representing 12.6% of the population in 2019 to 310 million representing 22.3% of the population by 2035 and it also highlights that the aging comes at a time when China's economy is not yet fully developed and not yet fully balanced. The book outlines how China has already established an elderly care system and is beginning to meet the needs of the elderly for economic security, social services and so on, discusses the need for enhancing and considerably extending the existing system and proposes reform ideas and key policy options.
