Abed, 2003-09-05 The Middle East and North Africa MENA is an economically diverse region Despite undertaking economic reforms in many countries and having considerable success in avoiding crises and achieving macroeconomic stability the region's economic performance in the past 30 years has been below potential This paper takes stock of the region's relatively weak performance explores the reasons for this outcome and proposes an agenda for urgent reforms Economic Systems of Innovation in the Arab Region Samia Mohamed Nour, 2016-04-30 The Arab region has become a hotbed of economic growth in recent decades While this growth has indisputably brought in wealth there are still countless questions about the characteristics constraints and implications of the region's systems of innovation Do these systems even exist in the Arab region How does the current economic structure affect regional innovation Is the presence of natural resources a help or a hindrance Economic Systems of Innovation in the Arab Region discusses the causes consequences and implications of poor systems of innovation in the Middle East and North Africa By examining the comparative weakness of innovation the economic structure and the diversity of the region Nour shows that the development of Arab regional systems of innovation is contingent upon the development of adequate economic policies and incentives in the area Her contribution is key for students and scholars of economics innovation and international relations The Changing Dynamics of Energy in the Middle East Khalid Al-Rodhan, Anthony H. Cordesman, 2006-10-30 The recent rise in global demand for energy and the resulting spike in energy prices have illustrated just how important Middle Eastern energy exports are This book the first on the subject since the hike in energy prices impacted the global energy market outlines the current facts that shape the ability of Middle Eastern producers to supply energy exports It explores the possible future causes both of major interruptions in supply and of failures to maintain and expand export capacity and though it does not predict a major energy crisis it does describe a range of factors that could produce one The recent rise in global demand for energy and the resulting spike in energy prices have illustrated just how important Middle Eastern energy exports are. This book, the first on the subject since the hike in energy prices impacted the global energy market, outlines current facts that shape the ability of Middle Eastern producers to supply energy exports. It explores the possible future causes both of major interruptions in supply and failures to maintain and expand export capacity and though it does not predict a major energy crisis, it does describe factors that could produce one. Authors Cordesman and Al Rodhan analyze the plans of each country in the region, compare those plans with the forecasting models of international organizations, and study each country's prospects for stability. They also analyze how importing countries such as the United States, Europe, China, and India are dealing with the changing nature of global dependence upon MENA oil. Offering the most comprehensive data on current energy resources, production capacities, estimates, import dependence, and national plans and strategies, The Changing Dynamics of Energy in the Middle East analyzes current energy modeling and shows how the lack of supply-driven models has had a negative impact on the understanding of policy makers and strategic thinkers. The book concludes its analysis with possible strategic economic and demographic scenarios for the Middle East, projecting the impact of each scenario on future energy developments.

Fiscal Policy and Growth in the Middle East and North Africa Region Ms. Sena

Eken, 1997-08-01 Establishing a policy framework to sustain high rates of growth is a major challenge facing the economies of the Middle East and North Africa. Given the strikingly dominant role of governments in these economies, this paper focuses on the contribution of fiscal consolidation and reform toward addressing this challenge. On the basis of an examination of fiscal structures, reform, and adjustment efforts and their growth implications during 1980-95, it concludes that the ongoing process of fiscal reform aimed at reducing budget deficits, improving the budgetary structure, and enhancing the effectiveness of government interventions is key to ensuring macroeconomic stability and fostering growth.

Technological Change and Skill Development in Arab Gulf Countries Samia Mohamed Nour, 2013-12-02 This book discusses skill formation, upskilling of workers, and their interaction with technological change in Gulf countries. Heavy dependence on oil, the Dutch Disease, and the high incidence of unskilled foreign workers have caused serious structural imbalances in the labour market in the Gulf. The author shows that success of economic development strategies to address such imbalances are all contingent upon the development of adequate and appropriate skills in the region. This book confirms the role and impact of the deficiencies in the educational system alongside the well-established effects of the excessive use of uneducated foreign workers and lack of incentives in the labour market. A comprehensive investigation of the skill problem and an elaborate in-depth analysis to assess the causes, consequences, and relationships between poor skills and technological performance are highlights of this book. This is an ideal resource for policy makers in the Gulf region and researchers of the topic.

Economic Trends and Sustainable Environmental Assessment Andrew Adewale Alola, Festus Victor Bekun, Uju Violet Alola, 2024-08-30 The book Economic Trends and Sustainable Environmental Assessment attempts to x-ray the economic and socioeconomic activities and cultural or behavioural aspects from the concept of sustainability by employing several related research scenarios spanning the micro meso and macro level approaches Given the increasing awareness of the importance of social economic environmental and even now human sustainability aspects to a sustainable global present future the relevance of the dimensions of Sustainable Development Goals SDGs need to be consistently examined For instance decades of climate related disasters which have increasingly endangered humans are the reason for ongoing advanced advocacy policy and research towards achieving an environmentally sustainable or net zero emission NZE future Thus considering the illustration of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the connectedness of the economic and socioeconomic aspects with environmental dimensions this book should hugely benefit students researchers and policymakers to further understand and solve some of the world s lingering challenges
